2 BOARDS LINKED AND 2 OTHERS ARE ABOLISHED AT SALEM

HIGHWAY AND STATE ENGINEERS MERGED DURING CLOSING HOURS.

Accountancy and Immigration Posts are Abolished—Late Measures are Killed—Speaker Selling Declares Senate's Delay Over Consolidation Bills "a Deal."

SALEM, Ore., Feb. 22.—Consolidation and elimination of state departments, which subject was given much consideration during the recent legislative session, resulted in the consolidation of two departments into one and the elimination of two others. The offices of the State Highway Engineer and the State Engineer are to be consolidated and the state accountancy system and the state immigration commission are abolished. All other consolidation bills were sent to their graves over various parliamentary routes.

One bill was passed in the closing hours of the session providing that the state engineer become an appointive office at the expiration of the term of the present engineer in January, 1919. The bill to change the name of the state railroad commission to the public service commission also was passed.

Corporation Bureau Merger Fails. One important bill that the house failed to pass, was that providing for consolidation of the corporation and insurance departments. It did not get up before the house for final consideration until long after midnight and received only 23 votes in its favor.

A batch of other consolidation bills was sent over to the house from the senate in the closing hours of the session, but the house adjourned with the bills resting peacefully on the table. The bill to combine the two engineering departments was not reached in the house until after 1 o'clock Sunday morning. The measure had been reported favorably by the house committee and came up on its merits. There was no opposition to the bill and the members were tired when the roll was called, so nearly every one voted "aye."

Speaker Selling Objects. But when it came Speaker Selling's turn to vote he took occasion to denounce the tactics of the senate in asking the house to pass upon important consolidation measures in the closing days of the session. "I want to say," said the speaker, "that this is a part of a deal. The entire appropriation for the engineering department is only $10,000 a year. If we save it all, that is the sum total of the saving that we can make. There is no real genuine economy in this kind of business.

"Now, I know what this is for. It means that members of this legislature have made promises to consolidate and that they have not consolidated. "It is now 1:45 Sunday morning," pulling out his watch, "and they want us to pass this kind of legislation merely so that the members can go home and say that they carried out their pledges. For my part, I didn't make any pledges of that kind and I don't propose to stultify myself by voting for this kind of a bill."

Although an overwhelming majority had voted in favor of the consolidation bill, the speaker's remarks were applauded.

The only other consolidation bill that came to a vote in the house was the insurance-corporation bill. The house consolidation committee was split in three different ways. Representatives Hare and Wentworth favored it. Representatives Hunt and Eaton opposed it. Speaker Selling made no recommendation. By unanimous consent the house allowed the bills to go to third reading without acting on any of the committee reports.

Eaton Calls Bill Politics. Representative Hare made a perfunctory argument in support of the bill. He presented figures from the two different departments to show that the plan might result in a saving of from $600 to $10,000 a year. Representative Eaton opposed the bill on the ground that it consisted of nothing more nor less than politics.

Representative Stewart attacked the measure saying that the people defeated a similar bill on the election ballot last fall by a vote of two to one. The bill then went down to defeat via the rollcall route.

Other consolidation bills rejected were: H. B. 92, by Pierce, of Coos and Curry, to combine the Desert land board with the state land board. H. B. 107, by Thomas, to combine state water board, state engineer and superintendent of water divisions into a department of public works.

S. B. 4, by Barrett, to consolidate the state labor commissioner industrial welfare commission, industrial accident commission and inspectors of child labor into a department of labor.

S. B. 167, by Strayer, abolishing "blue sky" law. S. B. 256, by committee on consolidations, combining desert land board and state land board.

Recognized Advantages. You will find that Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has recognized advantages over most medicines in use for coughs and colds. It does not suppress a cough but loosens and relieves it. It aids expectoration and opens the secretions, which enables the system to throw off a cold. It counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia. It contains no opium or other narcotic, and may be given to a child as confidently as to an adult. For sale by all dealers—Adv.

MONDAY CHAT NO. 3

It is a pleasure to give people real good enjoyment and yesterday was filled with pleasure for us. "The Sign of the Cross" was praised by everyone of our patrons.

There is something in Keystone Comedies that makes the most sober face break out in smiles. Ford Sterling is back with them again.

Wednesday and Thursday will be taken up with Marie Dressler in "Tillie's Punctured Romance," and that film has advertised itself so extensively that it is not necessary to waste any space on it here.

On Friday we get Dustin Farnum in "Cameo Kirby," which comes to us highly recommended. You will remember the article in Paramount Magazine on this play.

We can hardly wait for Sunday to bring Marguerite Clarke in "The Crucible," as her work in this excels that in "Wildflower." She is Mary Pickford's rival and many people say "better."

Election May Be Called if it is Needed

ANTICIPATION OF USE OF REFERENDUM, LEGISLATURE MAKES PROVISION. SALEM, Ore., Feb. 22.—A special election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November for the purpose of considering measures enacted by the recent legislative session, was authorized by a bill that went through both houses early Sunday morning.

The bill does not provide for an election unless the referendum is invoked against any of the measures passed by this session. The sum of $12,000 is appropriated by the state for that purpose. It is estimated that the cost of a special election will approximate $100,000, but the balance of the fund must be met by the various counties.

Friends of the prohibition measure were particularly interested to have the bill passed, as they fear a referendum will be applied. The law becomes effective January 1, 1916, concurrently with the prohibition amendment to the constitution adopted last fall. Had the special election not been authorized and the bill referred, it could not have been voted upon by the people until the election in November, 1916, and the prohibition amendment would have been in effect without a law to make it operative.

Any other legislation passed by this session can also be referred in the regular manner and voted upon next November under provisions of this bill, which was fathered by Senator Day.

Our idea is to bring them together and to place at their disposal our experience for the development of Belgian towns along modern lines."

the senate last Friday, according to "dry" leaders in the legislature. The house committee on the suppression of intemperance, in response to a demand today of the majority of the superior body, reported out, with recommendations for passage, the Clarkson bill, which passed the senate, and the so-called Crozier bill. Both are down as a special order of business at the opening of tomorrow's session.
