SOCIETY

A notable early spring wedding was that yesterday which made Miss Hazel Smith the bride of John Mumm. The ceremony was performed at 10:30 in the morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will R. Wyrick, 314 West Bluff street, Rev. S. L. Grigsby, pastor of the Presbyterian church officiating. Only a few friends and relatives were present.

The bride wore a tailored suit and hat. Her bridesmaid was Miss Katherine Mumm, sister of the bridegroom, and Mr. Mumm was attended by Charles Milne. Immediately after the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served for the bridal party and guests who were Mr. and Mrs. Jurgen Mumm, parents of the bridegroom, A. J. Smith father of the bride, and Mr. and Mrs. Wyrick.

The young couple left on the noon train for Portland and will go on to Spokane by way of Seattle. In Spokane they will be the guests of Mr. Mumm's sisters, Misses Emma and Amanda Mumm who are attending school in that city. They expect to return within a week and will make their home at the Mumm farm six miles north of this city.

The bride is a very charming young lady and has won many friends since she came to Pendleton to live. Her husband is one of the best known of the young wheat farmers of the county and is popular in local club circles.

Little Miss Elizabeth Bond, the baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bond, was a hostess yesterday afternoon on the occasion of her first birthday. Her guests being a number of other pretty babies. They included James Raley, Marion Moorhouse, Burke Hays, Mary Augusta Schaefer, Jean Frazier, Stephen Bonney and Amy Elizabeth Aldrich. The mothers of the little ones were present and enjoyed the occasion quite as much as the infants.

A well known young couple of Weston, Benjamin W. Lee and Miss Bertha Viola Ferguson, were married at the local Methodist parsonage Monday evening by Rev. Charles A. Hodshire, pastor of the church. Only a few friends and relatives witnessed the ceremony.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon Miss Chrystal Merna Rhinehart became the bride of Edward P. Enright in the offices of Justice of the Peace Joe H. Parkes who performed the ceremony. The newly married couple are residents of Camas Prairie.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Poffenberger and son LaDue, who have been visiting at the home of Mrs. Poffenberger's brother, E. E. Baer on the North hill for the past two weeks, left this morning for their home at Delano, Minnesota.

Roy E. Burke and Miss Ora May Buroker, a well known young couple of Athena, were married Monday afternoon in this city by Justice of the Peace Joe H. Parkes.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Townsend of Portland will arrive this evening to be the guests for a few days of Mrs. Townsend's sister, Mrs. Willard Bond.

The Care of Children

It should be the wish of all parents to have their children represent the best of thought and action. It should be their natural desire to have their children stand for the highest forms of citizenship which is true not only to itself but to those about it, to the nation at large and to the God above.

In the public schools of New York City where Mrs. Margaret E. Williams is director of Home Economics, there are 50,000 girls learning domestic science and home economics. They have two years of teaching under exceptionally qualified and enthusiastic teachers before they reach the high school, and while going through the high school they are given more and more of this preparation for homemaking.

When a child is shown that the stars move in orderly procession, that there is no disobedience, no disloyalty, no failure to perform their functions, his mind must be awakened somewhat to a realization of the fact that human beings can do the same thing. The ideal is inspired in its mind of attempting in the humbler work of life to serve as faithfully as do the stars.

Home Hints and Recipes

Easy Mending. I buy at a department store nice, firm stocking feet for three cents a pair, writes a contributor to Mothers Magazine. I cut off the old feet that are past mending and sew the new feet on the old tops, using good darning cotton and being careful to stretch the seam as the thread will not break. These last as long as new stockings.

Pigeons Done in Dumplings. Take six pigeons and stuff them with chopped oysters, seasoned with pepper, salt mace and nutmeg. Score the breasts and loosen all the joints with a sharp knife, as if you were going to carve them for eating, but do not cut them apart. Make sufficient quantity of nice meat paste, allowing a pound of suet to two pounds of flour; roll it out thick and divide. Lay one pigeon on each sheet of the paste with the back downward and put at the lower part of the breast a piece of butter rolled in flour. Close the paste over the pigeon in the form of a dumpling or small pudding, pouring in at the last a little cold water to add to the gravy. Tie each dumpling in a cloth, put them into a pot of hot water and boil them two hours. Send them to table with made gravy in a boat.

Partridges or quails may be cooked in this manner, says the Denver Times, also chickens, which must be accompanied by egg sauce.

Raisin Mixture Put in Cookies. Cookies a little out of the ordinary are these: Cream a cupful of sugar and half a cupful of butter; then add a beaten egg, and half a cupful of sweet milk. When thoroughly mixed, stir in gradually three and a half cupfuls of flour, sifted with a teaspoonful of cream tartar. The last thing flavor with vanilla. Roll or pat the mixture fairly thin, and cut out round.

Make a filling by cooking together in a double boiler, till thick, a cupful of raisins, half a cupful of cold water and a tablespoonful of flour. Spread this mixture on the cookies when they come from the oven and put together sandwich fashion.—Newark News

D. Mickie, dairy and food commissioner. Another evil that inspectors reported while here last week is the use of tin cans as kitchen utensils. Many of the cheap restaurants on Depot street had dozens of these tins in use when the inspector visited them. All the tins found in poorly soldered tins were dumped. Several of the restaurants have already purchased a full supply of sanitary utensils.

He Was Lazy All Right.

WASHINGTON, March 11.—Representative Willis, of Ohio, who has the biggest voice in captivity, is relating his experience on a stumping tour during the last campaign. Willis dislikes automobiles and so hired a buggy to go around his district in. The driver was renowned for his laziness and pure gall. On one occasion he hitched up a raw broncho from the west to the buggy shafts and let the unsuspecting Willis in. The horse took the bit in his teeth and lit out. The going was mighty rough. Willis looked at the driver and suggested that it might be well to jump.

"Aw, no," retorted the lazy one, "don't jump. He'll throw us out in a minute anyway."
