

ITCHING BURNING SALT RHEUM

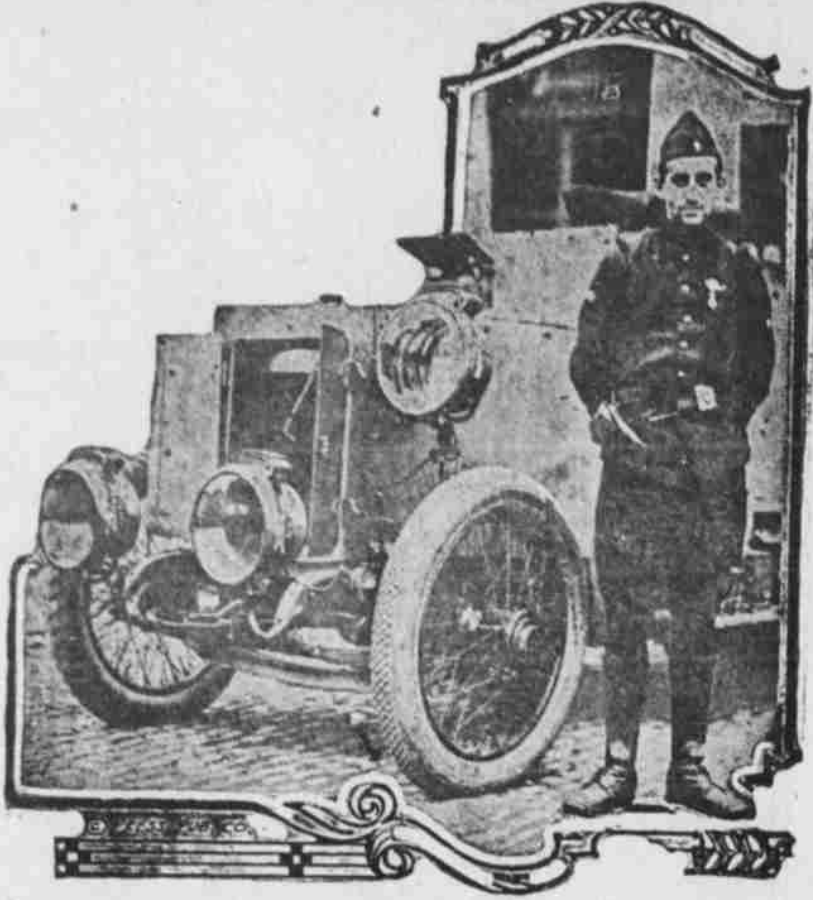

Started With Pimples. Would Break and Spread. Covered Limb From Hip to Ankle. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Entirely Well Without a Scar.

Frankford, Me., Oct. 7.—My salt rheum started with little white pimples. When I scratched they would burn and itch and later on they would fill up, break and spread and get red all around. It came on my thigh. When the pimples began just enough fluid ran out to form scales. It seemed to enlarge the sores and they felt like saw-tooth when my clothing rubbed over them. I underwent a treatment for quite a while but I got no relief. In fact I got worse. I was getting so that it troubled me very much, as it got so I hated to move my limb for fear to crack open the sores which covered my left limb from my hip to my ankle. The sores were from the size of a pea to the size of a silver dollar.

"I turned to the advertisements in the papers and Cuticura Soap and Ointment took my eye. So I got a box of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. The very first treatment gave me ease and from then on with every treatment I could see a change. Four weeks from the time I started with the Cuticura Soap and Ointment I was entirely well without a scar." (Signed) F. L. Layton, Apr. 30, 1914.

AMERICAN A HERO OF THE BELGIANS

George Straus, son of George Straus of New York City, is an American who has been heard from in the great war. This photograph shows him wearing the cross of the Order of Leopold, which King Albert of Belgium himself pinned on the American's breast. Straus, who has been the chauffeur of an armored motor car shown in the picture, led a daring raid into the German lines to blow up a bridge. Several Belgian officers who were also engaged in the action, were killed and the Prince de Ligne was wounded. But Straus and his party got away safely after accomplishing their work. King Albert was quick to reward the action.

Klaw and Erlanger present "Classmates" a four-part story of West Point and the South American jungle. Thomas Jefferson, Gertrude Robinson, Blanche Sweet and Lionel Barrymore are featured.

Synopsis—Bert Stafford is in love with his mother's ward, Sylvia Randolph, who does not reciprocate his feelings as she is in love with Duncan Irving, son of Old Irving, the storekeeper of Pine Level, S. C. Duncan is a manly chap, but his father is a drunkard. Mrs. Stafford has a daughter, Phyllis, but Bert is her favorite. Sylvia's preference for Duncan makes Bert jealous and he picks a quarrel.
Duncan enters West Point and after two years is promoted. When Mrs. Stafford hears of Duncan's success she decided to send Bert to West Point. A year later Mrs. Stafford, Sylvia and Phyllis are invited to the annual West Point dance. Duncan is now a "first class man" while Bert is a "plebe." Bert resents taking orders from Duncan or Duncan's friend, Dumble.

Dumble falls in love with Phyllis. Duncan's father visits West Point. Bert asks Sylvia to marry him, but she does not give him an answer. After seeing Sylvia talking to Duncan, Bert decides to get old man Duncan drunk and humiliates Duncan. Duncan demands an apology and when Bert refuses knocks him down and Bert is picked up blind and Duncan and his friends, Dumble, Clay and Lindsey are court-martialed and suspended.

The Staffords move to New York and Bert recovers his eyesight. He proposes and Sylvia, moved to pity, consents. They quarrel and Bert accepts an offer to go to South America. Duncan goes to Washington to induce the president to lift the suspension of his friends. This he agrees to do if Mrs. Stafford will sign the petition, which she refuses to do. Nothing is heard of Bert and Mrs. Stafford thinks he is dead. Duncan and his friends agreed to loan an expedition in search of him, whereupon Mrs. Stafford agrees to sign the petition. Phyllis agrees to marry Dumble if they find Bert. Sylvia gives Duncan a message to Bert which discloses to him her engagement to Bert.

The relief party reaches South America. Bert is found in a half-crazed condition. He curses Duncan for not arriving sooner.
Back in New York, Bert soon recovers. Dumble, Clay and Lindsey receive their commissions. Dumble cannot understand why Duncan does not receive his. Preparations are made for the wedding of Dumble and Phyllis. Sylvia secures Duncan's commission for him.
Duncan and Bert quarrel. Sylvia overhears the remarks and sides with Duncan. At the wedding of Dumble and Phyllis the engagement of Sylvia and Duncan is announced.

The story in brief of "The Man on the Box."
"Lieutenant Bob Wharburton, a fancy free adventuresome spirit, is wounded during an encounter with the Indians and taken to the home of Col. Annesley for medical treatment.
Recovering, Bob finds that his service in the army has expired and he is flat broke. However, he is rich in romance and becomes fascinated by the colonel's daughter, Betty. Betty, not knowing who Bob is, offers him a position as coachman, which he accepts. Many and varied are Bob's experiences as "The Man on the Box."
Becoming implicated in a plot to defraud the United States government of important plans, he thwarts the attempts of a Russian count and saves important plans.
Betty, while visiting Bob's sister, who is a dear friend, learns from Bob's photograph, who he is, but allows him to continue as coachman.
Betty's father loses his money; then Bob discloses his identity and admits he is the possessor of a large fortune in his own right; however, Betty's and Bob's romance is one of pure love and after a series of intrigues, plans and counter-plans, all of which the "Man on the Box" thus the couple are married and thus live happily ever after."

AUTO/STREET CARS AT BAKER BEING PLANNED

BUSINESS MEN HAVE TAKEN UP SUGGESTION AND MAY CARRY IT OUT.

BAKER, Ore., Oct. 7.—The proposal to establish in Baker an auto bus street car system was taken up before a special meeting of the Commercial club last evening. The members were pleased with the presentation of the proposal and President Welch appointed a committee consisting of E. P. Vorus, Chauncey Kirkpatrick, Harry Foreman and H. I. Skiles to investigate and report at the regular meeting of the club which will be held tomorrow night.
The proposal as made was for the merchants and business men to buy one auto bus at a cost of $5000 and to have it run 16 hours a day from South Baker to West Baker, taking in the theaters and other points of attraction at night and to make special trips to the athletic grounds when ball games are held. Five cent fares would be the order. The proposed buses have the appearance of street cars of the electric type.
It is proposed that only one bus be bought at this time at the most and if this proves financially a success to put on a second bus.

German Exports Decline

BERLIN, Oct. 7.—Exports for the third quarter of 1914 from the district of the American consul-general in Berlin amount to $3,525,897, as against $4,028,401 for the corresponding period of 1913.

KEEP WITHYCOMBE, BOOTH, M'ARTHUR HOME, SAYS LABOR

CANDIDATES OPPOSED TO POLITICAL AIMS OF LABORING MEN.

Entitled to No Support from Organized Workers and Records Are Pointed to to Substantiate Assertions—Labor Press Vigorously Fights Their Election.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 7.—Declaring that "those candidates whose public careers have shown them to be opposed to every political principle cherished by labor can well be opposed vigorously" by organized labor, the Portland Labor Press, which is the official publication of the Central Labor Council of Portland and vicinity and of the Oregon State Federation of Labor, publishes this week an article telling why organized labor should oppose the candidacies of R. A. Booth for United States senator, Dr. James Withycombe for governor and C. N. McArthur for congressman.
It says these men are entitled to no support from labor, and points to their records for proof. The Labor Press says:
Booth for senator, McArthur for representative, and Withycombe for governor, are entitled to no support from labor. All are entitled to its most vigorous opposition.
It is in keeping with a well known labor slogan to "oppose and defeat" the enemies of labor and of progress, and all enemies of labor are enemies of progress.
Records Are Barred.
It is sometimes difficult for a publication like the Labor Press to actively support any certain candidate for an important office when another candidate has an approximately equal following among the voters represented by it. But those candidates whose public careers have shown them to be opposed to every political principle cherished by labor can well be opposed vigorously.
Booth's career in the Oregon senate was always opposed to the progressive laws which labor has always supported and by which labor has been greatly benefited. He opposed the direct primary. He favored the constitutional convention to kill the initiative and referendum. He supported to the last ditch a measure to kill Statement No. 1 and thereby prevent election of senators by the people. And now he asks the people to elect him who would not himself trust them with the election of senators.
McArthur is Flayed.
McArthur's well-known opposition to various laws that were presented by organized labor to the legislature of which he was a member, is enough to insure that no union man will cast his vote for him. His advocacy of the infamous Brooke-Bear bill which sought to kill Statement No. 1 is perhaps the worst blot on his public career, and together with his connection with the Burns detective agency makes him to us impossible.
Withycombe favors admission of Chinese to compete with Americans in the labor market. He would have admitted them to clear land, he says, but after that, with increasing numbers of them on our hands, what? He leaves the subject there, and thus shows clearly the extent of his capability to deal with vital industrial problems. He favors the assembly and harmonious relations with the legislature. Labor would abolish the senate as more than useless, and have the remaining branch understand that very much of its past career for many years warranted the most careful scrutiny and drastic handling by the governor.
Called Standpatters.
In a word, Booth, McArthur and Withycombe all represent the same reactionary, standpat, big business interests that have been generally and regularly rejected by Oregon voters for many years. And Oregon's splendid handling of such candidates has won the admiration of the country.

In 1910, every candidate in Multnomah county who was not clearly on record in favor of Statement No. 1 was defeated. Not one who opposed it was left to tell the story. Have the people forgotten so soon? Is it good politics or good business to choose a man to execute Oregon's laws and men to represent Oregon in the making of laws, whose entire public careers and whose every political principle has been repudiated again and again by the voters of Oregon? The Labor Press believes the people of Oregon are not yet ready for this.

BUSINESS IS BOOMING ON THE PACIFIC COAST

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—That Pacific coast business has just passed safely through a somewhat trying crisis and has settled to a sane, sound and gratifying healthy plane, with splendid promises of steady improvement, is the opinion here of I. O. Rhodes, general purchasing agent for the Southern Pacific railway. Rhodes has just returned from an extended trip of the coast. He purchased for $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 of supplies each year for his company from various points and from nearly 1,000 firms.
"The era of extravagance and waste is now a thing of the past," said Rhodes here. "A reaction has set in, and people are now getting down to sound and economical living. I believe the hard times were due largely to the unduly large profits which had been made during the period preceding. Profits are not so large now, but goods are selling more rapidly."
"The country trade is growing stronger. It is stronger than the trade in the city. People are not buying so many luxuries now but they are buying the things they need. Where before a woman would pay $75 for a hat, she now pays $15 and seems perfectly satisfied. In the hotels the high-priced rooms are not being taken, but the hotel register shows that the number of patrons is just as large if not larger, than before. Tailors are selling less expensive clothes, shoe men are selling cheaper priced shoes and dry goods stores are selling lower-priced goods. The complaints of hard times are now coming chiefly from those business concerns that are dealing in luxuries. The man who is really producing something finds a ready market for his product."

Ex-Wife Gets $10 in Will

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—"Ten dollars to my cousin, Margaret A. Walsh, formerly my wife," is a bequest of the will of Edward J. Walsh, filed at Boston. The will also leaves $10 to my son, Edward Macdonald Walsh, whom I have not seen since 1898, nor have I had the slightest clew to his whereabouts."
The will left $500 to the Boston Lake poor children, and the residue of the estate to be equally divided among the Humane society, the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to children house of the Angel Guardian children's hospital, St. James church, Harrison avenue and to the French Roman Catholic church on Isabella street. The money left to the churches is for distribution among the poor of the respective parishes.

BUILD UP HORSE HERD GRADING ON ONE LINE

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Ore., Oct. 6.—"The men who have made a success of horse breeding are those who have picked out one type and one breed and kept up improvement along the one line," is the viewpoint of Prof. Carl W. Kennedy, the new horse man at O. A. C. "The stallions that were used were of the same breed and always pure bred and sound.
"Few men are able to sell all of their poor horses and replace them all at once with good ones, but there are few localities in the state where there are not sound-pure, bred, licensed stallions that will greatly improve this work stock. A continual use of these good stallions is always making for improvement. A use of poor stallions or stallions of different breeds is not grading stuff up but is generally holding it at a standstill or grading it down. The economic, or money view point of live stock raising, demands that the horses be improved. The Oregon Agricultural College is advocating that the farmers and ranchmen choose the breed of horses they prefer and then breed to a sound, licensed pure bred stallion that will improve their stock consistently."

Crush English!—Kaiser.

LONDON, Oct. 6.—The Times says that it is able to give from a thorough trustworthy source the text of an order issued by Emperor William to his army on August 10. It follows:
"It is my royal and imperial command that you concentrate your energies for the immediate present upon the single purpose, and that is that you address all your skill and all the valor of my soldiers to exterminate first the treacherous English and walk over General French's contemptible little army."

Max Kuhl Has Resigned.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 7.—Max Kuhl has resigned as president of the police commission and Mayor Rolph has offered the post to Manager James Woods of the St. Francis hotel, who said he would take it if he could arrange his affairs.

IF CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH AND SICK

LOOK, MOTHER! IF TONGUE IS COATED GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely.
A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is, they become tightly clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach aches, then your little one becomes cross, half sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep, or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you will have a well, playful child again.
Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.
Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.

Submarine Is Shaughaled.
LONDON, Oct. 6.—A dispatch to the Central News from Rome says "A submarine boat which had just been completed in a private shipyard near Spezia, on the Gulf of Spezia, has disappeared and it is said a retired naval lieutenant, Angelo Bellini, who was in charge of her, has taken the vessel to some unknown destination.

"The submarine was out for trial in the Gulf of Spezia and when she did not return a torpedo boat was sent to search for her. Lieutenant Bellini, in a letter to the firm that constructed the boat, said he would furnish an explanation for the disappearance of the craft. He added that the crew of the submarine was ignorant of his plans."
