INSURANCE IN A MEAT MARKET

Yes it's an innovation in Pendleton—and we have introduced it. "Insurance" here means getting—always—the same standard quality. If you received one order that pleased you immensely you know that you can "repeat" without the risk of disappointment. It's PEMECO quality that makes this possible.

Aiding of Son is Costly.
 DRESDEN, April 8.—The penalty of sending money to any of the countries at war with Germany is severe and is imposed regardless of circumstances. Karl Friedrich Schmidt, an 81-year-old business man, has been fined 2000 marks for sending to his son in Marseilles 1000 francs through a third party, and for telegraphing 300 francs for the support of the son's household.

WAS AT SURRENDER.

generals. Grant had his back to me but Lee was facing me and he was the finest looking officer I ever laid eyes on. I only had to look at him once to know why his men loved him and fought for him so hard. If I had been under him, I would have fought as hard for the rebels as I did on the other side. His face was very sad but he still had a commanding appearance. When General Grant declined to deprive him of his sword, he asked that such of his men as owned the horses they were riding be permitted to take them home to help make a new beginning on their farms. Grant was very glad to extend the privilege.

"I rode all day just behind Grant after the surrender, helping to escort him to Farmville which we had taken only three days before from the rebels and then on to Petersburg. I can see him now as he sat astride his big black horse.

In speaking of the incidents that led up to the surrender, Mr. Richardson was not averse to telling of how he was doing his best to get out of the range of the rebel bullets only about an hour before Lee sent up the flag of truce. "During the night of April 8, the brigade I was in and the Second New York were sent forward to a rail barricade facing the rebels," he said. "When morning came from out of a thicket of birches, Lee's men began firing on us and we answered. When we finally opened on them with two artillery pieces, Lee brought forward his full force in three battle lines and we decided it was time for us to beat it. We knew we were greatly outnumbered and were licked, so we didn't pay much heed to our colonel's efforts to rally us. I can remember that my heavy cartridge belt caused a pain in my side as I ran and I would stop to rest it. Pretty soon a bullet would strike by my feet and buoy me up to fresh efforts. We were dismounted at the time and soon reached our horses. When Grant brought up all of his men, enough to swamp the confederates, Lee sent up a flag signifying surrender. I had been ordered back at the time to help pick up the wounded and I can remember that the rebels cheered just as hard as we did when that flag went up. They were glad it was all over, too."

Observance This Evening.
 This evening the local post of the G. A. R. will hold commemoration exercises in the Methodist church in observance of the anniversary, the orders having gone out for every post in the country to hold exercises. Judge S. A. Lowell will make an address to the local veterans.

NEWS OF FARM AND RANGE

Wheat by Parcels Post.—Wheat by the carload lot, broken up into 50-pound packages, is being shipped by parcels post to Burns today. The Sawyer-Clark company is the shipper, and the grain will be loaded out of Island City's postoffice.

The order was filed on condition that the wheat was to be sent by parcels post, and the merchants here promptly attended to the proposition. An order for a carload of potatoes for John Day is also being considered by the same firm, and if it is filled the parcels post method will be used by the shippers. In both of these instances, the destinations are off the mainlines.—La Grande Observer.

William Hanley Sells Big Herd.—William Hanley of Burns sold one thousand three hundred and fifty-eight cows and steers to James Dodd of Dillon, Montana, last week. The stock was sold through John Fleming, a cattle buyer of Salt Lake, who has been around Ontario for the last month. The price paid was a little over seven thousand dollars, and is one of the large cattle deals of this section.

The stock was driven from Harney county to Juntura where they were loaded. The train consisting of forty five cars passed through Ontario en route to Dillon, Montana, by way of Pocatello.—Ontario Argus.

EARN RIGHT TO SUFFRAGE.

"The club-belonging set" of Berlin decided immediately what women should do and what advice they could give that was worth while. That day we went to the minister of the interior and by night our plans had been accepted.

"We telegraphed to every part of Germany a few hours later. The next day, under our central commission here in Berlin, we also directed the Vaterlandbund and the Red Cross, through those aiding the sick and the poor women's organizations. "Next we submitted to the government suggestions for the conservation of game and poultry. Naturally we know a great deal about the food situation.

"I received a letter from America today saying that it was reported there that each German was allowed only four pounds of food weekly," I interjected.

"How absurd," exclaimed Frau Heyl, with a smile. "We have suffi-
