

ECHO FARMER HIT BY FREIGHT TRAIN

SAM SAMUELSON RECEIVES SEVERE INJURIES YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

(Special Correspondence.)
ECHO, Ore., July 21.—Sam Samuelson, a farmer living a few miles east of Echo, was struck by the engine of east bound freight No. 541 at the crossing above the depot here about 1 o'clock yesterday and considerably bruised about the head and shoulders and rendered unconscious. The back part of his wagon was demolished but his train escaped unhurt.

The train was standing out at the crossing and the man drove through and was caught by the engine backing down on the main line towards the water tank. He claims the engineer did not sound any warning and he was unable to get out of the way in time to escape.

Mrs. Willard Davis of Albany, Ore., is here visiting with her sister, Mrs. Louis Scholl, Jr. Mrs. Davis is accompanied by her little daughter Ruth.

A. B. Thomson and family returned home today from Lehman Springs.

Mrs. Clyde Schryner formerly of Meacham, Ore., has opened a home bakery here in the front part of the Scribner building on Bonanza street.

T. D. Matthews was an out of town visitor here on Monday.

John K. Phillips was a business visitor in Pendleton on Monday and returned home in the evening on the motor.

CHICAGO, July 20.—The will of Robert H. Law, bequeathing his estate valued at $600,000 to his widow, Mrs. Mary L. Law, living at the Laguna Hotel, 3091 South Michigan avenue, was admitted to probate before J. P. Dankowski, assistant to Probate Judge Greig.

Mr. Law, who was a coal dealer, died May 12. Personal property valued at $100,000 and real estate holdings worth a similar amount compose the estate. The widow is named sole executrix without bond and G. T. B. Goodspeed is attorney for the estate.

Kaiser is a Mighty Nimrod.

BERLIN, July 21.—The Kaiser's right to be considered Germany's leading hunter has been established by statistics showing that in his lifetime he has bagged 73,303 pieces of game. More than 18,000 rabbits, 44,000 pheasants, 3000 deer and 140 foxes.

This record is extraordinary, considering the fact that the Kaiser shoots with his left hand alone. The crown prince presumably will be unable to make such a name for himself as a hunter, because he is a notoriously poor shot.

SURINGFIELD, Ill., July 21.—Lieutenant Colonel Charles H. Muir, United States army instructor at Camp Lincoln, as giving the officers of the 6th infantry problems that would occur in actual warfare. Col. Muir says the officers of this regiment are very apt. The regiment was out in companies on extended order drill, fire attack drill, skirmish drill, with targets as the object for their fire.

TOT WANDERS FOR 48 HOURS IN WOODS

TWO YEAR OLD GIRL GUARDED BY FAITHFUL DOG LOST NEAR BURNS.

BURNS, Ore., July 21.—After wandering, lost in the mountains for two nights and two days, but guarded faithfully the while by her young shepherd dog, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Patterson was found by searchers up to her arm pits in a pool and near death from exhaustion. She had wandered 12 miles from the camp of her parents 17 miles northwest of Burns.

Request for volunteers to aid in the search for the child was received Thursday morning after the mother had worn herself out tramping the mountain trails and carrying her two-months-old baby while looking for the child. There was no one at home with whom she could leave the infant, as Mr. Patterson was in the mountains hauling wood and the nearest neighbors are six miles distant. When Patterson returned to his camp he sent the alarm to Baker as quickly as courier could carry it, and soon some 50 men and boys had volunteered for organized search. Automobiles, motorcycles and horses were impressed into service. The morning was spent in searching near the home. After dinner squads went farther into the hills, and in a flooded thicket 12 miles from camp Arthur Turned found the missing child. She was dazed and starved almost to unconsciousness. Her dog was near by whining piteously.

Turner took the youngster's wet clothes off and wrapped her in his own coat before carrying her to the parents' camp. From there a fast automobile trip was made to Baker for medical aid. A local physician found the child in no real danger however, after she had been warmed and fed, and she is recovering now at the home of Sheriff A. K. Richardson.

Indications are that the child slept in the brush about two miles from her home the first night. Had she been old enough to realize it the dog would have guided her home. Instead she wandered farther away and the dog went with her and probably curled up with her when she slept, his body heat helping to keep the baby warm during the chilly nights in the mountains.

The child had nothing to eat and no shelter during the 48 hours she was out. Her baby shoes were worn through by her 12 mile wanderings.

Threatened to Kill Herself That Insurance Might go to Baby

Mrs. Elois Nelms Dennis and baby.

ATLANTA, Ga., July 21.—Mary and tangled are the threads in the strange case known to the police as the Nelms disappearance mystery. The puzzle promises to be cleared up when Mrs. Elois Nelms Dennis, who threatened to kill herself in order that her $20,000 in life insurance might go to her baby boy, and her sister Beatrice Nelms are arrested by the police. The girls have been located on Pettibone island but the water has been too rough for men in boats to venture out and make the arrest. The puzzle grew out of the receipt of a letter by the mother of the girl to the effect that one had taken the other's life and threatened that of her brother. The women had disappeared a short time previous. A new phase of the case is a disappearance of Walter Dennis, husband of Mrs. Elois Nelms Dennis, from his place of business in New York.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST

BURNS, Ore., July 21.—Raymond Dawson McHargue, nine years old, tried to jump from his cart when his pony ran away, but one foot caught in the cart springs and the boy was beaten to death as he lay head downward. The accident happened on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Rush McHargue, the boy's parents, in Barren Valley.

PORTLAND, July 21.—Samuel G. Blythe, creator of T. Marmaduke Hicks, the hero of Mr. Blythe's latest political novel, "The Fakers," now appearing serially in the Saturday Evening Post, stopped off in Portland a few hours today en route to Seattle.

Mr. Blythe has just come from Glacier national park in company with John H. Carroll of St. Louis, general attorney of the Hill lines; John H. Carroll Jr., and R. D. Clark of Peoria. The party is traveling in Mr. Carroll's car and will go east from Seattle.

BAKER, Ore., July 21.—George Gillette, postmaster of Halfway, was instantly killed by the accidental discharge of his revolver while fishing at Clear Creek, about six miles from Halfway, last evening.

The gun is believed to have fallen on a rock from his holster while Mr. Gillette was leaning over to cut fern with which to cover fish he had caught. His brother, Fred, who was only a few feet away, rescued him from the water into which he had fallen, and medical aid was summoned. Physicians' efforts were futile.

SUICIDE BY 2 MINUTE MARGIN

B. Harley Bradley Fired Shot Just Before Attorney Arrived
CHICAGO, July 21.—B. Harley Bradley had delayed firing the shot that ended his life for two minutes he would be alive today and with his family. Bradley went to the Hotel LaSalle to kill himself. He was despondent. A half hour before Bradley committed suicide his wife in Omaha, Iowa, received a letter from him. It read in part:

"Dearest Anna: You, perhaps don't know that I love you, and I am a coward to get out of it all and leave it up to you to make good. This time I hope something will happen to get me out of the way, for I am sick dead. It doesn't seem real to write you, sweetheart, and to know that I will not see you again. I know you expect me home on the 7:26 train, and I am going to disappoint you just this once more. Forgive me, if you can, and don't forget I love you."

Mrs. Bradley telegraphed to Attorney Fred D. Jackson, a relative. Attorney Jackson rushed to the telephone and called the hotel. Employees were sent to Bradley's room in haste. They lost the race with death, however. The lower was found lying across his bed when they opened his door. They had arrived less than two minutes after the shot had been fired. At the inquest Attorney Jackson testified he received the telegram shortly after 11 o'clock. Bradley fired the shot at 11:15. He died a few hours later.

It was brought out at the inquest that Bradley, who was 44 years old and the grandson of the founder of the David Bradley Manufacturing a number of financial reverses. His widow testified he had attempted to commit suicide three years ago by inhaling gas.

File of Junk His Monument
JUNCTION CITY, Kas., July 21.—Scrap iron—hundreds of thousands of pieces of it in a great heap—is the material that John Rush left when he died at his home near here. For years he had followed a hobby of collecting scrap iron, as many a wealthy man collects paintings. He never refused to buy iron and persistently refused to sell even the smallest piece. At the time of his death he had the largest junk pile in the west. It covers several acres of his farm and is forty feet high.
