BONNER LOSES HIS TEMPER AND ALSO LOSES GAME TO BUCKAROOES

When Al Bonner lost his temper in the opening canto yesterday he also lost his game. Peeved because the box from which he had to work did not coincide with his ideas of what a box should be and his spleen accentuated by his own error and a decision on a pitched ball that he thought was wrong, he permitted the Buckarooes to gather a three run lead and they were never headed, though in the final frames Peet lost everything he had on the ball and allowed the rrigators to pull up uncomfortably close. Two runs in the eighth and another in the ninth after two were down made the closing score 5 to 4.

Pendleton's sorrel-topped twirler was in great form until those last two innings. Though he was hit safely at odd times, he was master of the situation. But for two lucky hits in the fifth Boise never would have scored that first run. Gard poled one to deep center and, just as Varian was about to gather it in, he tripped, fell backward and stood on his head. Before the ball could be fielded Gard had reached third. Then Winkler smote the pill to short. It was coming toward Augustus in his hops but just as the shortstop reached for it, it took a weird bound high in the air and was good for two bases.

The Bucks got to Bonner at the start. Naughton waited out four wide ones. Lodell outbounced the Irrigators by swinging instead of bunting and the hit was a clean single, advancing Naughton to second. Varian laid down a bunt toward pitcher and when Bonner fumbled it, all hands were safe and the bases loaded. Bonner's temper had risen and he gave intermittent evidences of his wrath. Therefore, he couldn't fool Dean. That batter laid his bludgeon against the pellet for a scorching single which scored both Naughton and Lodell. Harworth struck out and thereupon Dean and Varian tried the double steal. The latter slid into the plate and he looked easily safe but the umpire ruled different and there were two gone. Osborne's dinky hit gave the team life and when Altermatt booted Peterson's infield ball Dean raced home for the third tally. Augustus fouled out, retiring the side.

The game remained at the 3-0 stage until the fifth when the visitors put across their first as before mentioned. In the last of the same frame the Bucks got the score back. Varian opened with a two-sacker and after two men had gone out, Osborne sent him to the plate with his second hit.

The Bucks took yet another and what proved to be the winning run in the sixth. Peterson drew a walk and, Augustus, after trying once to sacrifice him along, smashed out a two sacker down the third base line. Peterson rounded third and beat it for home but the ball was there first and he would have been out had not he knocked the ball from Gard's hands in sliding. Augustus tried to purloin third and was thrown out else another run would have registered as Naughton delivered a safe one.

In the eighth Peet weakened perceptibly. After slipping two strikes across on Bonner, he permitted his rival heavier to single between short and second. Reams followed with a smashing triple to right, scoring Bonner. Friene popped out but Blauser's double to left put Reams over the rubber. Blauser got as far as third but perished there.

In the ninth, the first two Irrigators were easy outs though Peterson almost lost Gard when he juggled the ball awhile before throwing it. Winkler got a blow into right and then Peet walked Bonner, his first pass of the day. Reams came through with his third safety, scoring Winkler. Things began to look gloomy but Friene hit the ball squarely at Naughton and the game was ended.

BEARS AGAIN DEFEAT BRAVES

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Aug. 21.—(Special)—After several weeks' vacation, resting up with a sore arm on the shores of Lake Wallowa, "Tiny" Leonard "came back" yesterday afternoon against the Yakima Braves, in old time form, his big bulk on the mound being the most pleasing sight to the fans in many a moon, while Chief Gordon's men never fully recovered from their surprise until this game was over and a second defeat was charged up against them on Bader's totem pole. Score 5 to 6.

Gordon pitched a steady game allowing but six hits and his men played good defensive ball behind him most of the time, but they lacked organized offensive work.

To cap the climax Leonard sent one far over left field fence in the fourth scoring Lundstrom in advance of himself, for his first home run this season. He came near repeating too high in the sixth, but the ball went too high. This and Harmon's three two-base hits were the features with Yakima trying desperately to solve Leonard's delivery with little success.

In the seventh, Nadeau hit and after Netzel flew out, took second on Grovers hit. Stokke then landed on a two-bagger scoring both Nadeau and Groves, but was caught between second and third. Martini returning the throw to Leonard, who threw to Childers to Davis to Lundstrom, retiring Stokke at third.

Yakima's other two runs came in the fourth on Lundstrom's error of Groves' grounder, a walk by Stokke, sacrifice by Harrod and Davis' error in throwing to the plate after neatly fielding Taylor's grounder; and in the eighth, on Taylor's two-bagger, his stolen base and Johnson's error throwing high over Childer's head in attempt to prevent the steal.

The Bears scored two in the first on one hit and an error; one in the second on Ford's error of Johnson's fly and Harmon's two-bagger; two more in the fourth on Lundstrom's two-bagger and Leonard's home run; and one more in the sixth on Lundstrom's walk, Beck's sacrifice and Taylor's error in throwing to third in an attempt to prevent the steal.

Leonard held the visitors helpless in the ninth, though at first with Kile's hit, it looked as though the score might be tied.

The Score:

	R.	H.	E.
Walla Walla	6	6	6
Yakima	5	3	3

Leonard and Johnson; Gordon and Taylor.

Baseball Slang is Losing Favor.
 CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—Slang as a means of the proper description of baseball games in the newspapers came out a little behind straight-forward English, according to the verdict of several thousand readers in a test vote taken by a Chicago newspaper. Of a total of 2930 ballots recorded, 2004 declared for the English prescribed by the dictionary and 1926 were in favor of the use of slang.

The figures in favor of pure English were qualified by several thousand voters who expressed themselves in favor of the use of a moderate amount of snappy, descriptive phrases, not limited necessarily to dictionary words, however. Many voted in favor of slang, but advocated the elimination of nicknames.

In the course of the balloting numerous college professors and educators declared for slang, while the majority of baseball players, club owners and managers expressed a preference of English undefiled.

FAN FODDER

Are these the mighty Irrigators whom scribes have called invincible? 'Tis strange, yea, passing strange.

"What license hath these boobies of Buckarooes to beat my gallant town? Methinks this Pendleton town is possessed of some queer jinx that casts a baleful spell about my men." Quotation from Boss Clarke's soliloquy as he trudged his dejected way toward after the game.

This man Bonner has a confirmed habit of displaying an infantile peevishness when things do not go to suit him. Once in Yakima he threw the ball over the grandstand and yesterday he kicked the pill across the diamond after booting it, hurried his glove at the ground with dire vengeance and once threw his bat so far that it nearly collided with another player's head. We will just wager that when he was in the "mewling and puking" stage of life he was wont to shy his rattle at his mother and slap his nurse's face when she undertook to pin him up.

The Boise pitchers attribute their downfall to the hole in the ground from which they have to work. The other grounds of the circuit have the box mounded up. However, what's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander.

Jimmie Richardson, aided by the teams succeeds in getting the game over fast. Tuesday's game was played in one hour and twenty minutes, a record, and despite the nine scores yesterday, the game passed off in 1:31.

Hepp struck out in the seventh, yet he got to first. The third strike was a trifle wide and low and eluded Gard's mitt.

Winkler undertook to reach third on Reams' long fly to center but Varian threw him out with a yard to spare.

As a speed merchant, Bonner is a close rival to Fitchner, late of La Grande and Yakima.

Tiny Leonard broke into the game again yesterday with a win. How his team mates won with the hits and errors all favoring Yakima, we can only guess. Our first guess would be that Tiny had his old horseshoe in his pocket.

HUERTA BLAMES PARTISANSHIP

Intimates in Note That Wilson Not Backed Up by Congress Nor By American People.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Intimations are contained in Provisional President Huerta's reply to the American note presented by John Lind that President Wilson is not backed up by congress or the American people in his stand against recognition of the Huerta government.

Referring to the attacks on the Washington administration by members of congress and pointing to the official recommendations of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson advising recognition, Huerta declares he is entitled to be recognized. He holds that the democratic party's power is temporary, and argues that recognition of his government is a partisan question in the United States. He intimates that he reaches his conclusion on private advices from Washington.

Neither Side Recedes.
 This information was obtained from those who know the contents of the Huerta note, so far as it has been deciphered. "The complete note is not yet at hand, but the principal argument has been placed before administration officials.

Though negotiations between John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson, and Provisional President Huerta are continuing on a cordial personal basis, neither side is receding from its position, and alternative measures already are under consideration here. No definite court has been formulated but the policy that is at present under consideration and most likely to be adopted is one of absolute noninterference.

The American government under such a policy would continue to deny arms to both sides, would withdraw Americans from trouble zones, insist on proper protection to property and lives, and in effect make the Mexicans continue activity on the battlefield.

Stand Against War Firm.
 The administration is determined against intervention or war, and the only alternative, friendly mediation, has apparently failed. Officials here believe, however, that the United States, through the mission of Mr. Lind, will have satisfied foreign governments generally of its desire to bring about peace and they do not conceive that there will be any pressure to bring about intervention.

To grant arms to the constitutionalists would, in the opinion of many officials, only add to the dangers of anarchy in the republic, equipping bandit bodies with weapons of destruction of which they have hitherto been deprived.

That the United States will "keep hands off" was considered more than likely in many quarters here and administration officials pointed to an important precedent for such action during the term of President Hayes when General Porfirio Diaz assumed the reins of government on May 24, 1877, after defeating the forces of President Lerdo. Germany recognized Diaz on May 30 of that year, Salvador and Guatemala on June 7 and Spain on June 16, there being no other governments, except the United States, represented at Mexico City at that time.

Hayes' Message Recalled.
 In President Hayes' message on December 1, 1877, he announced that recognition of the Diaz government had been deferred on account of opposition to him in northern Mexico and, Minister John W. Foster was instructed by Secretary Seward to state that the "Washington government would wait before recognizing General Diaz as president of Mexico until it shall be assured that his election is approved by the Mexican people and that his administration is able to endure and comply with the rules of international comity and the obligation of treaties."

CANNERY IS RIVAL OF LA GRANDE FOR TOMATO

LA GRANDE, Ore., Aug. 21.—La Grande is threatened this year with having to look elsewhere for tomatoes according to a report from the Eagle Valley district, which has supplied Union county with most of its tomatoes. The market is affected by a new cannery in the valley, and the farmers there would rather sell their product at the cannery than haul it 70 miles to this city.

The cannery takes all the crop, large and small, while the retail trade is particular that the tomatoes be uniform and of good size.

This condition probably will cause the owners of hill lands in Union county to raise the tomatoes, as there are several districts adapted to this crop. Especially is this true of Pumpkin Ridge and on the north slope of Mount Harris.

Costly Treatment.

I used them for some time and am now all right." Sold by all dealers.—Adv.

MRS. LESLIE CARTER SUES COURT FOR $9242

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Suit to recover $9242, with costs of action, is on file by Mrs. Leslie Carter, the actress, against John Cort of Seattle. The complaint alleges that Cort had agreed to give Mrs. Carter or to secure for her for each of the five years following September 1, 1910, a 30 week engagement season at $1000 per week, together with 50 per cent of the net profits. The complaint further alleges that during the season of 1911-12 Cort provided her with an engagement covering only 25 weeks, and during the period mentioned deducted "without her consent and over her objection" $100 weekly, making in all with $5000 for five weeks' lack of engagement and other items, $9242.

KEOKUK, Ia., Aug. 21.—Seven persons were drowned when the government steamer Henry Bosse was overturned in a heavy wind storm in the middle of the 20-foot channel in the Mississippi river. The dead: George Beckel, Carthage, Ill., William Jones, Quincy, Ill., Tom Noonan, Keokuk, Iowa, Hugh Beaver, Quincy, Ill. Eight year old girl, sister of Beaver. Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Welch, St. Louis. Seven other persons, including Captain Gus Seifert escaped. Those who were drowned were caught in the cabin of the boat and were unable to get out of the trap.

WALLA WALLA DEAD IN DITCH

J. G. Madland, Aged 75, Victim of Accident or Suicide at Yakima.
 WALLA WALLA, Au. 21.—The body of a man apparently about 75 years old, identified by letters in his pocket as J. G. Madland and said, according to the North Yakima Republic, to have been a pruner and former fruit inspector at Walla Walla, was found in an irrigation ditch at North Yakima Saturday.

Whether the man was a suicide or was drowned by accident is unknown. The body rested in the water, head downward, and was almost entirely submerged when found. No marks of foul play are discernible, although an advanced state of decomposition may have obliterated any which at first existed.

WHITBREAD

This is a simple advice, for which you would pay if you consulted the best English doctor, who recommends to those suffering from poor blood, run-down condition, sleeplessness, etc., the famous Whitbread English Ale or Whitbread Renewed Stout (Malt Extract), made from the finest barley, malt and hops to be obtained, and matured only in the bottles, by Whitbread in England and sent direct to America. Whitbread has a most wonderful effect upon the system, and for mothers, invalids and those in a run-down condition it is invaluable. It has brought comfort to thousands of suffering women. Doctors, clergymen and professional men have taken Whitbread Ale or Whitbread Stout for nervousness, due to overwork, and to build up the system. Temperate people drink Whitbread Ale because it is not only a delicious beverage, but a tonic and blood giver. A glass of Whitbread Ale or Whitbread Stout at night time and with meals will give that restful sleep.

Whitbread Ale or Stout are different from all other Ales or Stouts, being matured in bottles and contains only natural gas (not carbonated), and most easily digested—in fact a wonderful tonic for the stomach. Do not accept any substitute for Whitbread, as there are no others like it. A trial from your local dealer will convince you of the wonderful effect of Whitbread Ale or Stout.
