

The world has known what Cottolene is for over a quarter of a century

Cottolene established a class of its own over a generation ago. Cottolene was in the front rank of the great movement for bettering household service and for improving food products. Cottolene has always held its place. There is nothing to which it may be compared. There are no secrets in the production of Cottolene. Its manufacture and its constituents are as well known as the simplest things done in every kitchen.

Cottolene

Cottolene is an exact combination of the two finest cooking fats nature produces. The cotton seed oil in Cottolene is pressed from selected seed—it is a grade so choice that it is not listed on the market. It is purer, sweeter and better in food value than most salad oils. The beef stearine is the product of the freshest, finest leaf beef suet known.

It is the exact combination of these two fats which gave Cottolene its high place over a quarter of a century ago, and which has held this place for it.

Cottolene is economical, but better than that it actually improves the quality and flavor of all foods cooked with it—whether it is used for shortening, frying or cake making.

DISBROW ENTERED IN BIG AUTO RACES

ABERDEEN, Wash., Feb. 11.—Two orders for barrel staves, the value of which aggregates $37,500 and which will take more than 70 cars to carry them to the East have been received within the last few days by the Western Co-operative company. The first is from the Chicago headquarters of the Armour Packing company and is for $50,000 of lard barrel stock. This order alone will make 60 carloads of staves.

The other order is for $7500 worth of short barrel staves and comes from a New Hampshire firm.

It is estimated that the Armour order is the first of several large similar orders which may follow. To meet the heavy demand placed upon it the co-operative plant will continue to operate both day and night.

HAIR SEALS ARE UNSOLD

ST. JOHN, N. F., Feb. 11.—Unless some plan can be devised within a month whereby the skins and oil of the British government for war supplies, there is a strong possibility that the seal hunt, which has been an important factor in the commerce of Newfoundland for many years, will be abandoned for the coming season.

Because of industrial depression and the war, none of last year's catch of 233,000 has been disposed of, and about half of the great catch of 372,000 in 1913 remains in the hands of brokers in London and New York.

DANISH LINER DETAINED

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—The Danish steamship Hellig Olav arriving here from Copenhagen and Christiania, reports that on the outward voyage from this port, which she left December 2, the ship was boarded at Kirkwall, Scotland, by armed marines and detained for eight days pending investigation as to the character of her cargo.

Captain L. Holst master of the Hellig Olav, a Scandinavian-American line steamer, said the reason of the detention was ultimately traced to a slip of the British censor handling cable dispatches. A cable explained that the ship carried no copper had not been believed.

MARRIAGE PROOF FILLS

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11.—Although she lived with him 41 years and believed herself to be his lawful wife, Mrs. Catherine Koolock, 80 years old, cannot, by a court ruling, share in the $18,000 estate of William D. Koolock, Judge Patterson, in a decision recently dismissed her suit on the ground that she failed to prove a legal marriage with Koolock.

The woman testified that in 1874, believing Koolock to be a single man she was married to him. Later, she said he had been married before and had two children. He assured her, she said, that he had obtained a divorce from his first wife.

This statement proved untrue as the records show that Koolock did not get a divorce until 1890. Children by the first Mrs. Koolock will get the property. The aged petitioner charged that much of Koolock's property was bought with her savings. She believed it to be held by them jointly but on Koolock's death, discovered he had placed the property in his own name.

MOTHER! IF CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

IF CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED, GIVE "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS."

A laxative today saves a sick child tomorrow. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, which become clogged up with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour.

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated or your child is listless, cross, feverish, breath bad, restless, doesn't eat heartily, full of cold or has sore throat or any other children's ailment, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs" then don't worry, because it is perfectly harmless, and in a few hours all this constipation, poison, sour bile and fermenting waste will gently move out of the bowels, and you will have a well, playful child again. A thorough "inside cleansing" is oftentimes all that is necessary. It should be the first treatment given in any sickness.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50 cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company."

UNITED STATES WARNS ENGLAND AND GERMANY AGAINST VIOLATIONS

BELLIGERENTS WILL BE HELD TO ACCOUNT IF AMERICAN LIVES LOST.

Necessary Steps Will Be Taken to Protect Rights of Americans, Declares Notes Sent by State Department—Sharp Words Are Used—Notes Cause Stir at Capital.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—Publication by the state department last night of the texts of the notes sent to Great Britain and Germany respectively, revealed that both countries had been warned in most emphatic terms against menacing the vessels or lives of American citizens traversing the recently proclaimed sea zones of war.

Both Countries Warned.
Germany was advised that the United States "would be constrained to hold the imperial government to a strict accountability" for such acts of its naval authorities as might result in the destruction of American vessels or the loss of American lives, and that "if such a deplorable situation should arise," the American government would "take any steps it might be necessary to safeguard American lives and property."

To Great Britain the United States pointed out "the measure of responsibility" which would seem to be imposed on the British government "for the loss of American vessels and lives in case of an attack by a German naval force." If England sanctioned the general misuse of the American flag by British vessels, and thereby cast doubt on the valid character of the neutral ensigns.

Entire Cabinet Consulted.
The two communications were to have been presented yesterday respectively to the British government by Ambassador Page and the German foreign office by Ambassador Gerard. They were prepared by Counselor Robert Lansing and revised by President Wilson and Secretary Bryan after consultation with the entire cabinet.

The British, Spanish and Brazilian ambassadors, who happened to call at the state department, received copies of the notes, as did the ministers of Sweden, Norway and Denmark, who especially requested it. The documents created something of a sensation among the diplomats generally because of what some regarded as their drastic implication.

Effect on Public Forestalled.
High officials of the American government pointed out informally that it had been deemed advisable to speak in unmistakable terms now rather than to await the alarming effect on American public opinion which might ensue from the sinking of a vessel with scores of American citizens. The notes, officials were confident, would serve as a preventative of the critical possibilities discussed in them.

Diplomats examined with great interest the language of the communications and some of them construed the note to Germany as a warning that the loss of American lives by sinking even a belligerent merchant ship would be covered by the representations of the American government, because of the insistence that all merchant ships must be visited and searched before ships can be sunk.
