Cougars Slay Many Deer.
GOLD HILL, Ore., Jan. 21.—With in a radius of several miles two California hunters who are passing the winter on Upper Evans creek in pursuit of big game, found the remains of 13 deer, evidently killed by cougars. They procured the pelts of four animals killed so far is $100.

Apparently lurking wolves had scented the fresh kill and driven the cougar from a hard-won meal. State Game Warden William L. Finley has written to District Warden Sam L. Sandry, highly commending the work of the cougar hunters and requesting that they be given every courtesy and assistance from members of the local game protective force.

Wapato Winter Coldest.

WAPATO, Wash., Jan. 21.—The cold weather experienced on the reservation this winter is the worst in the memory of the oldest inhabitant. Farmers and ice dealers already have harvested their summer supply, and snow has been ample for excellent sleighing for several weeks. During the month of December, before the snow came, the zero mark was reached several times. The cold and snow have proven a boon to the hay man, with an increased demand. Thousands of sheep and cattle are wintering here this year, and it is stated that the entire crop of 1914 hay will be used up before the new crop comes on.

Olson to Aid Wounded.

MONTREAL, Quebec, Jan. 21.—Sir William Osler, rector professor at Oxford, England, has offered his services to aid the McGill base hospital corps, which, with students and professors from the McGill and from local hospitals, will leave for the war in the spring. Sir William made his offer in a letter to Dean Birkett, of McGill University, and said he would be pleased to join the unit as supernumerary colonel and as assistant to the doctor in charge.

Baker Oats Up 5 Cents.

BAKER, Ore., Jan. 21.—Oats continued the upward climb, advancing to $1.60 a hundred weight, an advance of 5 cents over Saturday's quotations. Many farmers are holding large quantities of oats but there is little grain being sold at the present prices. Farmers in the Wingville section, especially have large quantities of oats still unsold. Barley remained stationary at $26 to $27 a ton, with almost none being sold. The stock of grain now held is virtually all needed for feeding hogs, although ranchers, despairing at the high prices of grain, are selling many more hogs than usual. The result will be a sudden decline in the price of hogs. Some farmers are killing their hogs and curing them for bacon, intending to hold for better prices. Wheat remained at $1.25 a bushel yesterday. There is hardly enough grain left in the country for seeding purposes and some of the farmers are now buying wheat to plant in the spring.

Chance Given Erring Wife.

BAKER, Ore., Jan. 21.—Mrs. Leona Green and L. C. Bennett, who came here recently from Portland, only to be arrested at the instance of F. F. Green, husband of Mrs. Green on a serious charge, were released from the county jail on their own recognizance when the husband, who is negotiating for a reconciliation with his wife, agreed to drop proceedings for the time being. The district attorney refused to prosecute Bennett without also prosecuting Mrs. Green. The action against the couple whose testimony showed had been living together as man and wife, was not dismissed, but in the event that the reconciliation proves to be permanent no further action will be taken.

9000 Turks Found Frozen.

PETROGRAD, Jan. 21.—A correspondent with the Russian army that defeated the Eleventh Turkish corps in the Kara-Urgan region, writing of the terrible plight of the enemy, says: "Amid the snow storms, which obliterated every feature of the roads, the Russians pressed relentlessly on their beaten foe, in one stretch of woods the Russian found the bodies of 9000 Turks who had frozen to death. "It is rumored that the Turks, despairing of holding Erzerum, are removing new German artillery recently mounted there."

Fall on Ice Breaks Woman's Leg.

HOOD RIVER, Ore., Jan. 21.—Mrs. C. A. Messenger sustained a broken leg in a fall on a sheet of ice that covered the walk. A drizzle falling in the heights portion of the city has frozen and all pavements and sidewalks are dangerous. Several minor injuries have been reported. The temperature in the lower city, however, has not reached the freezing point.

TRANSLATIONS FOR DOCTORS' SCRIBBLES

SALEM, Ore., Jan. 21.—Doctors' prescriptions hereafter will have to be written in such legible form as to be read by the person who is sick as well as by the druggist, if a bill presented by Representative Hunt of Clackamas county becomes a law. The bill stipulates that in addition to the scientific names of the drugs called for, their equivalent in English shall be added. Three copies of prescriptions must be made, one to be kept by the doctor, one by the patient and one by the druggist. Violation of the proposed law is punishable by a fine of from $10 to $30 and imprisonment from 10 to 30 days.

Baker Farmers Back Plan.

BAKER, Ore., Jan. 21.—Farmers of Baker county subscribed $500 to guarantee a fund for a Baker county exhibit at the Panama-Pacific exposition. The Baker county court refused to make this appropriation, Judge Messick declaring that the farmers of the county did not want to spend money for publicity purposes. A committee from the Baker Commercial club thereupon went out this week and obtained subscriptions of from $5 to $20 from individual farmers. In no case were the solicitors refused. Private donations had enabled the Commercial club to assemble the exhibit. The $500 will be Baker's share of a fund to keep eastern Oregon men at the exposition.

Woman Presides Over Senators.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 21.—Mrs. Francis Munda, of Yavapai county, the only woman ever elected to the senate of the Arizona legislature, presided over that body as chairman of the committee of the whole during consideration of a bill to amend the law relating to the fees and salaries of county officers. The senate recommended the passage of the bill.
