SULZER FACES ENEMIES IN A HOSTILE COURT

Two-thirds Vote Necessary to Impeach Him and Friends Say Majority Do Not Comprise This.

OBJECTIONS ARE MADE

Attorneys for the Governor Open Preliminary Fight—Sulzer Himself Not Present Today—Court Convener but Short Time—Members Are Sworn in—Supporters of Sulzer are Anxious to Force an Early Vote to Get Altitude of Justice.

ALBANY, Sept. 18.—Governor Sulzer was placed on trial before the impeachment court of the state legislature...

At 12:55 o'clock, the court adjourned having transacted no business beyond swearing in the members.

Governor Sulzer did not appear in the chamber. He was represented by an imposing array of counsel.

Sulzer's attorneys announced they were present to "object to the jurisdiction of the high court and its membership..."

There is no question but that the majority of the members of the court are hostile to Sulzer.

Having registered their objections to the court as a whole, Sulzer's attorneys next objected to swearing in Senators Wagner, Frawley, Hamberger, and Sanner on the grounds that they prepared the impeachment case and therefore are prejudiced.

Counsel for Sulzer had a lengthy brief ready to submit in support of their contentions but Chief Justice Cullen of the court of appeals cut the discussion short by saying that both objections would be considered later.

The proceedings of the court were of the most impressive and solemn nature.

SCHOOL BOARD MAY SELL TEXT BOOKS AT COST PRICES

As a result of complaints that have arisen this year in connection with the change of text books in the public schools it is possible that after this year the text books for use in the local schools may be supplied to the pupils direct by the school board at cost prices.

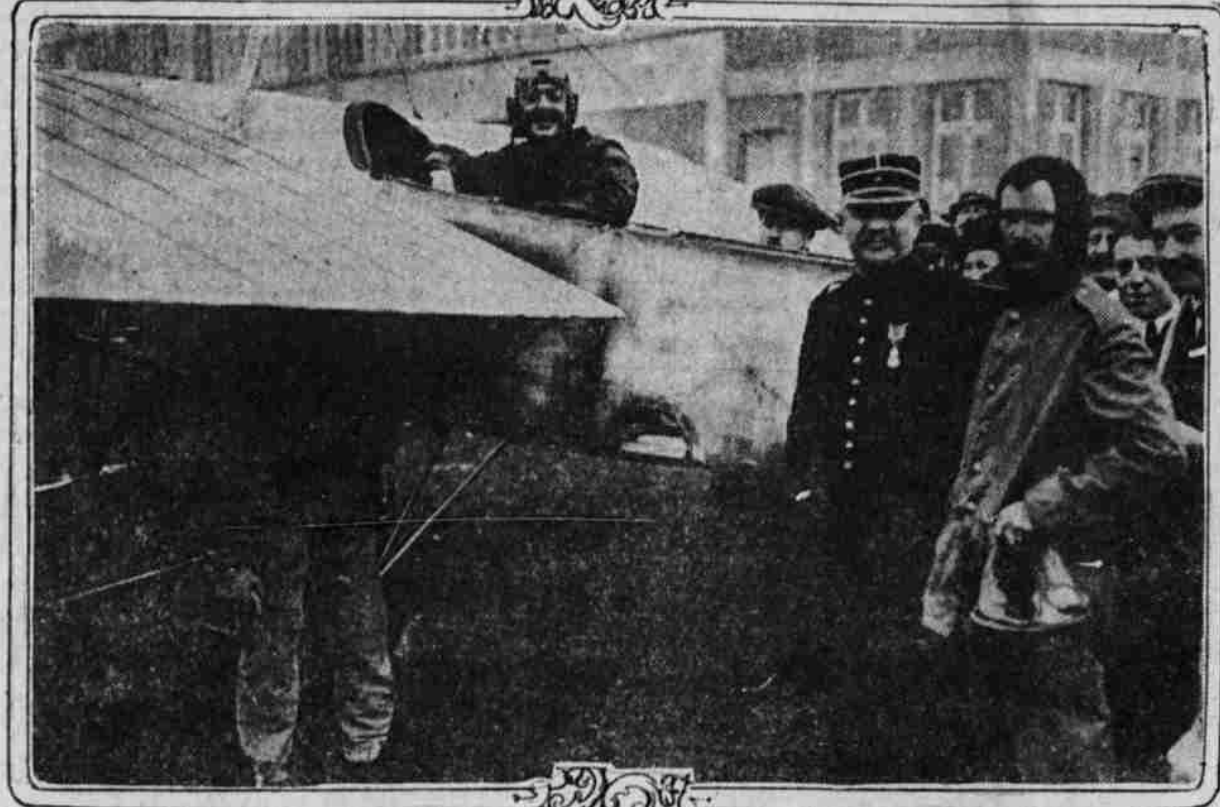

Although it is recognized that the margin of profit on text books is small there has been much complaint this year because of the necessity of buying new books.

Another source of complaint is that the local book store handling the text books does not secure a sufficient supply.

This difficulty in securing books wanted is causing much of the sentiment in behalf of having the school board handle the text book business.

Thus far the subject has not been taken up officially by the board but if present complaints continue to roll in there is a probability of steps being taken in this direction before next fall.

LABOR CRISIS REACHED; M. Y. MEN WALK OUT

Great Britain Faces General Tie-up Unless Employers Grant Demands of Union Laborers.

10,000 READY TO QUIT

Ultimatum is Issued by Officials Representing the Men in the Transportation Business—Situation is Regarded as Serious at Liverpool—Fear Expressed That Strike of All the Workers in the Country is Due to Come.

LONDON, Sept. 18.—Labor troubles have spread rapidly in Great Britain and it is feared that a crisis is now being faced. The latest walk-out occurred today when employees of the Tilling company, motorbus owners, quit their jobs because they were forbidden to wear union buttons.

Union officials gave notice later in the day to all other companies that 10,000 men are prepared to walk out if the Tilling company refuses to yield to the union's demands.

Transport workers in Dublin are out and the situation is serious at Liverpool. Tieups in other cities outside of London are also expected. It is feared that the outcome will be a strike of all the transport workers in the country.

Situation Grave. The English labor situation is especially grave in view of the fact that the enormous proportion of the unionists are bent on forcing a speedy increase in wages, the average of which is about $7.50 a week for ordinary skilled labor. The increase demanded will be from $10 to $15 a week and the employing class is looking on so large an advance as amounting practically to a revolution and are prepared to resist to the last ditch.

NEW TARIFF LAW'S FIGHT AGAINST BAG MONOPOLY

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Some of the things in the new bill which will redound to the profit of the farmers in the West in the opinion of Chamberlain, is the reduction in the duty on burlap bags.

This question was very carefully considered by the democrats of the senate, and the subject was studied in all of its bearings. India has a monopoly on the production of burlap, and it was decided that to remove entirely the duty on the manufactured bags would give India a monopoly also on the bags.

The decision reached was to reduce the duty on bags and to put the raw material on the free list, giving our manufacturers the fullest advantage in this respect but maintaining sufficient duty on their finished product to give them an advantage in competition with manufacturers in India or other countries where labor is cheap.

"This policy," said Senator Chamberlain, in discussing this item in the tariff bill, "will help the farmers, while Calcutta is deprived of the chance to maintain a monopoly, and moreover, it cannot raise the price to us.

At the same time, we have so framed the tariff, we think, as to avoid crushing out the American manufacturers of bags. "The duty, as will be seen, is really in the interest of the farmers, for the natural result of destroying our own industry and giving India a monopoly, would be to allow India to fix its own prices on bags we might need.

Just as soon as it had killed out all competition. At the same time the importations will be steady prices here, and there will be enough bags imported so that the receipts from the tariff will form a substantial revenue.
