SOCIETY

SOCIAL NEWS SHOULD BE PHONED BY 10 A. M. EACH DAY

A pre-season social meeting of the Current Literature Club was held yesterday afternoon at the home of the president, Mrs. James Johns, Sr., on Jackson street. It was the "President's Day" meeting and was much enjoyed especially the "Over the Teacup" feature in which the different members related their most interesting experiences of the summer. During the afternoon, Mrs. James A. Fee, in a very interesting way, gave a synopsis of the work which the club will do during the coming year. The subject for the season's study is "Modern American Literature and World Problems" a subject that will prove highly instructive as well as extremely interesting. Other numbers on the short program yesterday was a reading from Booth Tarkington's "Penrod" by Mrs. John F. Robinson and a charming vocal selection "The Flower Message," (Ellen Wright) by Mrs. Carl Power. The hostess served delicious refreshments following the program.

Miss Ruth Bybee entertained a number of her young friends at her home on Bush street last evening. Games were played until a late hour when light refreshments were served. Pansy Bybee and Jeanette Jack were the guests. The guests included Alberta McMonroe, Marjorie McMonroe, Daphne Daubner, Iva Beaman, Mabel Beaman, Alma Kirkly, Frances Rogers, Merle Jack, Emma Gordon, Helen La Fontaine, Edwin Kirkly, Lloyd McRae, Otto Bronson, Kenneth Cooper, Glenn Despain, Buford Bybee, Gilbert Struve and Clayton Rogers.

On Thursday evening a surprise party was given Miss Myrell Parlett at her home on Madison street and a very enjoyable evening was spent at games. A feature of the evening was the vocal solo by Miss Lois Curl with Miss Parlett accompanying. At 10 o'clock supper was served in the dining room which was beautifully decorated in autumn leaves. Red candles cast a glow over the table at each end of which ribboned candy of various colors was piled high. The supper was served in four courses. The guests at the party were the Misses Lois Curl, Eileen Bowling, Fay Duff, Alta Mentzer, Myrell Parlett, Kathleen McPaul and Meta Nell and the Messrs Leland Mentzer, Irvin Mann, Russell Holder, Deylene Waters, Cecil Curl, Charlie Russell and Russell Parlett. The guests presented Miss Parlett with a beautiful pendant and a Round-up souvenir spoon.

An open-air band concert by the Round-up band was announced this morning for tomorrow afternoon on the Court house lawn.

Signaling the beginning of the winter season of social activity is the organization of the "U and I Club" which will give a series of dancing parties at intervals of two weeks during the winter. Invitations are now being sent out and they are accompanied by a "salutatory" which announces that a number of young men have banded themselves together to supply a want much felt in the city, namely "more of the good, old-time dancing parties, lively yet refined," which contribute toward making the winter evenings more enjoyable. Old dances as well as new will be danced and those not acquainted with the new steps will be given lessons. The first dance will be given next Friday evening in the Moose Hall and every other Friday evening will see a similar event.

For the pleasure of a number of out-of-town ladies who are guests in the city, Mrs. Frank E. Boyden entertained charmingly, though informally, at her beautiful Lewis street home yesterday afternoon. The honor guests included Mrs. Oaks of Vale and Miss Hazel Reed of Portland, guests of Mrs. Wilson D. McNary, Mrs. E. R. Swinburne and Miss Faye Bartholomew of Portland, guests of Mrs. Sam R. Thompson, Mrs. Robert Townsend of Portland, a guest of Mrs. Willard Bond, and Miss Louise Gray of Portland, guest of Mrs. George Hartman, Jr.

Home Hints and Recipes

The Latest Fashion Notes.
One of the things we are returning to is the lace overskirt, with wide hanging sleeves, reaching just to the hips. It is a fashion that appeals to the matron and can be transformed by discreet modifications into something quite different.

Lace is freely used to trim; it is generally of the rather coarse and firm variety, such as cluny or maltese especially when ruffing is the material of the gown.

Short skirts make stockings very much in evidence, and they have given the manufacturers a chance to produce some fantastically printed stockings.

The all black frock with an artistic dash of color promises to be fashionable this winter.

Paris has designed a new blouse in case effect. It is a combination of blouse and bolero.

Strange as it seems, black and white is again the favorite combination.

The short shoulder cape appears on some of the new traveling mantles, called manteaux artistiques.

The new petticoats to wear with the new skirts are flounced. The pretty toques and the sailor shapes will lead in millinery.

The newest skirts are short and "slitless."

Many of the new suits and coats have decided, close fitting lines. Stripes used crosswise on a skirt are the newest thing.

It is said that petticoats are getting wider over the hips.

Health and Beauty.
A harmless breath purifier may be made at home. For charcoal tablets, which are among the best, take an ounce of saccharine, three ounces of unsweetened chocolate, one half dram powdered vanilla and three ounces powdered charcoal, with enough gum arabic mucilage to make a stiff paste. Roll out a half inch thick and cut into small squares or cut out with a thimble. Let dry and put into a box to keep. Take one just before and one just after each meal.

Hard water ruins the hair, leaving it sticky, and in time takes out all the gloss. If hard water must be used when shampooing, beat an egg well into it, and wash with this, then rinse well and dry. Softening the water with borax or ammonia is bad for the hair.

Brushing the hair once a day is essential if the rule of cleanliness is to be observed. Brush the hair, after all tangles have been removed, steadily from the roots down to the very ends. By all means have the brush perfectly clean.

It is said that the hands may be speedily whitened by rubbing them well for three nights successively with sweet almond oil and then dusting over them as much fine chalk as they will retain.

For a sore throat this is a fine gargle: One glass of hot water, one teaspoonful of soda, three drops of carbolic acid. Gargle once every hour. It will give relief.

LARGE BALD PATCH ON GIRL'S HEAD

Covered with Tiny Blisters. Itched and Never Rested. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Healed.

Loumont, Colo.—"About one year ago our little girl was bothered greatly with a bald hair patch on her head. Her beautiful hair got dry and dandruff and fell in all directions. One morning I noticed a large bald patch on her head, larger than a dollar, covered with tiny blisters surrounded with an angry red ring. They finally began running. They itched and she never rested at night. It was pronounced a bad case of eczema. I was given a prescription which I continued to use till my baby's head was entirely covered with sores and she had lost all her hair. She was compelled to wear a silk cap and I thought she was disgraced for life. A visitor in our neighborhood recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used the Ointment at night and gave her a shampoo in the morning with the Cuticura Soap. In less than three months my girl was entirely healed." (Signed) Mrs. G. E. Dill, Apr. 8, 1914.

Baby of Future is Considered

Much thought has been given in late years to the subject of maternity. In the cities there are maternity hospitals equipped with modern methods. But most women prefer their own homes and in the towns and villages must prefer them. And since this is true we know "Mother's Friend" and the broader knowledge of them should have a helpful influence upon babies of the future. In a little book for such women these points are more thoroughly brought out and a copy will be mailed to anyone who will send us the name and address. "Mother's Friend" is sold in all drug stores and highly recommended for its timely usefulness, its safety and the real help it affords. Ask for it at the store and write us for the book. SCIENCE NOTES.
The original Kaiser Wilhelm canal was begun only twenty-seven years ago and was finished nineteen years ago; nevertheless, although it was supposed to have been built large enough to accommodate the ships of the future for a long period of years, it was soon found that it must be greatly enlarged to keep pace with the increase in the size of the ships, particularly those of the navy. The locks of the old canal were 145 meters long, 23 meters broad and 9 meters deep; the new locks are 230 meters long, 45 meters broad and 14 meters deep. They will have a water content of 207,800 cubic meters, against a content of 124,711 cubic meters for the Panama locks. The latter are 263 meters in length.

One of the most troublesome difficulties experienced in the maintenance ance of railway tracks is the tendency of the rails to creep in one direction. Creeping is due to wave action induced in the rail by the passage of the heavily loaded wheels. It is much worse on tracks in which the travel is all in one direction, the creep being in the direction of the traffic. Much attention is being directed today to the arresting of this movement, and several forms of very efficient anticreepers are upon the market. They consist, usually of an inexpensive form of clip with end jaws which engage the base of the rail the clips projecting below the base and fetching up against the adjoining ties, thereby locking the rail to the roadbed.

Opening of the Cape Cod canal enables all vessels as far south as Charleston, S. C., to save seventy miles of distance going to and from Boston. Translated into other terms, this means that the average delay for the round trip yearly for barges and schooners on the outside route is nearly four days, which is equivalent to a pecuniary loss of 10 cents a ton on the 7,000,000 tons of coal and on the large amount of lumber carried by these craft. The total amount of coal and lumber carried by steamers is 4,500,000 tons annually and the same amount a ton will be saved these boats in using the canal.

GOOD POINTS OF NAPOLEON III

(New York Herald.)
At the close of the Franco-Prussian war Louis Napoleon was the most thoroughly discredited man in all Europe, especially in France, where he was regarded as responsible for his country's ruinous defeat. The evil that he did lived after him in the memory of the nation, but all the good was not interred with his bones. Today the nation that he ruled for nearly a score of years is reaping the benefits of its alliance with England.

When the second empire was established it was generally believed that the emperor would pick a quarrel with England in order that Waterloo and St. Helena might be avenged. But, wiser than his generation, Napoleon III was no sooner on the throne than he began to cultivate the friendship of the nation that France had regarded as its natural enemy. He won the confidence and regard of Queen Victoria, paid a ceremonial visit in company with his empress and received her at the Tuilleries with the highest honors. This interchange of courtesies did much to cement the two peoples and also added materially to Napoleon's prestige among those European sovereigns who had regarded him as a mere adventurer whose reign was destined to be a short one.

The triple entente, now of supreme importance to the French nation, if not to the whole civilized world, may be traced directly to the diplomatic work of Louis Napoleon 60 years ago.

URGES U. S. TO JOIN IN WAR.

Hall Caine, the British author, who declares that the United States cannot remain neutral. "America cannot be neutral," he says. "It is not possible. It is not right. Standing for the sacred right of humanity, as it does, America cannot be passive in the face of the outrages Germany has committed in the war. What is being done to women and children is being done in obedience to the kaiser's command. Let there be no mistake about it. 'Whoever falls into your hands is into your hands delivered.'"

LUXURY.

"These Bullions simply roll in wealth."
"Don't they—and say, did you ever see Mrs. Bullion's set of state teeth?"
"State teeth?"
"Yes—the ones she wears at breakfasts and dinners, they're made of diamonds, rubies, pearls, sapphires and emeralds in succession. Why one of her smiles is worth $38,000."

The Pacific Coast Condensed Milk Co. will immediately proceed to enlarge its Hillsboro plant to meet the demands of the constantly increasing offerings of milk. The new building will be of concrete 140x140 and when completed will give the local plant a capacity of 200,000 pounds a day.
