GOVERNOR WILL NOT INSIST ON POWER TO ENFORCE LAW

PROPOSED CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT TO REMOVE OFFICIALS IMMATERIAL.

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 2.—Governor James Withycombe, although he asked in his inaugural message that the legislature submit to the people a constitutional amendment giving the governor power to remove district attorneys and sheriffs when they fail or refuse to perform their duty, has now taken the position that it is immaterial to him whether the legislature carries out his recommendation or not. He said that he would leave the question entirely to the senate judiciary committee and whatever the committee decided was best would be satisfactory to him.

The resolution introduced by Senator Kathryn Clarke, to carry out the governor's recommendations, has been referred to the committee on resolutions. Senator Moser, chairman of the judiciary committee, is opposed to submitting the amendment to the people.

Those who are interested in law enforcement, and particularly the enforcement of the prohibition law when the state becomes dry, are anxious that the governor be given more power over officials who are derelict in performing their duties. They point out that the responsibility for seeing that the laws are enforced is placed upon the governor and yet he is not given authority to require the proper officials to do their duty.

Senator Clarke's resolution is now in the hands of Attorney General Brown for redrafting, to make it less stringent than it was when first drawn.

If sentiment for the amendment appears too strong to be disregarded it is reported that the judiciary committee will meet the situation by putting in an amendment which will not be self-executing. It will be an amendment merely to give the legislature authority at some future time to pass laws giving the governor such power as it sees fit regarding the removing of derelict officials.

"Coyote Bill" Is Unlucky.

Sentenced to the penitentiary for an indefinite length of time, not less than one year or more than seven years, William Plains alias "Coyote Bill," who was recently convicted of robbing the Bowlsby second hand store, yesterday afternoon appeared before Judge Phelps and attempted to show that he should draw a milder sentence. Instead his showing acted the other way and the judge re-sentenced him to seven years straight. In the course of the showing, it came to light that "Coyote Bill" has been in the penitentiary three times before and Judge Phelps classified him as an habitual criminal.

Evelyn Excites Some Curiosity.

That Pendleton in common with the rest of the world has a morbid curiosity was evidenced amply last evening when crowds flocked to the Pastime theater to see moving pictures of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the show girl who caused one of the most notorious murders in the history of this country. The theater was too small to accommodate those eager to see what kind of a looking woman the principal figure in the Thaw trial is. Most every one was disappointed in her looks for, whatever she may have been when her husband shot Stanford White, the films shown here last night revealed that she is not a thing of beauty now.

Shamrocks Defeat the Kaisers.

By a margin of 35 pins the Shamrocks defeated the Kaisers last night in the bowling tournament, the Shamrocks making a total score of 2520 to 2455. The Shamrocks won the first and third games but the Kaisers had a 68 point lead in the second. The following were the individual scores: Shamrocks, McDeyitt, 571, Guyll 524, Hays 514, Shusher 471 and Wheeler 490; Kaisers, Stevens 475, McConter 500, Hoover 540, Eggers 480 and Butler 490.

WORK OF DRAWING BURKE JURY PROGRESSES SLOWLY

TRIAL OF YOUNG INDIAN IN SHOOTING CASE GETS UNDER WAY.

The trial of Richard Burke, the young Indian charged with second degree murder in connection with the death of Ed Kirkpatrick, prominent reservation farmer, several weeks ago, was commenced this morning. The work of selecting the jury is progressing slowly and it is apparent that the entire day will be required before twelve men, satisfactory to both state and defense, have been secured.

When the trial was called there were but 13 jurors out of the original panel of 31 who were available. Seven had been selected for the grand jury, two or three had never been required to report and others had been excused from further duty. Of the 13 only seven were passed for cause and an additional panel of 12 were summoned for this afternoon. It may be necessary to draw yet another special panel before the jury is picked.

The seven men passed for cause by both sides are J. A. Bagwell, O. K. Goodman, J. D. Bramwell, J. A. King, C. G. Brownell, W. P. Littlejohn and E. C. Anibal. The six dismissed for cause were J. M. Wyrick, Nesmith Ankeny, T. C. Gurdane, W. T. Reeves, J. O. McCoy and Marion Hansell.

Even after the jury box has been filled with men not excused for cause, the whole number may be refused through the exercise of the peremptory challenge. In ordinary cases the state has three peremptory challenges and the defense six but in cases where the penalty may be life imprisonment the state has six and the defense 12 so that between them they may dismiss 18 jurors without any cause.

The attorneys for the defense, Will M. Peterson and Roy Raley, are conducting a thorough examination of each juror called and District Attorney Steiner is also subjecting them to close questioning. Thus the jurors are called upon to state whether they have any prejudice against the Indians, whether they knew Ed Kirkpatrick or were associated with him in anyway, their attitude toward the question of self-defense and to answer numberless other questions tending to show their qualifications to judge the case solely upon the evidence and the court's instructions.

Burke to Plead Self Defense.

From the questions asked by the attorneys for the defense, it is indicated pretty strongly that the young Indian will plead self defense in inflicting the gunshot wound from which Kirkpatrick died. And it is also more or less apparent, from the questions of the state, that any claim which the defense will make for justification of the act on the grounds that the deceased man made threats against the defendant will be vigorously opposed. "In the event that the court instructs you that the mere anticipation of a beating from the fists is not grounds for taking human life, could you return a verdict in accordance with the instructions?" is one of the questions put by District Attorney Steiner to the jurors.

Burke is alleged to have shot Kirkpatrick in the leg with a revolver early one Sunday morning during a quarrel at the ranch of the latter's brother-in-law where a dance was in progress. It is said that Burke drove Billy Clifford and another girl to the dance to which they were not bidden and that the quarrel resulted from the expulsion of the Clifford woman. Burke was drunk, it is said, when he fired the shot which caused the death of Mr. Kirkpatrick. The young Indian was arrested at that time on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and was released on bonds. Upon the death of Mr. Kirkpatrick, however, he was again taken into custody and he has been in jail ever since.

Just back of him in the court sits his father, Piker Jim, and his mother. The court room has been well filled all day but there are very few Indians in attendance.

The Science of Medicine is Progressive

Judging from the trouble and expense people have in getting satisfactory glasses, there is room for improvement in glass fitting. A glass that was apparently alright at first but later requires changing, is absolute proof that it never was correct. We use a method of glass fitting that will straighten cross eyes without a surgical operation; the same principles will give you a glass that will never require changing, except for reading from the ages of 45 to 65.
