PRESIDENT IS INSISTING ON EARLY ACTION

Desires Senate to Consider Currency Measure Which Was Passed in House Yesterday.

PROSPECTS RATHER POOR

Outlook for Passage at This Session is Extremely Discouraging—Banking Committee Probably Will Not Report Bill Until Middle of October and Then Week's Debate is Sure to Follow—Senate and House Practically in Recess.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—President Wilson today insisted upon early action in the senate on the administration currency bill which was passed in the house yesterday.

Despite the president's attitude, however, the prospects of the bill being put through at this session are believed to be remote. The senate and the house today are practically taking a recess.

It is predicted that the senate banking committee would not report on the measure before the middle of October. At that time a week's debate is certain to follow. But five members of the senate committee attended a hearing on the measure today.

GETTING PROPOSED CHARTER READY FOR SUBMISSION

Last evening a meeting of the sub-committee of lawyers that is preparing the new commission charter for Pendleton was held and the work of preparing the tentative charter has progressed sufficiently far that a meeting of the general committee will be called soon and the measure submitted to the committee for inspection. After the charter has been acted upon by the general committee a mass meeting will be held at the city hall and the proposed charter submitted to that meeting for final approval.

Under the present plan, as explained by Judge Lowell, chairman of the general committee, it should be possible to have the charter ready for the committee within a few days. When that time comes he will call the committee together to act upon the charter. It was expected to have the charter ready for filing with the council by this time, but owing to the excitement attending the Round-up the sub-committee of lawyers, headed by Col. Raley, has been slow with its work.

There is ample time, however, to have the charter submitted at a special election and this is the plan in view. Judge Lowell believes the charter can be given to the council within three weeks time and a special election than can be called by the council. It is specified in the charter as it now stands that in the event the charter is adopted the election for the selection of a mayor and commissioners shall be held the first Monday in January.

ALFALFA AND CORN SPECIAL TRAIN WILL BE IN PENDLETON ON OCT. 1

News is received from the traffic officials of the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation company that their alfalfa and corn special will be in Pendleton on October 1st.

Prof. P. H. Holden, the noted alfalfa and corn expert, will accompany the train as chief lecturer.

The question of feed arises. More alfalfa and more corn are necessary. The wisdom of growing alfalfa has been urged on the farmer for some years. A campaign for more corn was begun several months ago. This coming train will bring men who are practical in their advice and who will be of great help to the land owners.

GIRL'S SHAME IS EXPOSED IN COURT

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—Stripped of everything a woman holds dear, Cleo Helen Barker, the star witness against Banker Bixby in his trial on a charge of contributing to her delinquency, left the stand after the most shameful secrets of her life had been dragged from her and held up for inspection mid the court room crowd. When she concluded the defense made no attack on the story she told.

TWO MEN DEAD AND WOMAN IS FATALLY SHOT

Tragedy in a San Francisco Garage is Enacted by a Man Whose Identity is as Yet Unknown.

WERE ALL AT LUNCHEON

Mrs. Kate Coulson, Who Cannot Live Refuses to Talk After Saying That She Recognizes One Who Did the Shooting—Her Two Companions Are Riddled With Bullets—Police Are Searching for the Husband of the Woman.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—"I think it was my husband who shot me down before I knew of his presence. He then leaned over and kissed me and asked if I was badly hurt. Then he shot the two men."

This was the statement alleged to have been made by Mrs. Kate Coulson, wife of A. R. Coulson, after she had recovered consciousness at the Emergency hospital here.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 19.—Geo. Kovack, night clerk at the Atlas garage, and William Acker, a chauffeur, were shot dead, and Mrs. Kate Coulson was fatally wounded by a man whose identity she said she knew but would not reveal, as the trio sat at luncheon in the garage early today.

A general order was sent from police headquarters for the arrest of A. R. Coulson, the woman's husband, from whom she has been estranged for some time.

With blood streaming from a bullet wound in her throat, Mrs. Coulson rushed from the garage and fled down Market street. She collapsed in front of the Kelly garage and was placed in an automobile and hurried to the Emergency hospital.

Upon her arrival she admitted she knew who shot her companions but refused to divulge his name. She then lapsed into unconsciousness. It was stated at the hospital she cannot live.

In the meantime, Patrolman Garriss, who rushed to the spot where the woman fell, traced the trail of blood to the Atlas garage. He there found the bodies of Kovack and Acker, each shot several times, lying among the debris of overturned furniture, empty beer bottles and fragments of the half-eaten luncheon.

It's astonishing how possession will decrease the value of most things.

BODY OF MAYOR GAYNOR TO LIE IN STATE; ARRIVED IN N. Y. FUNERAL HELD ON MONDAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Escorted by a police detail and a big delegation of city officials, the body of the late Mayor Gaynor, was taken from the Cunard pier to the Gaynor home in Brooklyn. The body will be removed to the city hall where it will lie in state. On Monday a procession headed by 2000 policemen a detachment of troops and city officials will accompany the body to the church for the funeral services. Acting Mayor Kleins and a large party of municipal officers met the Lusitania in the bay. Rufus Gaynor collapsed after his arrival home from the prolonged strain he has been under. He is under a physician's care.

WOULD BE GLAD TO HAVE BOARD SELL TEXT BOOKS

That he would be glad to have the city school board take over the text book business and would like to make such a change tomorrow if possible is the declaration of L. G. Frazier, proprietor of the local book store handling the text books in use here. "I ordered 50 per cent more books this fall than were requested by the city superintendent," says Mr. Frazier. "However, there was considerable demand for the books from country districts and from other towns, so that our supply down somewhat."

"The chief trouble arises from the fact we cannot get the books as we need them from the J. K. Gill Co., the state depository. The change was made so late that in many cases there has not been time in which to publish the books by the time they are needed."

According to Mr. Frazier the profit in text books is practically nil and the handling of the books is a thankless job. It is possible to return the regularly authorized books if too many should be secured. However, the supplementary books used in the schools must be ordered specially and cannot be had on consignment. As to the policy of requiring cash for the school books this year, Mr. Frazier says he had no option in the matter as the company from whom the books were received insisted upon cash at once.

UNDERTAKER WAS WAITING FOR HIM

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—In some way a rumor gained currency in this city that Congressman Herman A. Metz of Brooklyn had been stricken with heart disease on his way here by train from Washington, and when Mr. Metz stepped off the Washington express at the uptown terminal an undertaker's wagon was waiting for his body. A crowd had gathered to do him silent honor.

MONSTER STURGEON HAULS MAN'S BOAT

AND THEN OUT OF PURE GRATITUDE THE BIG FISH IS SERVED UP FOR CAMPERS' MEAL.

BAKER, Ore., Sept. 19.—A few days ago one of the Oxbow crew became obsessed with a desire to do something different. In preparation for the stunt he had decided on pulling off he made sundry visits to a thrift emporium. As a result of these visits he became highly enthusiastic regarding his ability to do big things for the admiration of his fellow workmen, and in the supreme height of his newly acquired optimism he trudged a couple of miles up the river where he knew some ranchers were fishing. The ranchers had caught several sturgeon and among them one of great size which they had just taken from the water. The enthusiastic Oxbow worker immediately bought this big fish. He then constructed a sort of three-cornered raft by means of three rails which he securely lashed together in the shape of a huge capital A. The Oxbow optimist now tied the apex of his raft and clinging to the cross piece he compelled the fish to haul him the two miles down stream to camp where he landed himself and the fish team amid the shouts of his companions. A part of the fish was served at the camp dinner.

The truth of this story is vouched for by Albert Owens, formerly of Baker but now in Halfway, who writes that he saw the fish-propelled boat and its rider going down the stream.

O'Neil was convicted of the charge of making false reports to the state bank examiner of the financial condition of the Wallace bank.

DEFENSE GETS HARD BLOW IN SULZER TRIAL

Judge Cullen Holds That Challenged Senators Frawley and Wagner Can Sit in Court.

RULING IS SUSTAINED

Arguments Are Begun in Motion to Drop Proceedings on Ground That Assembly Acted Illegally—Articles of Impeachment are Read—Effort Made to Get Release of Newspaper Man Who Charged Efforts Were Made to Bribe Legislators.

ALBANY, Sept. 19.—The fitness of Senators Frawley and Wagner to sit as members of the impeachment court to try Governor Sulzer, was challenged by the defense today when court convened at noon.

"As presiding judge," Justice Cullen ruled, "it is my opinion the court cannot entertain the challenges. As senators, I believe the persons challenged are entitled to sit and I do not think the members of this court could be excused if it was desired. However, a record of the vote will be taken on the point."

The court upheld the ruling. Judge Cullen added that he did not believe there was the slightest basis for the defense claim that Frawley and Wagner were unfit to participate in the trial. He expressed himself with much emphasis.

There is no question, however, but that the ruling of the judge is a distinct blow to Governor Sulzer.

As soon as the two challenges were overruled, the articles of impeachment were read.

The defense replied by calling up the question of the regularity of the proceedings and moved that they be dropped on the ground that the assembly acted illegally.

Attorney Marshall for the defense then began arguments in support of this motion, but a recess was declared.

The following paragraph in the impeachment brief will be quoted to support the defense claim that malice actuated the impeachment proceedings: "The world hates a liar but it is not for lying that Sulzer's conviction has been asked. He is charged with filing a false certificate of contributions in his campaign and, by so doing with having committed a crime. It is contemplated in the constitution that a criminal holding office should first be impeached thereby stripping him of official influence and power to acquit himself by removing the district attorney who prosecuted him and the judge who sentenced him and finally by pardoning himself."

An attempt will be made to get the release of James Garrison, a newspaper correspondent, who was sent to jail by the assembly for refusing to answer questions concerning charges he is said to have made that efforts were being made to bribe legislators to vote for Sulzer's impeachment. It is considered doubtful if the court will have the power to act in such a case as this.

ALBANY, Sept. 19.—After an afternoon session of an hour, the Sulzer impeachment court adjourned just 3 o'clock Monday.

ALBANY, Sept. 19.—That Governor Sulzer has recognized Glynn's claim of official authority is asserted from letters received at the governor's office. It is declared that the question arose in New York of a fugitive arrested in Chile. According to Secretary Tierney, Sulzer writing Glynn through his secretary saying that Glynn had jurisdiction in the matter.

SCHMIDT IS CLOSE RIVAL OF HOLMES

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—That Hans Schmidt had escaped detention, would have rivaled Dr. Holmes, the Chicago and Cincinnati murderer, who was executed at Philadelphia in 1836 is the belief of detectives. Scores of blank death and burial certificates were found in Schmidt's trunk. It is believed he planned to forge the documents after murdering his victim to show she died naturally. This is the way Holmes worked, who committed twelve murders.

Loan Kansas Farmers Wheat. TOPEKA, Kan., Sept. 19.—A movement to loan the farmers in ten counties of western Kansas, where the wheat crop failed this year, between thirty-five thousand and forty thousand bushels of seed wheat was started here. The Kansas Farmers Seed Wheat club was organized to raise the money necessary to buy the wheat.

New View of the East Oregonian Building

The above view of the East Oregonian building was taken by Photographer W. S. Bowman two weeks ago and shows the building as it now appears after the electric light pole and fire hydrant at the corner were eliminated by the engravers. The building is owned by the East Oregonian Publishing company, by which company the structure was erected in 1887. The mechanical department of the paper and the stock rooms take up the entire basement floor; the East Oregonian offices take the east room of the first floor on Webb street; the room at the corner of Main and Webb streets is under lease to the Northern Pacific for ticket office purposes, while Ben L. Burroughs has the Main street room for his fuel and ice office.

There are four stockholders in the East Oregonian company, to-wit: C. S. Jackson, now of Portland, Fred W. Lampkin, Lee D. Drake and E. B. Aldrich. Mr. Jackson is the president of the company, though the bulk of the stock is held by the Pendleton stockholders and the management of the paper rests with them, as it has for many years past.
