

This cake, made by the Cottolene recipe, using only Cottolene for shortening, won the first prize three separate times at the Texas State Fair. Cottolene recipes are all winners, at home or elsewhere.

Cottolene

Remember, however, that you do not need to use as much Cottolene as you would of butter or lard. Always use one-third less when cooking with Cottolene, for Cottolene goes much farther.

You save money, any way you figure, if you cook with Cottolene, and your food is more wholesome and more digestible. If you will give Cottolene one fair trial, you will continue to use it for everything except on the table.

This is the recipe for the prize-winning cake, by Mrs. W. J. Stone, Dallas, Texas:

Three-fourths cup of Cottolene, 2 cups sugar, 3 cups flour, 1 cup milk, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 6 whites of eggs beaten to stiff froth, 2 teaspoons lemon extract. Cream 3-4 cup of Cottolene with sugar, add milk and flour alternately until well mixed, then add whites of eggs and extract. Grease tins and flour them; light the gas just as you place cakes in stove. Put all three layers in and cook at once. Let the cake cool an hour or so before icing.

FILLING—Two cups sugar and just enough water to moisten, cook until it threads from the spoon. Beat whites of 2 eggs to stiff froth, pour the boiling syrup over the whites and beat constantly, then add 1 teaspoonful of lemon extract and 1-2 packages shredded coconut, and ice your cake. If icing begins to get too stiff to ice add about 2 tablespoons of boiling water and beat well.

Give yourself the satisfaction of knowing what Cottolene can do. Order a pail of it from your grocer; also send to us for the interesting FREE Cook Book, HOME HELPS, written by five leading authorities. Write for it today

IMPROVEMENT TO BE MADE IN WATERWAYS

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Nov. 21.—Satisfied that the coming year will mark the greatest improvement and progress in the work of bettering this country's rivers and harbors since the organization of their association, members of the Atlantic Deeper Waterways convention left for their homes today. A steamship trip on the St. John's river was on the informal program today. The trip was taken mainly that the delegates could see the improvements along the city's waterfront, the numerous manufacturing establishments and the entrance to the Florida East coast canal now open from the St. John's river to Miami, Fla. "Made in Jacksonville" cigars, oranges, bananas and other edibles grown in the south were some of the souvenirs given to those who took the trip.

Officials of Swansea, N. J., have decided to appoint to the borough police force only unmarried men who will undertake to remain single for four years.

A closed mouth is the noblest work of anybody.

STREET SUIT.

Old blue broadcloth was the material chosen for this exceptionally well fitting coat suit. It is in cutaway style with the new belt which is seen on so many of this season's smartest models. This belt which is usually made of the trimming material—in this case a self-tone velvet—starts at the side seams and fastens at the front, giving the appearance of confining the blouse fullness above. The coat of this suit is collarless and the full length sleeves are without cuffs; the neck being finished by a shaped facing of velvet and the cuffs ornamented by two buttons and simulated button-holes. Large velvet-covered buttons and buttonholes accentuated by applications of the cloth and the black silk points as finish are the sole trimming.

Fashion Notes.

A very smart costume is made of cherry colored velvet, trimmed with gray wolen embroidery and gray fox fur. The crownless wedding veil is entirely new. It is held in place by a halo of orange blossoms. Furs adorn not only the morning tailor made, but the dressy afternoon and diaphanous evening frock. Dance frocks for the debutante are fashioned of white tulle or lace with two or three tiered skirts. Suit coats hang loosely from the shoulders, are rounded below the waist at the back and tilt up in front. It is a season of luxuries in dress garnitures and gold and silver silken cords and jet will be much used. Tunics may be treated in so many ways that every woman may adopt this most fashionable detail. All clothes of the present are comfortable, shoulders broad, sleeves immense and unrestrained waists. Evening toilettes are a combination of sheerest tulle or mousseline, exquisite laces and bands of fur. The skirt may be slashed at the side or back, according to where the designer places the drapery. With afternoon costumes of this materials worn smart loose wraps of velvet, corduroy, brocaded satin or fur. There are three fashionable skirts—silhouettes, the full hip drapery, the tunic and a black drapery, prefiguring the bustle. Black and white alone is destined to the back seat. We see black and white, but there is always somewhere a dash of color.

HELPFUL HINTS.

Try rubbing the scorched marks on linen with half a raw onion, then wash in the usual way, and if the scorch is not a very bad one the linen will be white again.

Delicious sandwiches for the afternoon are made of raisins and nuts chopped together very fine, moistened with a little whipped cream and seasoned with a little salt.

When icing runs, put it back on the stove, on top of an asbestos mat and stir until proper consistency is restored. This can be done after syrup is added to the white of the egg.

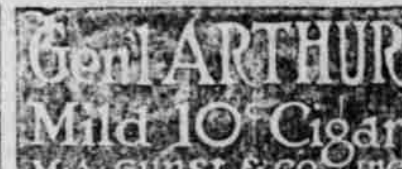

Stains on blankets and other woolen goods can often be removed by using a mixture of equal parts of glycerine and yolk of egg. Spread this on the stain, leave half an hour and wash.

A fresh mildew spot can be removed with lemon juice and exposure to the sun. If it is an old spot, dissolve a tablespoonful of chloride of lime in four quarts of cold water and soak the fabric.

Skilled hand labor is necessary to maintain our standard. It takes intelligent hands to select and blend the carefully cured leaves in each cigar. Purest tobacco with never a puff of harm. General Arthur standard of a mild cigar is your idea of a sensible smoke.

STORE MAKES REDUCTION IN GOODS OF 8 PER CENT

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 21.—A company store which supplies two mining camps a mile apart in territory tributary to the Virginia metropolis today enjoys the distinction of being the first mercantile establishment on record to voluntarily make a flat reduction of eight per cent on everything upon its shelves "because it was earning too much money." And now sirloin steak at twenty cents per pound is a regular piece de resistance (that doesn't mean it isn't tender); rib roasts at fifteen cents makes them frequent on any table in the region and the best quality of goods—by package and by the pound—are displayed at prices which carry the uninitiated back about twelve years when the high cost of living bugaboo was not so rampant on the horizon. "If we make too much money we'll quit," declared the president of the company. And then he warned the store manager that only very nominal returns on the investment would be acceptable to him. But in spite of the general cut in prices, a larger and more centrally located store is being planned. "You see, our reduced prices," said the manager, "have so increased the volume of our cash sales, that the reductions are almost made up." "Sometimes," he said almost mournfully, "I'm discouraged because the increased volume in trade comes so close to giving us the profits we used to make when we sold in smaller quantities and charged higher prices." The new store will handle a stock of $50,000 and a small army of clerks will be necessary.
