

EASY TO DARKEN YOUR GRAY HAIR

YOU CAN BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTRE WITH SAGE TEA AND SULPHUR.

When you darken your hair with Sage Tea and Sulphur, no one can tell, because it's done so naturally, so evenly. Preparing this mixture, though at home is messy and troublesome. For 50 cents you can buy at any drug store the ready-to-use tonic called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning all gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully darkened, glossy and luxuriant. You will also discover dandruff is gone and hair has stopped falling.

SHE IS "THE ONLY ONE" SAYS DARNELL

Ruth Soper Darnell. CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Since one of his three wives is suing him for divorce, the Rev. J. M. Darnell, the "marrying minister of Kenosha," declares that his last wife and the mother of his children is the only one of the three women he really loves. It is alleged that Darnell married three women within a period of two years, without divorcing any one of them.

Stories From the War Zone

BY H. M. SARLE. (United Press Staff Correspondent.) LONDON, Dec. 30.—(By Mail to New York.)—"Why doesn't someone go and help him?"

"Why not go yourself?" The sequel to the above question and answer in the trenches at Le Gheer, Franco-Belfian frontier, was that Drummer Spencer John Bent, 1st East Lancashire regiment, joined for the Victoria Cross.

The official account of the act of heroism for which the V. V. was awarded states that Bent also displayed remarkable presence of mind and took command of his platoon when the officers and platoon leaders had been shot down, but if it hadn't been for that sarcastic query, "Why not go yourself?" he might not have got the little bronze cross which is the ambition of every British soldier.

Bent, who is home, wounded, tells the story in a very matter of fact way. "We were, as usual, taking our hour turn alternatively, watching for the enemy, and I had smuggled down into our trench, and my platoon leader had gone to visit a post when someone passed the word down the line that the battalion was to retire. This was being done when I woke up. I started to follow them, when I remembered a German trumpet which I had found and had carried with me for some time.

"I did not want to lose it, so went back for it, chancing a bullet. When I got into the trench I saw someone just coming round the corner, and thinking it was a German, I waited for him till he had crawled up to me. I then poked my rifle into him and asked him who he was. It was Sergeant Walter, who told me that the retirement was a wrong order. I at once jumped out of the trench and ordered the men back. While I was doing this, an officer came up, and after I had told him what had happened he directed me to get the men back while he went after some others. We all got back safely into the trench and waited.

"In the early morning the Germans evidently thought we had left the trenches for after a bombardment they attacked. Our officers kept a sort of goose step, and in the meantime Lieutenant Dyer brought up a machine gun. When the Germans were about 400 yards off, the order was given to fire and they went down in hundreds, very few of them getting back to their own trenches.

"After breakfast, Private McNully went out of the trench and on returning was hit in the pit of the stomach. He fell, and the Germans were trying to hit him again; you could see the earth flying all around him. I said, 'Why doesn't someone go out and help him?' and got the reply, 'Why not go yourself?' I went. To make it more difficult for the Germans to hit me, I zigzagged towards him, along the ground. They did not snipe at me while I was advancing, but as soon as I got hold of McNully's shoulder something seemed to take my feet from under me, and I slipped down by him.

"This happened close to the walls of a ruined convent, and just as I fell several bullets struck the wall, fell several pieces of plaster against my side. I thought I was wounded and started to rub the blood away, as I thought, but fortunately the skin was only grazed. I felt it was the time to get out of it, and knowing it was impossible to stand up, I hooked my feet under McNully's arms and using my elbows, managed to drag myself and him back to the trenches, about twenty-five yards away. When I got him there I went for a doctor and got a bullet through the flesh of my right leg, and had to be taken to a hospital."

Tragic experiences of a survivor of a mined steamer were related when the steam trawler Remagia lapsed at Gimsby, a Swede named Nilsen, one of the crew of the Danish steamship Marie, which was blown up by a German mine in the North Sea.

After the disaster the crew escaped from the sinking ship in two lifeboats, seven in each. The captain's boat was picked up by the Wilson liner Juno. Nielsen was in the mate's boat, which in the darkness and rough sea became separated from the other boat. Though they had food, the bitter cold and the repeated drenchings by waves caused the men in the boat terrible sufferings.

On the second day one man went mad and jumped overboard, and later two others collapsed and were washed out of the boat. The same night a fourth and fifth man died, leaving Nielsen and the mate alone, and Nielsen was left tossing in a boat half full of water. At night he saw a trawler's lights, and shouted with all his strength, and fainted when he heard the fishermen's answering hail.

SPORTS

SPORT DOPE.

BY HAL SHERIDAN. (Written for the United Press.) NEW YORK, Jan. 25.—There will be few fresh faces in the chorus when John McGraw rolls up the asbestos on his opening performance of the season at the Polo grounds a few months hence. According to all the dope thus far gathered, the Giants will present about the same cast that was pushed out of the pennant chase by the Braves last season.

McGraw will lead a caravan of about 50 baseballers to Marlin, Tex., for spring training and there is the customary 1 out of 10 chance that he will pick a few winners from the green stuff. The general belief is, however, that excepting the locating of Hans Lobert at third, only one or two other chances will be made in the line-up.

The Giant pilot believes that shunting Lobert in on third plugs up one of the weakest spots in his machine, a weakness that he thinks put his team out of the world's championship series last fall. There is a possibility that Larry Doyle may be replaced by a youngster, unless he retrieves his batting eye and of course it will be McGraw's job to keep his eye working for real hitting timber.

With Al Demaree gone in the trade with the Phillies, and Rube Marquard making such noise about playing with the Brooklands, McGraw will have but three regulars at Marlin—Mathewson, Teareau and Frome. Though Matty's late campaigning indicated a tendency toward slipping, he is being counted upon to go through the season with a creditable if not brilliant performance.

Bill Ritter is one of the youngsters McGraw believes may get a regular job and while he is wintering in Cuba he will look over Palermo, the Cuban southpaw, who is touted as certain, of a regular job on the Giants' hurling corps.

The Giants, by the way, may pick up some of the loose change lying around El Paso, Tex., and Juarez, Mex. on the day before the Willard-Johnson fight. The Giants are scheduled to play an exhibition at Dallas on March 6, preceding the battle, but are giving serious consideration to a proposal for an exhibition game at El Paso, either with the Cleveland Naps, who will be at San Antonio, or with their own Yanigans.

CHICAGO WHEAT CLOSES HIGHER

(Saturday's Markets)

CHICAGO.—Local traders were mixed in their opinions of wheat at the outset today as judged by the fact that May had a dip to $1.43 1-4 and a rally to $1.44 7/8 in a few minutes. This action was followed by a bearish turn helped along by rumors of a possible move on the part of Hungary for peace. Timid holders sold out. Individual pit traders pressed the selling side. The Argentine news is anything but bearish. Western farmers are not selling any better than for days past. Late in the session there was considerable evidence of a revival of the export demand here and at the seaboard. As the market began to harden from the bottom there was little wheat to be had except by sharp bidding.

Early buying in corn carried prices up to 79 1-2c May and 80 1-4c July. An hour later it was popular to sell following the temporary break in wheat, holders selling out and attempting to replace their lines the last hour, when prices were advanced. Country offerings are limited. With a live domestic and export inquiry for corn and many of the outside markets overbidding Chicago in the country, prospects of Europe wanting large quantities to mix with high priced wheat flour, it is a bullish situation.

Temporary dip in oats to 56 1-8c for May and 57 7-8c for July was followed by a closing rally to 56 1-2c and 54 2-8c. Seaboard worked a lot of oats for export and 190,000 cash business here included some export. Winnipeg sent buying orders to this market.

MRS. WALLINGFORD GOT RICH TOO QUICK

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 25.—George Randolph Chester, originator of "Get-Rich-Quick Wallingford," has called it off. No longer will he give his wife all the gold coins that come into his possession. Not in San Francisco.

Mrs. Chester gave her husband the idea out of which he created Blackie Daw. Wallingford's assistant in the Chester stories. In payment the writer promised to give his wife all the gold coins he got. This worked out well in the east, where gold is never seen, but when he got here, where the yellow metal is freely used, he found it a costly proposition. He went to a hotel and had a large draft cashed and Mrs. Chester demanded the huge pile of gold pieces which the writer received in return. Then Chester quit.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contains Mercury as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists Price 75c per bottle. INSURANCE A CREDIT FACTOR

The relation of insurance to bank credits has become a lively subject in commercial banking. No prudent banker would extend large credit to a merchant whose stock of goods was not indemnified against possible loss by fire, notwithstanding the possibilities of loss are very remote. The chance is less than one in a hundred on any building, yet every person protects their property by fire insurance.
