

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

IF MIXED WITH SULPHUR IT DARKENS SO NATURALLY NOBODY CAN TELL.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair.

NO DEMAND IN CATTLE MARKET

PORTLAND, Ore.—While there was a fair run of cattle reported in the North Portland yards since yesterday's report, 10 loads from the interior are merely feeding here and are expected to go forward to the Carstens Packing company at Tacoma tonight.

There is an entire absence of regular demand for cattle in the local yards at this time. All of the big buyers have practically quit. They are holding a surplus at the present time and seemingly do not care to add to this at present in view of the very limited demand for the dressed product.

General cattle market range: Selected steers $7.60 @ 7.55; Good to prime 7.50 @ 7.55; Good to choice 6.50 @ 7.00; Ordinary to fair 5.75 @ 6.25; Best cows 6.80 @ 6.55; Good to prime 6.50 @ 6.55; Ordinary 5.55 @ 5.50; Selected calves 8.00 @ 8.25; Fancy bulls 6.50 @ 6.75; Ordinary 4.00 @ 4.25.

Hog Market is Holding. General condition in the swine trade at North Portland are showing practically no change. There was a fair run again in the yards over night but a large per cent of these were not of top quality.

Somewhat better feeling was shown for hogs at points east of the Rockies today, the general trade there recovering practically all of its recent loss.

General hog market range: Best light 6.75 @ 6.80; Medium light 6.40 @ 6.70; Good to heavy 6.40 @ 6.50; Rough and heavy 6.25; Stockers 5.50 @ 6.10.

Good Mutton May Rise. While there was practically no mutton with which to gauge the market at North Portland today, the general opinion of the trade was that prices would either hold at the extreme values now in effect or that an advance of 10c to 15c would be forced for extreme quality at an early date.

General mutton trade range: Old wethers 6.45; Best yearlings 6.50; Best ewes 5.50 @ 5.75; Best east mountain lambs 7.75 @ 7.80; Valley light lambs 7.40; Heavy spring lambs 7.25 @ 7.50.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

SAYS BACKACHE IS SIGN YOU HAVE BEEN EATING TOO MUCH MEAT.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well-known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and slow you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, hannels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

Samuel Gompers, the labor leader, stood before the Federal Commission on Industrial Relations at the New York City Hall, when he called out, "You insult me" when asked regarding the liability of unions in cases of dynamiting and murder.

Mr. Gompers stated that the two great troubles from which labor has been suffering are the constant influx of immigration and the failure of the workers themselves to organize and have a voice in shaping the conditions under which they work.

Stories From the War Zone

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.) PARIS, Jan. 2.—(By Mail to New York.)—At Rheims, while lunching, I sent the 12 year old son of the hotel proprietress across the street to buy some postcard pictures of the badly damaged town. While he was making the selection, a German shell fell and exploded almost in the middle of the street making an infernal racket. A few minutes later the lad returned with the postcards. Was he out of breath and all eagerness to tell the strange foreigner about the shell which had fallen near him? Not at all.

"I'm sorry sir," he said, quite as he would have done had he merely waited for a street car to pass instead of the smoke of a shell to clear up, "they are out of Cathedral cards. Perhaps I can find you some down the street, there is another place down there."

I thought of the shells and told the boy to never mind. Think of it! A boy so used to shells falling in his street that they have ceased to be a subject for comment.

Later on, on that same day, a small boy on the streets of Rheims brought me a piece of shell, still hot, which had fallen near him. Being of the gamin type, with wits sharpened beyond his years, he asked me if I would care to buy his piece of hot shell as a souvenir.

Then there was another boy. This youngster paraded past the Cathedral at the height of the bombardment, while from various quarters near him came the s-h-e-e-e-e of big shells and the bang of their explosion loud as the keenest crack of lightning. He carried between his two hands a pan of milk which he balanced more gingerly, taking very short steps to keep from jarring the liquid over the pan's edges. He was well dressed and clean looking and his face was the rosy pink of well cared for boys, boys adored of their mothers.

S-h-e-e-e-e! A shell hissed obtrusively overhead. Bang! came the explosion not more than two squares from the boy with the milk. He stopped. Looked around as if to see if he was being watched. Then he slowly raised the pan to his lips and took a little drink. Just as slowly, he lowered it and began his careful march homeward past the statue of God and on down in the direction of the canal.

Two minutes after he had passed the statue, a shell came directly between the towers of the Cathedral, barely clearing the head of the Maid of Orleans's horse and tore a great hole in the Belgian blocks 30 feet in front. At the moment the boy was having further refreshments from his pan.

"You're going to lose that milk if you don't mind," I said to the lad from my position in a doorway. He had not seen me before and he looked up sheepishly realizing he had been caught cheating mother. Then he grinned a perfectly honest, wholesome grin and replied with a good little devil look out of the corner of his blue eyes:

"The last I saw of him was taking gingerly steps homeward with a pan less full, but fuller stomach, utterly unafraid."

at 355 De Kalb avenue, Williamsburg, were greatly excited when Arnold Heuserman, 74-year-old husband of their mistress, got home from his work as a nightwatchman.

The old man saw that his wife was still in bed, apparently asleep. Crouched on the bed was a large black cat. When Heuserman went near the bed the cat attacked him viciously, biting his hand.

He shouted to his wife, but she did not answer. Then he ran to the Hamburg-avenue police station and got Policeman Holman.

The big black cat and several others of the animals set upon Holman when he entered the home and he had to beat them off with a patrolman's club. The black cat jumped out of an open window and the others fled. The woman was dead of apoplexy.
