SUN'S ECLIPSE WAS ON THIS MORNING

WASHINGTON, Aug. 21.—Astronomers and star gazers in many parts of the world were up at sunrise today to observe the eclipse of the sun.

For just a few seconds after sunrise, observers in the United States and North of Washington and as far west as Indianapolis were permitted just the slightest part of the moon's shadow on the sun. The map prepared by the naval observatory at Washington shows that the path of totality of the eclipse began up in the extreme north polar region of the western hemisphere. It extends eastward to Norway, Sweden, Russia and Persia. In this zone, about 100 miles wide, the eclipse was visible in its totality for about four minutes.

Many governments went to large expense to fit out expeditions to observe the eclipse in the zone entirely but the United States, feeling that the eclipse has no great scientific importance and that it will be fully observed by the Swedish and Russian astronomers, made no such provision. It had been planned by private enterprise some time ago to send an expedition to observe the eclipse in Persia but this was abandoned when it was learned that it would necessitate the invasion of extremely wild and remote country inhabited by tribesmen who might make astronomers targets for spear hurling. When it was considered that all of the observations must be made in four minutes and that the slightest hitch on a cloud would spoil them, all thoughts of an expedition were forgotten.

Many scientists who wished to observe the phenomenon despite the war went to Riga and Kiev, Russia, which were both directly in the path of the total eclipse. "Beyond assisting in the astronomy of the moon's position from its observed contacts with the sun, the practical results of a solar eclipse have been so fully covered by previous expeditions that no important new results are anticipated from today's observations," said

Capt. J. A. Hoogerwerf, superintendent of the naval observatory. Whether it was caused by the German gun fire we were not able to learn."

Mrs. West said it took her party three days to reach Rotterdam.

MILITARY STYLES IS REASONS FORECAST

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 21.—"Military in mode and tone," is the dictum of Cleveland manufacturers for fall and winter styles in ladies' cloaks and suits. No longer will military appear in the sheer blousy waist and peg top skirt. Present styles in coats and jackets are doomed, for war mad Paris has decreed that ladies wear must be military.

Skirts will be plain, and only straight lines will be tolerated. Jackets and coats will also be plain and button close about the throat. Low or "V" necked waists too, will be replaced by stiff military collars and cuffs to match. Military walk and carriage must conform strictly with her new mode in dress. A long straight step and stiff carriage of the body will be the only mode approaching good form. Meanwhile buyers and other people who lay down the law of dress are marooned in Paris becoming fully imbued with the military spirit. They will be back soon with their trunks of samples. With them will come the military."

SEES FIRING AT AVIATOR.

Woman Refugee Tells of Air Fight in Belgium.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Mrs. M. E. Harris West of Montgomery, Ala., a passenger on the Nieuw Amsterdam, which arrived from Rotterdam last night, told of having witnessed a fight in the air near Ellen, Belgium. The party of which Mrs. West was a member left Berlin two days after war was declared, proceeding into Belgium on a troop train. Her story of the fight follows:

"On reaching Salten on the frontier we were startled at the sound of firing. Our attention was attracted aloft, where we saw several aeroplanes circling about.

"The soldiers told us that several of the aeroplanes were French and that their pilots probably were on a reconnoitering expedition. Several German aeroplanes also were in the air and shots were exchanged between them and the Frenchmen.

"The train halted so suddenly that we were jammed against each other. The soldiers hastily disembarked and trained their guns in the direction of the Frenchmen. One of the French machines was seen to wobble and fall

JEFFERY & BUFTON HAVE ASTORIA WORK

LOCAL RESERVOIR BUILDERS WILL BUILD UNIT OF COLUMBIA HIGHWAY.

ASTORIA, Ore., Aug. 21.—The last of three big contracts connected with the construction of the Columbia river highway in Clatsop county was awarded by the county court last evening to Jeffery & Bufton of Portland, the price being $58,519.70.

The contract was let on a unit price basis, and based on the advertised quantities. The plan is the same as in effect in the east end of the county. By this plan the court is in a position to say just how much of the improvement is to be made, more or less, as conditions may warrant.

The contract price is $7000 below the engineer's estimate of the work. The right of way to be improved extends from a point 16 miles south of Seaside to the Tillamook county line, and when completed will connect with the coast road in Tillamook county, giving direct connections with Nehalem City and other points in that part of the state.

The stretch of right of way to be improved is nine miles long. Major Bowly and L. Griswold, highway engineers, as well as the members of the county court, express themselves as well pleased with the awarding of the contract.

L. E. Bufton, representing Jeffery & Bufton, was here yesterday and when notified that he was the successful bidder said he would have his equipment on the ground ready to start work in 10 days.

The improvement, according to the contract, must be completed by May 1, 1915.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—All the big ships of the Atlantic battle fleet will be withdrawn from Vera Cruz and brought north by September 1.

Secretary Daniels announced today it was his intention to leave in Mexican waters only small craft capable of patrol duty of which might be needed across the gulf on Dominican and Haitian waters.

It is the plan to have Rear Admiral Fletcher take command of the fleet at Hampton Roads about September 1 in succession to Rear Admiral Badger, who then retires. At the navy department, it was said the movement of the ships had no connection with the European situation, although some of them might be used in safeguarding neutrality.

PEACEFUL TRADE CONQUESTS

Business men of the United States who are planning to find new markets in South America for products shut out of Europe by the war should open their eyes at once to the fact that trading with Latin-American republics must be reciprocal.

Exports from South America annually exceed the imports in value by $200,000,000. Exports to the amount of $700,000,000 go to Europe, while in the past only $25,000,000 worth of South American goods come to this country. To secure the good will and the trade of the South Americans we must begin to provide markets for a considerable part of the $700,000,000 of products at present barred from Europe. We must provide ships. Ninety per cent of the imports of our southern neighbors is carried in the United States Congress is taking steps now to help provide the ships.

The golden promise of this rich field of trade is arousing every commercial center in America. Chambers of commerce are discussing ways and means of reaching it. Necessary in time, no doubt, would lead each manufacturing community or branch of industry to blaze its own road. How much better would be an organized advance! Why should not the tradesman of America learn something from the militaries of Europe? Let them mobilize for a march on the frontiers of new trade. Detached battalions of commerce would be easily defeated. On the other hand, a well planned campaign of peaceful invasion would bring valuable and lasting results.

The way to assure victory is to link together the activities of chambers of commerce and allied organizations throughout the United States. Following out the military line of thought, a staff of general staff should be organized from among the best equipped leaders in various lines of industry. Other captains of commerce and finance, acting as division and corps commanders, should operate under the direction of the general staff.

The first step is to mobilize the commercial army of the United States. The time to mobilize is now.

EXPECT TWO CHINAS TO FOLLOW BREAK

SHANGHAI, Aug. 21.—That China will split into two separate countries is the growing conviction here among men in close touch with the republic's politics. That there is about to be a successful revolution in the provinces south of the Yangtze, these judges of the situation declared was certain. The revolutionary movement was said to be practically unanimous and even though President Yuan Shi Kai might win a border battle or two, should he try to prevent southern China's secessions from the north, it was pointed out that it would be hopeless for him to attempt to subdue an erritory half the size of the United States, with a population approaching 200,000,000 solidly united against him.

It was agreed, on the other hand, that the north showed no such disposition for popular government as the south and it was admitted that it would be impossible for the south to beat the north on its own ground as it would for the north to hold the south against its will. The southern leaders proposed a republic with land on something like a single tax basis and the state in control of most great utilities. They plan railroad building, the establishment of free schools and as rapid development as possible by Chinese of the country's latent resources.

PRISONERS TO BE BIG PROBLEM

Housing and Guarding of Men Captured Will Be Huge Task.

LONDON, England, Aug. 21.—A troublesome problem of war is likely to be the housing and guarding of prisoners. More than 5000 Germans have been captured. The Belgians are sending many of these prisoners into France.

When the big fighting with at least 3,000,000 men engaged begins, the number of prisoners probably will run into vast and embarrassing totals on both sides.

There will be exchanges of prisoners but these are not always easy to arrange. Another difficulty is expected in the matter of the commissariat for the large armies. The Germans are now confronted with this gigantic task.

No more knives, razors, scissors or files with their blood-poison dangers. Try "GETS-IT" for that corn, callus, wart or bunion.
