

Good Wheat Land For Sale

8,000 Acres of Umatilla County's Choicest Land to be Sold at Once

I HAVE 8,000 acres of good wheat land to be sold at once. It is located in the famous wheat belt of Umatilla County and will average 25 bushels to the acre. It will be sold in one lot or in subdivisions.

60% UNDER CULTIVATION

Sixty per cent of this land is already under cultivation and the balance has been used for grazing purposes, but as it is equal to the $50 and $60 an acre land located in other parts of the county, we have decided that it is far too valuable for grazing purposes and have decided to sell it for wheat-raising.

GOOD ROADS AND DOWN-HILL PULL

This Land has a general slope to the north; good roads make it easy to access; it has good main line warehouse facilities and all loaded pulls are down hill. Well water is within easy reach. Six miles is the longest haul to the railroad.

A BARGAIN AT THE PRICE.

Title is clear and free from all incumbrances. My price is very reasonable, but all sales must be for cash—no trades considered.

Every statement made in connection with this land is guaranteed to be a solid fact. If you are looking for good wheat land and mean business don't pass up this grand opportunity, but come in at once and see plat and learn prices. Don't put it off—tomorrow may be too late.

BROTHERHOOD.
 The night was dark—but then I looked for light.
 The day was ill—but then I looked for good.
 The fray was fierce—but in its mad affrights I looked for little hints of Brotherhood.
 And night and day, And in that mad affray, What'er the woe in which my soul was caught, I never failed to find that thing I sought.
 For light and good And Brotherhood In goodly share Are everywhere!
 —Chicago News.

The state senate yesterday killed the house bill regarding conspiracy. The purpose of the bill was to prevent the swindling of city, county or state governments by collusion on the part of bridge and paving contractors. This county has learned how such work is done. J. W. Kimbrell knows and he explained last November how he found two bridge bidders, one of them A. E. Eberhart, conferring in a locked room at the Hotel St. George and how their subsequent bids showed they were in collusion. The conspiracy bill would have made such swindling games beyond the pale of the law but the senate put the bill to sleep. In other words the senate says bring on your swindlers and let them sting the taxpayers if they can.

 Is it any wonder there are bridge and paving scandals; is it any wonder taxes are high?
 Lay aside all prejudices and you will observe that the actions of England and Germany are much alike. England is a Beast. Germany and proposer to do so by such methods as seem expedient. One way is to try to starve the Germans, women and children and non-combatants along with the soldiers.
 Germany in retaliation lays plans to make relentless war on British shipping by use of submarines. The Germans evidently feel that if England is going to starve Germany then the Germans have a right to starve England. It seems a fair proposition add neutral ships have had the advantage of warning to keep clear of the danger zone.
 The facts are each side is using inhuman tactics against the other and they disregard the established rules of war. It is the usual way. The war game is a game of wolf eat wolf and probably no war was ever waged in which the established rules of warfare were not broken. Nothing is sacred to the war god. The honor of women, the safety of babies and children, the rights of non-combatants are but as a breath in the wind. Napoleon said that a good soldier is always corrupt and that if a new soldier is not corrupt to begin with he must be made corrupt.
 People are mistaken when they expect decency or humanity from the god of war. Such things are out of his line.
 Trying to be scornful towards the East Oregonian and the Medford Mail-Tribune the Razzledazzler. Oregonian exposes its own stupidity. It loftily asserts these two papers have their "wires crossed" resarding the utilities bill. If the Portland paper will take a second look it will find the very reverse is true and it is itself that has the brain fog.

 The Mail-Tribune denounced the bill which had for its purpose the giving to corporations the right to condemn federal or state property and which bill was pressed by the electric interests with a view to forestalling the Ferris bill. The East Oregonian also opposed that bill and exposed the plain purpose back of it.
 The public utilities bill which through ignorance or design the Oregonian tries to confuse with the above discussed measure is a different thing entirely. This utilities bill was drafted by the hydro-electric commission of which J. V. Tallman is a member. It was a good bill and it was killed by the senate as this paper said and there could have been no motive for that defeat save to please the private electric interests. Since that time the senate has again shown its colors by ramming through a bill to shield all public utility corporations from competitors and the viciousness in that scheme was pointed out yesterday by the East Oregonian.
 The Portland Oregonian has either become razzledazzled by the whirlpool it has helped generate at Salem or else it is playing the charlatan and hopes to razzledazzle people with reference to some very important legislation. In either case it is unworthy of trust—a chronic condition with that sheet.
 This economy session of the legislature will prove very expensive when people get to realizing the public interests that have been sacrificed.
 That German blockade will give a practical test of the ability of the submarine to deliver the goods.
 Lucky the farmer who keeps enough wheat for reseeded purposes.

TODAY

"The Making of Him"

A LUBIN DRAMA IN TWO PARTS.

Alice Demarest, a debutante, is engaged to Donald Atwater, a lazy, blase society man. She contrasts him with the energetic, ambitious officers of the Newport Naval Training station and the comparison is not in his favor. Donald gets jealous of two of the officers, goes to a dance to which he was not invited, makes a scene and is thrown off the ship.
 Alice gives him his choice of doing four months of naval training or giving her up.
 How he makes good and puts one over on his rivals is shown in this intensely interesting picture. A real "Feature."

"HIS PRIOR CLAIM"
Biograph drama.

"A Question of Clothes"
A Vitagraph comedy featuring Norma Talmage.
