For Tuesday's change, an intensely dramatic Essanay production, filled with thrills and exciting situations, that you cannot afford to miss.
"In Convict Garb." Essanay. Two reels. Featuring Ruth Stonehouse, Richard Travers and Bryant Washburn.

It is a story of a gentleman crook getting a good position in a bank and eventually becoming engaged to the banker's daughter. He arranges with "Chub" the janitor, to rob the bank, but they are caught and he is sent to prison. His fiancée is horrified but later marries an old friend, who is warden at the prison and the thief must daily witness their happiness.

Bunny takes a decided stand against "Votes for Women" and tells his wife she hasn't brains enough to vote. She refuses to help him with his work any more and he is left in the hole, so when he meets a pretty bunch of suffragettes his subjugation is complete and he becomes one of the most ardent supporters of the "cause."

The Pearl of the Bosphorus. Pathé.

Fish With Storage Battery in Its Bane. Mac Marsh and Beverly. A wonderful fish has power to deliver an electric shock at will.

Pastime.

In keeping with its policy of giving its patrons the best of everything in the way of photo plays, the Pastime will show an all star, all feature program on Tuesday and Wednesday. The screen favorites who will appear are Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bane, Mac Marsh and Henry Waldmal, William West and Gertrude McCoy. The headliner in this program is a two-part Essanay, "The Right of Way." One of the most thrilling and sensational railroad stories ever projected on the screen. A play that can easily be called the Dynamo of Magnetism. See the automobile with the chauffeur at the wheel fall over the cliff into the gorge fifteen hundred feet below. A thrill in every scene.

"The Influence of the Unknown." Is a Biograph and it proves that a baby is a baby the world over. The story is of a revenue officer who in the guise of a hunted moonshiner gains the moonshiner's confidence. It was the girl who discovered his perfidy. She had difficulty in making the moonshiner believe she permitted his escape on account of his baby, but perhaps they understood better, when the young man never returned. The Stolen Models is an Edison comedy with Gertrude McCoy making the fun

Cosy.

Program for Monday and Tuesday "Little Dorrit." 2 reels. Theater. Miss Maude Feeley, formerly a celebrated actress of the dramatic stage plays the part of Little Dorrit in this two part adaptation of Charles Dickens famous novel. James Cruze plays the part of her father who was thrown into prison for inability to pay his debts and it was in prison Little Dorrit was born and raised. After many years she received an inheritance and was enabled to pay her father's debts and release him. This picture gives an accurate idea of the injustice of the laws in England in early times.

"Peeney's Social Experiment." Relevance. An entertaining comedy. The millionaire's yacht was wrecked and the party took refuge on a deserted island. Peeney and his fellow workmen cornered the food supplies and compelled the money kings to buy from them or starve. Before they had changed hands completely.

"Told in the Future." Majestic. The young man's realistic dream was the means of changing his views of the marriage question. An interesting picture.

The McCloy—Chan. E. and Geraldine—will present another of their funny original one act playlets entitled "A Fool's Luck," a dandy tube comedy that will keep you laughing for 20 minutes.

Alla Theater.

Tonight, for the last time, those exceptionally good vaudeville acts, "The Eddie Brothers, with their feature dancing and Yendis, the clever Chinese impersonator in his novel magician act.

Tomorrow, Wednesday, an entire new bill of acts and pictures, including the Zirex, in a comedy juggling act which has been reported as a scream. Also one other act on which we have no advance information. The picture bill consists of "Tweedledum Insures His Life," a comedy, "In Peril of the Sea," drama, Genesis 4-9, a two reel drama.

Grand Theater.

Baeco and Brown offer for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday the funny comedy, "All Mixed." The play deals with the experiences of Dennis McMannis (A. B. Baeco) and his friend Herman Kramensan, a German brewer (Ed Harrington) to entertain a celebrated actress, a danseuse (Miss Billy Vincent) during the absence of Mrs. McMannis (Miss Zinnie Moran) in the country. The troubles that ensue caused by the schemes of John, a servant (Billy Nixon) and Kitty, a maid (Naudia Melville) keep the fever going fast and furious and the many laughable situations that arise keep the audience in rare good humor. The several numbers introduced by Miss Naudia Melville, Miss Billy Vincent, Miss Janice, Lillian Mayo, all assisted by the chorus, are very pleasing. This is the last week of this popular company, who close their present season next Saturday night.

"The Last Days of Pompeii." George Kleine's magnificent spectacle, "The Last Days of Pompeii" which will open at the Oregon Saturday and Sunday nights, bids fair to shatter all attendance records for motion pictures in this city.

In six parts of two acts each, requiring over two hours to project, the beautiful film version of Bulwer-Lytton's masterly novel will captivate the crowds and establish a new conception of the act of pictorial story telling.

The film closely follows the written novel. There are scenes in which more than 5000 people take part and the settings for interiors of homes and street scenes are rarely beautifully as well as historically accurate. Some idea of the mighty scope of the production can be had when it is understood that an entire city was built in stucco and destroyed in the scenes where the volcano Vesuvius began its destructive work.

The acting is in harmony with the period and convincing. The work of the famous Italian actress Signora Fernanda Negri-Pouset in the role of Nydia, the blind flower girl, is especially worthy of note. She never forgets, even in moments when it would be almost excusable, that she is blind. Her hopeless love for Glaucus and her final death for love's cause makes a strong appeal to the sympathies. Also, the work of Antonio Gisanti, in the role of Abaces, the crafty and unscrupulous Egyptian is a splendid bit of dramatic work.

It is said that in excess of $500,000 was spent in the preparation of "The Last Days of Pompeii." George Kleine, whose famous "Quo Vadis" has set the entire world talking in an importer of motion pictures.

Watch Carefully the Child's Diet

RALPH M. PATTEN

Mothers are often unconsciously very careless about the diet of their children, forcing all to eat the same foods. The fact is that all foods do not agree alike with different persons. Hence, avoid what seems to constipate the child or to give it indigestion, and urge it to take more of what is quickly digested.

If the child shows a tendency to constipation it should immediately be given a mild laxative to help the bowels. By this is not meant a physic or purgative, for these should never be given to children, nor anything like salts, pills, etc. What the child requires is simply a small dose of the gentlest of medicines, such as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which, in the opinion of thousands of watchful mothers, is the ideal remedy for any child showing a tendency to constipation. So many things can happen to a constipated child that care is necessary. Cold, piles, headaches, sleeplessness, and many other annoyances that children should not have can usually be traced to constipation.

Many of America's foremost families are never without Syrup Pepsin, because one can never tell when some member of the family may need it, and all can use it. Thousands endorse it, among them Mrs. M. E. Patten, Valley Junction, Iowa, who is never without it in the house. Mrs. Patten says that Syrup Pepsin has done wonders for her boy Ralph, who was constipated from birth but is now doing fine. Naturally she is enthusiastic about it and wants other mothers to use it. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is sold by druggists at fifty cents and one dollar a bottle, the latter size being bought by those who already know its value, and it contains proportionally more.

Everyone likes Syrup Pepsin as it is very pleasant to the taste. It is also mild and non-gripping and free from injurious ingredients. Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it, postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 415 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 21.—Provisional President Huerta has not resigned nor has he fled from the capital. When seen at the national palace he said he had no intention of doing either.

Chronic Dyspepsia.

The following undisputed testimonial should certainly be sufficient to give hope and courage to persons afflicted with chronic dyspepsia: "I have been a chronic dyspeptic for years, and of all the medicine I have taken, Chamberlain's Tablets have done me more good than anything else," says W. G. Mattison, No. 7 Sherman St., Hornellville, N. Y. For sale by all dealers.—Adv.

six feet in the soil. When I flee the capital it will be to shoulder a rifle and take my place in the ranks to fight the rebels."

This was President Huerta's answer to queries as to whether there any foundation for the reports which have been freely circulated in the capital and found their way to the United States.

"So it is reported that I have fled," he said, "you can see for yourself that I am here at my post. To say that I have resigned or intend to resign is a falsehood. I have no intention of resigning.

"Should the elections which will be held as I have promised, indicate another for the presidency I shall step aside. Until that time you will find me here complying with my promises to the nation, which are to re-establish peace, within the law if possible, but to re-establish peace."

LAST OF ZULU KINGS DEAD AT CAPE TOWN

DINIZULU, SON OF FAMOUS FIGHTER OF AFRICA, ONCE FOUGHT BRITISH.

CAPE TOWN, Oct. 21.—Dinizulu the last of the warrior kings of the fiercer Zulu nation of South Africa, died. He was a son of Cetwayo, the king who led the Zulu nation against the British troops in the war of 1879. Cetwayo was eventually defeated after he had inflicted a crushing blow on the British army at the battle of Isandlwana, when practically the entire 24th Infantry regiment was massacred. It was during this war that the French Prince imperial Louis Napoleon was killed while out reconnoitering with the British troops. Dinizulu did not become king when his father died but was proclaimed later by the Boers and led two or three rebellions against the British power. On one occasion when captured, he was exiled to the island of St. Helena. When permitted to return to his native land he took part
