SOCIETY

Ushering in the post-Lenten social season, the dancing party given last evening in the Eagle-Woodman hall by eleven popular and prominent young bachelors established itself as one of those notable successes that rise not frequently in the long vista of memory and thus remain as landmarks on society's highway. Elegance and beauty to a rare degree placed their stamp conspicuously upon the occasion and altogether the affair was a signal triumph for the hosts.

The auditorium of the hall was resplendent with the consummate art of the professional decorator. Lavender and yellow was the color scheme employed and the delicate colors were offset by the rich, dark green of the Oregon grape, garlands, wreaths and banks of which had been arranged artistically about the hall. Spring made her offering in the form of a profusion of lilac blossoms and apple blossoms and the air was laden with the sweet fragrance and perfume of these flowers. The windows were curtained in the predominant colors and butterfly-bows were employed as wall decorations. Adding to the elegance of the occasion as well as to the comfort of the guests were the heavy, plush covered chairs which had been substituted for the plain furniture.

The guests, who numbered about two hundred, commenced arriving before nine o'clock and were received by footmen and maids. In the auditorium they were greeted by the patronesses, Mesdames Lina H. Sturgis, Frank E. Boyden, George Hartman, Jr., Frederick E. Judd, Wilson D. McNary and Robert N. Stanfield, and by the hosts of the occasion, Messrs Clarence M. Bishop, Charles E. Bond, Guy L. Boyden, Harry D. Gray, David B. Hill, Frederick W. Lampkin, Roy W. Rittner, Royal M. Sawtelle, Dan P. Smythe, James H. Sturgis and John W. Watson.

The grand march, led by Clarence M. Bishop and Miss Elizabeth Sawtelle, started the festivities and the many beautiful gowns of the lady guests made the line of march a brilliant one. From the balcony many other guests looked down upon the scene. The dancing continued until an early hour this morning.

Refreshing punch was dispensed from two booths during the evening while a smoking room, fitted up luxuriously, invited the gentlemen to intervals of rest.

At half past eleven the guests were summoned to the banquet hall above and there enjoyed the most elaborate supper served a la cafeteria. The banquet hall also bore evidences of the decorator's skill, the walls being adorned with the same flowers and general decorations as the auditorium below and the floors being covered with Navajo rugs.

Dancing was resumed shortly after midnight and the best testimony to the enjoyment of the guests was the fact that the floor was almost as crowded at the final number as at the first and that the orchestra was forced to respond to five encores. The music furnished by the United Orchestra was entirely in keeping with the other factors that made for the success of the function.

Quite a number of out-of-town people were present to enjoy the party, among them being Mrs. Katherine Eppinger, Mrs. Ida Hunziker, Mrs. Thomas Vaughan, Miss Pay Bartholomew, Dr. Charles J. Smith and Miss Gwendolin Smith of Portland. Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Storie, Miss Bertha Anger, Mrs. Esther Kenney, Mrs. R. E. Radlock and Mr. Martin of Walla Walla, Mr. and Mrs. Homer I. Watts and Mr. and Mrs. Linden Vincent of Athena, Mrs. Walter B. Hinkle and Miss Ruth Dunlavy of Echo.

The Busy Bee Club was entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Greulich on West Court street with Mrs. Greulich, Mrs. Will Humphrey and Mrs. Mary Light as hostesses. About thirty members were present and Mrs. Henry W. Schwarz, Mrs. Frank Greulich and Mrs. Ray Ayres were outside guests. The afternoon was pleasantly spent with sewing and light refreshments were served late.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Storie of Walla Walla, who came over to attend the dancing party last evening, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Mable.

Mr. and Mrs. John Casper and son, Master Kirk Casper, and Mrs. S. A. Neebling, prominent Walla Walla people, motored over from that city Tuesday.

Mrs. James S. Johns arrived home last evening from Portland where she visited her parents for a fortnight. Mr. and Mrs. Johns have recently moved into the McAllister home, 931 Thompson street.

Mrs. Henry Barrett and Miss Jessica McEwen of Athena, returned home yesterday evening after visiting for two days with Misses Frances and Muriel Saling.

Miss Grace Dorothy, formerly of this city, spent Easter Sunday in the city. She is now deputy county clerk in Walla Walla.

Mrs. R. E. Farnsworth came down this morning from Weston where her husband recently opened dental parlors.

Miss Grace Finnell returned this morning from Athena where she visited her sister, Mrs. L. W. Nelson.

Mrs. William L. Thompson is confined to her home with illness.

Mrs. Douglas Belts is at Hot Lake to spend several weeks.

Home Hints and Recipes

Pasteboard Mat Serves Finely.

For a mat at the foot of the cellar stairs or in the vestibule at the back door, a strip of stiff pasteboard such as comes around packages of dishes and jars shipped by crockery dealers will be found neat and labor-saving. The pasteboard will effectively rub dirt or mud from soles and heels that are chafed against it, and it will hold the dirt free on its surface. It can be cleaned instantly by being inverted over an ash can. It can also be cleaned by a brief operation with dust-pan and brush.

A pasteboard mat is not a dust-raiser, as is a piece of carpeting. Its cost to the housekeeper is the trouble of cutting the heavy packing stock, which is sometimes single and sometimes double with a corrugated filling, to a convenient size. A fresh mat will have to be put down every month or six weeks.

The Care of Children

The Lies Children Tell.

(By Sidonie Matzner Gruenberg.) None of the petty vices of childhood appears so shockingly so much as lying; and none is more universal among children—and among adults. As we are speaking of children, however, it is enough to say that all children lie—constantly, persistently, and universally. Perhaps you will be less grieved by the lies of your children, and less loath to admit that the lie, if you realize that all children lie. The mother who tells you that her child never lies is either deceiving herself or trying to impress you with the superiority of her offspring.

Still, although lying is so common, that is no reason for ignoring the lies of children. They have to be taught to know the truth and to speak and act it. Here, however, as in other problems connected with bringing up children, the important thing is to understand.

Whether your child will become an habitual liar or whether he will simply "outgrow" the tendency as he leaves other childish things behind him will depend upon the treatment you give him. If you do not treat the lies of your children understandingly, there is the danger that you will bring out other characteristics, perhaps even more undesirable—such as cruelty, revengefulness and actual deceit.

We must recognize that there are many kinds of lies, as well as many degrees, and to treat them all alike is a fatal error. As we are the judges of our children in all their misdeeds, we must try to be not only judicious in our attitude, but just. And in order to be just, we must understand.

SALTS IF KIDNEYS OR BLADDER BOTHER

HARMLESS TO FLUSH KIDNEYS AND NEUTRALIZE IRRITATING ACIDS.

Kidney and bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.

Bladder weakness, most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is really one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast, continue this for two or three days. This will neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent, lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

The New Baby is World's Wonder

Every tiny infant makes life's perspective wider and brighter. And whatever there is to enhance its arrival and to ease and comfort the expectant mother should be given attention. Among the real helpful things is an external abdominal application known as "Mother's Friend." It is so well thought of by women that most drug stores throughout the United States carry "Mother's Friend" as one of their staple and reliable remedies. It is applied to the abdominal muscles to relieve the strain on ligaments and tendons.

In a little book are described more fully the many reasons why "Mother's Friend" has been a friend indeed to women for more than two generations. This book was prepared not only to aid the inexperienced but to enable so many women to have at hand the timely hints, suggestions and helps in concise and neatly printed form for ready reference. It should be in all homes. "Mother's Friend" may be had of almost any druggist but if you fail to find it write us direct and also write for book to Bradfield Regulator Co., 909 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Georgia.

der to be just we must always take into consideration all the circumstances in the case and, above all the motive.

First of all, we must always remember that children have standards of truth that are different from those of adults. As we found out upon investigation, children generally believe that it is quite legitimate to lie to one's enemies, if one is but truthful to his friends. Then the sentimental and heroic element of some lies appeals to normal children. They admire the boy who lies in order to save his companion from punishment. The nobility of such an act impresses them more strongly than any conception they can have of the sublimity of truth. A number of children in a public school were questioned as to when they thought it would be justifiable to tell a lie. The answers showed that they were much more moved by the dramatic situation than by clear ideas of right and wrong.
