WATER SITES OF MUCH VALUE LYING IDLE

FOREST SUPERVISOR DECLARES CONSIDERABLE POWER BE- ING WASTED.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Nov. 18.—That four of the finest water power sites to be found in the Pacific northwest are lying idle in the territory tributary to the city of Walla Walla, and within a two hour's automobile ride, was the statement made by Forest Supervisor J. M. Schmitz, this morning. According to Mr. Schmitz, the sites all have been filed upon in the past but at the present time are idle and awaiting the first comer.

The first, and most valuable, of these sites is on the Walla Walla river, just above the present plant of the Pacific Power & Light company. At this place, by fluming for a distance of ten miles, it is possible to obtain a fall of 1000 feet, which would develop horsepower sufficient to satisfy the needs of the entire inland empire country. The forest supervisor estimates that this site could be utilized for a sum not exceeding $100,000. This site was obtained by permit from the federal authorities by the Oregon Washington Light & Power company, but their permit was cancelled a year ago.

The second site is on the Tukannon river near Dayton, and it is thought that between $20,000 and $40,000 would be sufficient to develop 1000 horsepower. The site until recently was in the hands of the Columbia Light and Power company of Dayton, but it also has reverted to the government on account of non-development.

The third site is on the Umatilla river near Wenaha springs. At this point on the Umatilla, says Mr. Schmitz, power could be gained by a short flume along the hillside, and the fall of the stream is between 75 and 100 feet in the mile. Here 1000 horsepower could be produced at a maximum cost of $35,000. This site was also in the hands of a company, but has been in control of the government for the past four or five years.

The fourth site is on Mill creek, and is the same that was considered some time ago for a municipal power plant. The forest officer deems this point one of the most expensive to develop, and by the time a dam has been constructed sufficiently strong to hold the waters of Mill creek in check, and a power plant erected a million dollars would have to be invested. Although this point is the nearest of the four, it is considered the least desirable for development, on account of the almost prohibitive expense.

With the exception of the latter site all have been in the hands of companies which depended almost entirely upon eastern capital for development, and as a result they reverted to the government. This does not alter the fact that on any one of the sites plants could be erected which would produce cheap power, and the federal government, through Forest Supervisor Schmitz, stands ready to encourage any reliable individual or corporate body of men in the development of sites. The permit will be practically free, and in addition the regulations governing national forests make provisions for the granting of building material adjacent to the sites free of charge.

O. A. C. AND U. OF S. C. WILL PLAY

TACOMA, Wash., Nov. 17.—Arrangements for a football game in the local high school stadium, the proceeds to be devoted to the relief of the Belgian sufferers, were practically completed according to Secretary Martin of the Commercial club. Plans call for the game to be played on Thanksgiving day, the opposing teams to be the Oregon Agricultural college and the University of Southern California. While negotiations have not been definitely closed, Martin declared both teams had expressed a willingness to come to Tacoma and that he had little doubt that the game would be played.

SURPRISES MANY IN PENDLETON

The QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ika, the remedy which became famous by curing appendicitis, is surprising Pendleton people. Many have found that this simple remedy drains so much foul matter from the system that a SINGLE DOSE relieves constipation, sour stomach and gas on the stomach almost IMMEDIATELY. Adler-ika is the most thorough bowel cleanser ever sold. Tallman & Co., druggists—Adv.

Fuel Short in Belgium, AMSTERDAM, Nov. 18.—The question of a fuel supply in Belgium is becoming a desperate one. The German authorities have given permission to the Belgians to work the coal mines but horses and machinery which to operate them are lacking. Permission also has been granted to the poor to cut wood, but transportation facilities are so thoroughly disorganized that it is almost impossible to distribute it.

The report that the Germans had issued a proclamation threatening to withdraw their permission for the distribution of supplies by relief agencies if the Belgians did not return to work was baseless, although the military authorities continue to urge that the industrial life of the nation be resumed.

In their efforts to cut off communication between Holland and Belgium the Germans are taking strong measures to prevent automobiles from crossing the borders. Travelers still are permitted, however, to cross by trains.

AMERICAN SPORTSDOM BOOMS DESPITE WAR

(By Hal Sheridan, written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—War, closing of stock exchanges and business complaints apparently can't hurt American sports. The world's series grabbed off a share of first pages from the war news, football has gone on with a whoop and every other branch of sport is booming.

Among the winter sports, hockey and basketball teams are now tuning up and a big year is promised throughout the country. Boxing is going strong in New York and other towns where the limited round bouts are staged regularly. Preparations are already being made for the indoor track season, and an eye is being kept out for the outdoor work in the spring.

The Panama-Pacific Exposition managers are banking on their athletic events to turn out a complete success. They have a schedule which carries through from February to October and more events are to be added.

PARCEL POST PACKAGES CAN BE SENT TO AUSTRIA

P. A. makes men smoke hungry

Just you get a whiff of "the national joy smoke" and it's dollars to doughnuts you beat it 'cross lots to the nearest store that sells tobacco—and stock up! The flavor and aroma of Prince Albert has got 'em all backed off the boards. It sure will hit the spot with you. Get the drift of that?

PRINCE ALBERT

just does all that we say it will do. It can't bite your tongue and it can't parch your throat. All this is because P. A. is made by a patented process that cuts out the bite! Why, this process has simply revolutionized smoking tobacco.

Prince Albert rolls up the bulliest makin's cigarette you or any other man ever smoked. It puts the jolt of joy right into your system.

You can just do "makin's" sunrise to sunset and have a lot of fun. Why, P. A. in a cigarette is absolutely a revelation. You go to it!

Buy Prince Albert everywhere; in the tippy red bags, 5c; tidy red tins, 10c; also in pound and half-pound tins.

THIS YOUNG BELGIAN HAD GOOD TRAINING

RUNNING FROM GERMANS PUT HIM IN CONDITION FOR RACES.

(By Hal Sheridan, written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Here's a real war item. Victor Linart, a Belgian entered in the six-day bicycle race here got in training for the event by running from the Germans. Linart admits that he won the now famous dash from Antwerp when the Germans captured the city, but was the first to reach the famous coast resort.

Linart is the middle distance champion of Belgium. After reaching Ostend ahead of all the other starters, Linart went to Folkestone, England, where he was a refugee. A German shell wrecked his home during the bombardment of Antwerp and he lost his racing outfit. This did not interfere with his speed in reaching Ostend, however, and Floyd McFarland, managing the six-day race had new tops waiting for him here. In a letter to McFarland while at Folkestone, Linart said:

"I rode my wheel from Antwerp to Ostend, and it was a hard ride. I was one of the last to leave Antwerp and the first to arrive in Ostend. Making wide detours to escape the awful congestion on the main highway tripled the distance, and riding at top speed all the time put me in fine shape."

And they put the kibosh on boxing in California! That means the easy game of hippodrome through ten rounds in New York or some other eastern city and laying for a "fight on the coast" won't be a profitable pastime in the future. Taking California off the pugilistic map is a real body blow to the fight game. More champions have been made and unmade in rings pitched in that state than in any other in the union. Especially have the big lightweight fights blossomed there. Henceforth it will take considerable looking around to find a location for long distance fights with any reasonable assurance of a gate, especially with the class of fighters now cluttering up the horizon.

The change in administration is not expected to have an effect on the fight game in New York. Operating under the Frawley law fight clubs have prospered here and the promoters do not believe they will be disturbed. Charles J. Harvey, secretary of the state Athletic Commission, declares the game was never in a healthier state in New York than at present. Harvey was not surprised at the turn taken by affairs in California. He said Jim Coffroth tipped him a year and a half ago that things were about to happen.

Girl Saves Man; Weds.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—With his bride of three weeks, M. C. S. Heyerman a San Francisco architect, arrived recently on the Rochambeau, of the French line, from Havre, after a unique war experience.

He was arrested three times, he said, and was twice condemned to death, all of which merely led up to the romance that gave him Miss Florence Lacava for his bride.

"I was in Tarascon, a little town in France," said he. "The war had begun and I had had nothing to eat for two days. I saw some pears on a tree near the railway station and climbed the tree. A squad of soldiers ordered me down, concluded I was a German spy, held a court martial on the spot and sentenced me to die. Fortunately, as we were on the way to the firing squad we met a higher officer, who examined my papers and set me free.

"Later I was arrested in Germany as a British spy, but managed to prove I was an American citizen. Getting back into France, I was arrested for the third time and again sentenced to death. I finally persuaded the officials to send me to Paris. As I was being marched through Paris I saw Miss Lacava, who used to go to the same school I did in Belvedere, across from San Francisco. We recognized each other and it was due to her efforts that I was
