OLD ORCHARDS TO GO SAYS CAMPBELL

County Inspector After Trip Over Hermiston and Stanfield Districts Finds Orchard Conditions Favorable—Some Peach Blight.

"All the old orchards along the Umatilla river from Pendleton to Umatilla must be thoroughly cleaned up and made free from pests or else destroyed. They are badly affected now and they are a source of great danger to the new orchards in the western part of the county."

Thus spoke S. J. Campbell, Umatilla county fruit inspector who came up this morning from the west end after having spent several days investigating conditions there. According to Mr. Campbell the country around Hermiston and around Stanfield is going forward well and some splendid apple and peach orchards are on the way or already producing. He also found the orchards in good condition for the most part. The apples are entirely free from any infection but there is some California peach blight both at Hermiston and Stanfield. The trouble is not serious but the settlers are advised to get busy at once and clean up the blight before it spreads.

The following is the method of spraying the spray for peach blight. The 50 pounds of blue vitriol and 50 pounds of lime. Dissolve the vitriol in 50 gallons of water. Slack the lime and put in 50 gallons of water. To spray use six gallons of the vitriol and six gallons of the lime mixed. The trees affected should be thoroughly sprayed this fall.

Interesting Cattle Scrap—In the cattle rustling cases now on trial in Grant county it develops that the trial in part at least is the outgrowth of strife of some standing between two big cattlemen, James Johnson and Ben Colvin. Colvin is one of the men indicted for the alleged rustling. W. L. Thompson, president of the American National Bank of Pendleton, was called to Canyon City as a witness for the prosecution and also for the defense, both of the chief participants in the case being patrons of his bank. He has given a portion of his testimony and returned to Pendleton yesterday. He may have to return to Grant county to testify further in the case.

Seeking Winter Quarters—The snow that has fallen in the foothills during the past few days has driven the few remaining bands of sheep from the foothills to winter pastures. A band belonging to William Slusher is now being taken from the foothills to Nolla and a Smythe Bros. band is at Pilot Rock today en route to Arlington.

Farmers' Week at O. A. C.—Farmers' week at the Oregon Agricultural college will be from December 8 to 13 this year and one of the chief speakers will be Prof. Hector McPherson, who was recently in Pendleton. Prof. McPherson will speak chiefly of European farm methods and particularly of rural cooperation.

CLAIRVOYANTS FOUND GUILTY OF SWINDLING

CHICAGO, Nov. 21.—A verdict of guilty against James Ryan and C. P. Bertsche, leaders of the "clairvoyant ring," were returned in Judge Walker's court here. The men were charged with swindling Mrs. Hope L. McEldowney of New Salem, Wis., out of $15,500. The defendants will demand a new trial. The offense calls for imprisonment from one to ten years.

JUNGLE RESIDENT IS UNDER BONDS OF $200

GRANTS PASS, Ore., Nov. 21.—B. G. Harmon, a dweller in the "jungle," was brought to Grants Pass and given a preliminary hearing before Justice Holman, on a charge of having broken into the depot at Wolf Creek and stolen therefrom a case of condensed milk and a 15-pound bucket of spiced herring consigned to Wolf Creek merchants. Harmon was arrested with the goods upon him, and was brought here by Special Agent Burns of the Southern Pacific. The prisoner was bound over under bonds of $200.

Newsy Notes of Pendleton

Free-for-All Fight. Clayton Long, Walter Lindsay and Ad Depew each paid $10 into the city coffers this morning on a charge of fighting, the three having become involved into a general melee last evening.

Patient Can Not See Friends. Clarence Penland, who yesterday underwent an operation for appendicitis, is recovering in a very satisfactory way from the surgical treatment but his physicians have forbidden him to see his friends for a week. His appendix had given him trouble ever since he was nine years old and it was found that it had grown fast to the intestine.

Escaped Convict Recaptured. Having in his custody R. S. Wallace an escaped convict recaptured, Chief Parole Officer Snodgrass of the state penitentiary, spent last night in Pendleton and left this morning on No. 17 with his prisoner. Wallace, who was serving an indeterminate sentence for forgery, escaped 30 days ago and was apprehended at Huntington.

Second Son Has Measles. With his young son, Maurice, just recovered from an attack of the measles, Dr. I. U. Temple, city physician, has a still younger son, Allan, down with the disease now. Both boys have been pretty sick. The quarantine was raised at noon today on the residence of Dr. Hoelington, their little daughter, Marian, having completely recovered.

Bondsman Turned Back. Becoming alarmed lest he leave the country, the bondsman of Lester Pope, who is under an indictment for horse stealing, yesterday notified the sheriff that they wished to turn him back. Accordingly, Deputy Sheriff George Strand went over to Walla Walla and took him into custody. He has also been under arrest in Walla Walla and held as a witness in connection with the sale of a stolen horse to the Al G. Barnes circus.

Real Representative Shows Up. L. V. Green, the man arrested yesterday for passing alleged bogus checks as a representative of the Continental Distributing Co., was confronted by the real representative of the company this morning at the train as Marshal Lang of Arlington was about to put him aboard the local. The real representative was Jack Skiles, formerly of this city, and if Green believed what Skiles told him, he has a very low opinion of himself. Skiles states that the company will also prosecute the man.

Pendleton has a fine high school building and a good equipment. How may the plant best serve the interests of the community? Is it being used to its full capacity? How may its work be enlarged and extended? Is it doing all it should do in return for the money expended on it? Every citizen has a vital interest in these questions. Opportunity will be given for the expression of the views of any one on these matters in addition to the lecture by Dr. Robek. The university expects a strong interest in every community in these conferences. All parents having young people in the high school or to go to the high school are invited and expected to be present, as well as all others interested in the advancement of present day means of education. Another meeting of the conference will be held Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. This meeting is for the discussion of any or all topics of vital interest to the community. Dr. Joseph Schafer of the department of history will speak on "The Citizen's Attitude Toward Public Affairs." The practical nature of Dr. Schafer's work is well known in Pendleton. He will address the meeting of the Historical Society on Saturday evening at 8 o'clock. It will be to the credit of the city to fill the high school auditorium at each of these conference meetings. No admission is charged and all interested in the progress of Pendleton are earnestly requested to be present.

The grouse is the favorite of all game birds to Dr. Hodge and he showed some particularly interesting slides of this bird. Incidentally, he proved the fallacy of the tradition that the grouse is the one game bird that cannot be tamed. He showed photographs of grouse that he had raised from the egg and the way they perched upon his children shows that they certainly were not wild. Also he proved conclusively that the noted "drumming" of the bird is done by beating its wings against its breast, showing pictures to prove his statement.

The first part of Dr. Hodge's lecture was taken up with a talk and pictures on the life of song birds and was as interesting as his lecture on game fowl. He appealed to those present to encourage their children in making pets out of the native birds instead of teaching them to kill them at every opportunity.

HARVARD-YALE PLAY SATURDAY

a score of 20 to 0, and the tacking on of another victory without a break will establish a precedent. They are not very strong for breaking precedents in the staid section of the country where "Yalers" and "Harvarders" are cultivated. But every once in a while a Harvard man grows up in such a manner that in time it is almost forgotten where he got his pronunciation and the stout eleven representing the Crimson may do some precedent. At all events everyone in Cambridge from the drooping eyed sophomore whose mention of Harvard is as devoid of "Ra" as Mexico is of peace, to the oldest Old Grad is getting down his money on the Crimson.

In this coming conflict Yale has two big things against her and one in her favor. Against Yale is arrayed Brickley, Harvard's great fullback and the Blue's weakness. Precedent alone stands in her favor. History tells us that a few healthy wallons such as Charles Brickley is capable of dealing, usually puts precedent talk on the blink. No mention of Harvard is complete without Brickley, or possibly it should be the other way, as it is necessary in making yourself clear to let it be known just where this young man holds forth. It was a narrow squeeze for the Crimson when they met Princeton. Brickley's toe alone brought the decision. He is undoubtedly the greatest drop kicker ever developed in the country. He shoots them over with unerring aim from the 35 or 50 yard line without an effort. As an open field runner he has few equals. His team mate, Eddie Mahan, playing halfback, probably can come closer to Brickley than any other man in this department. Both twist turn and wiggle through a broken field and it takes a hard, sure tackle to bring them down.
