ANNUAL FLOWER SHOW OPENS AT CLEVELAND

CLEVELAND, O., Nov. 13.—Of all the annual "shows" of which Cleveland boasts, perhaps the most beautiful was the one which opened today in the Wignam coliseum—the annual flower show of the Ohio Agricultural Society. Hundreds of flowers and plants of all kinds were on exhibit and the interior of the big building was a veritable riot of color.

"Among the 'amateurs' who exhibited were: C. O. Barber of Akron, 'The Match King'; L. B. Raymond, of Akron; J. H. Wade of Cleveland, famous aeronaut and Howard Hanna and W. G. Mathers, millionaires, of Cleveland.

DOCKMEN'S UNION IS RECOGNIZED IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Nov. 13.—The labor organizations of England today are jubilant over the success of their long campaign to secure government recognition of the dockmen's union, and they are now planning to obtain similar concessions in other trades.

The admiralty today officially instructed the Portsmouth royal dockyard authorities that hereafter requests for adjustment of grievances may be presented by committees of employees, "who may be accompanied by trade union leaders not employed in government dockyards."

Minor matters will be settled at Portsmouth, but where presentations to the admiralty itself are necessary the financial secretary will meet the deputations in London. The employees' committee will be paid their traveling expenses by the government, and will receive full wages during their absence from the yards.

FOR THE MODISH GIRL OF SIXTEEN.

This young girl's smart and original tailored suit has a coat of wood brown broadcloth worn with plaid skirt in blending tones, in accordance with the latest modes. The coat is double-breasted and cut-a-way an unusual combination. The jacket has a double row of white rimmed buttons set so closely together that they touch. These constitute the coat's sole trimming with the exception of fur bands. The skirt though modest is plain and girlish. From beneath the jacket peeps an end of brown faille which is part of a girle of the same.

Most of us would feel pretty well if it wasn't for our imaginary ailments.

How to Succeed

During the last few years, conditions in all lines of business, even professional life, have changed so completely that every man is waking up to the fact that in order to win success he must specialize and learn to do some one thing and do it well.

So it is with any article that is sold to the people. It must have genuine merit or no amount of advertising will maintain the demand for the article.

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy. From the very beginning the proprietors had so much confidence in it that they invited every one to test it.

It is a physician's prescription. They have on file thousands of unsolicited letters received from former sufferers who claim they are now enjoying good health as a result of its use.

However, if you wish first to try a sample bottle, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., enclosing ten cents and mention this paper. They will promptly forward you a sample bottle by Parcel Post.

LAST APPEARANCE OF FAMOUS BULLFIGHTER

Spain's veteran bullfighter, the pride of the great populace which has thronged the arena for many years, the hero of a passing generation, will no longer hear the din of the applause of a worshipping populace or the thunderous charge of the maddened bull.

After thirty-five years in the ring Bombita, Spain's most famous bullfighter has retired. This picture was made during his last appearance and shows the infuriated bull goring Bombita's horse. Two horses were slain before the bull was killed.

since the merchants who have supplied them for years refuse to grant them further credit. The crisis is due to the men refusing to employ modern nets, in which they are upheld by the government, the canning concerns being forced to shut down because they say, they are unable to make expenses by the old method.

ponding greater gains, has been opened up as a result of feeding tests conducted by Professor G. R. Samson at the Oregon Agricultural College.

On September 1 thirty pigs of different litters were divided into three lots of ten each and all were fed barley ninety per cent and tankage ten per cent for sixty-one days. Lot 1 was fed dry rations by hand. Lot 2 was fed by self-feeder, and Lot 3 was fed by hand rations soaked for twelve hours before feeding. The three lots were divided evenly as to weight, sex and parentage. The litters were also evenly divided among the lots as nearly as possible.

Lot 1 required 463.5 lbs. of feed per 100 lbs. gain. Lot 2 required 418.2 lbs. of feed per 100 lbs. gain. And Lot 3 required 449.8 lbs. of feed per 100 lbs. gain. The difference in daily gain between the litters of pigs was from 1.42 lbs. to 1.86 lbs. The difference between the lots varied only from 1.43 lbs. to 1.84 lbs. The poorest lot was better than the poorest litter and the best lot was poorer than the best litter.

The best individual pig gained 2.44 lbs. daily for 61 days, and the poorest individual pig gained but one lb. daily during the same time.

In feeding 100 pigs similar to the best for 61 days at the present prices of feed and of hogs, the owner would realize $297.60 profit not counting labor or investment. In feeding 100 pigs similar to the poorest he would realize but $115.85 profit.

The daily gain made by individual litters are as follows: 1.42, 1.43, 1.47, 1.62, 1.67, 1.85 and 1.86.

As regards the self-feeder the results of this test confirm the results of previous tests carried on at this station and at others, that the self-feeder is an economical means of producing pork. The labor of feeding is reduced one-half by this method and the feed per 100 lbs. of gain is also less, while the daily gains are more rapid. Care was exercised in getting the pigs accustomed to a full feed and no difficulty was experienced from this manner of feeding.

As to the value of soaking the feed this test, while in no sense conclusive, showed a slight advantage in soaking the rations for 12 hours before feeding.

BASKETBALL TEAM IS STARTED AT UMATILLA

(Special Correspondence.) UMATILLA, Ore., Nov. 12.—Since the news of the immediate work on the West Extension local people have been rejoicing. Since the address of Thos. Basketball Started.

Manager James O'Connell has a bunch of tossers out at every available opportunity and has quite a crowd pretty well developed already. Within a short time a squad will be picked and a schedule arranged for games this winter. Prospects are exceedingly bright for a better team than has been turned out for some years past. Frank Pearson is a decided addition to the squad. Besides there are a number of new men who will make some of the older men hustle to stay on this year's team.

Umatilla gave the university bills a favorable vote by 3 to 1.

HEAVY EATING PIGS.

Tests Show That the Best Eaters Are the Most Economical Pork Producers.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Ore., Nov. 12.—A tremendous field for developing pigs with the definite purpose of making them capable of consuming a greater amount of feed and showing correspondingly greater gains, has been opened up as a result of feeding tests conducted by Professor G. R. Samson at the Oregon Agricultural College.

On September 1 thirty pigs of different litters were divided into three lots of ten each and all were fed barley ninety per cent and tankage ten per cent for sixty-one days. Lot 1 was fed dry rations by hand. Lot 2 was fed by self-feeder, and Lot 3 was fed by hand rations soaked for twelve hours before feeding. The difference in daily gain between the litters of pigs was from 1.42 lbs. to 1.86 lbs. The difference between the lots varied only from 1.43 lbs. to 1.84 lbs. The poorest lot was better than the poorest litter and the best lot was poorer than the best litter.

The best individual pig gained 2.44 lbs. daily for 61 days, and the poorest individual pig gained but one lb. daily during the same time.

Doctors Use This for Eczema

Dr. Evans, Ex-Commissioner of Health, says: "There is almost no relation between skin diseases and the blood." The skin must be cured through the skin. The germs must be washed out, and so salves have long ago been found worthless. The most advanced physicians of this country are now agreed on this, and are prescribing a wash of watergreen, and all other skin diseases. This compound is known as D.D.D. Prescription for Eczema.
