Beard, Vancouver; J. F. Grakke, Astoria; A. H. Devers and J. N. Teal, Portland; N. Brooks, Goldendale; W. J. Mariner, Blalock; R. A. Foster, Clarkston; and W. P. Gray, Pasco.

THIS IS TIME FOR CALM ATTITUDE SAYS PREACHER

REV. SNYDER SAYS PEOPLE SHOULD SUPPORT THE ADMINISTRATION.

At the Presbyterian church last evening the war situation as it now confronts this country was the theme of an informal talk by Rev. J. E. Snyder. He said in part:

"This is a time for calmness and for people to support the administration. It is no time for partisanship. No president since Lincoln has faced such difficulties as those now confronting our president. Let us give him our prayers that this country may maintain its dignity and continue at peace."

Begged Frohman Not to Go.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Grief over the fate of Charles Frohman, probably the most widely known theatrical man in the world, who was a passenger on the Lusitania, was universal in the theatrical district. Frohman sailed with Charles Klein and Justin Miles Forman, playwright.

Ackley Is Held Under Bonds.

George Ackley, proprietor of the hot tamale house on Cottonwood street, was Saturday afternoon placed under $500 bonds and held to the grand jury by Justice of the Peace Parkes after a preliminary hearing on a charge of robbing Kanine, a deaf Indian. Jeff Brisbow, implicated with him, was not held, the evidence not being strong enough against him. The Indian alleges he was robbed of more than $100. Ackley was represented by Attorneys Peterson and Watta while Deputy Prosecuting Attorney R. I. Keator represented the state.

Athena Boy Wins Race.

Floyd "Mose" Payne, the sensational distance runner of the University of Oregon who claims Athena as his home, won the two-mile race Saturday at San Francisco in the Pacific Coast Intercollegiate Conference meet, making the distance in 3 minutes and 54 seconds. While there were several entries, the race was be-

Newsy Notes of Pendleton

District Superintendent Here.

Rev. Andrew Warner of Walla Walla, district superintendent for the Methodist Episcopal church, was here yesterday and occupied the pulpit of the local church yesterday morning.

Will Take Prisoners Back.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Jackson is here today from Portland and will take back with him Jack Gebhart and Simon Whitman, the latter an Indian, both of whom are held to the federal grand jury on a charge of introducing liquor on the reservation.

Miss Finnell Is May Queen.

At an election held at the high school this morning for the purpose of selecting a May Queen, Miss Mildred Finnell was chosen by the student body to lead the May day festivities which are to be given by the schools of Pendleton during the last week in May.

Sturgis Is Arena Director.

James H. Sturgis, formerly of this city and now conducting the Walla Walla branch of the E. L. Smith & Co., has been appointed arena director of the Walla Walla frontier days show, according to an announcement in a Walla Walla paper. Sturgis was formerly a director of the Round-up.

Scorer Is Appointed.

President Howard Lamb of the Twilight League Saturday appointed George Pearce official scorer for the league and he will keep the individual and team records for the games. Pearce is an employee of the Central Market and his employers in order to help out the league, will permit him to leave 45 minutes early on the evenings of the games in order that he may be present at all. Pearce has had experience in scoring in the Willamette valley.

No Rowdiness at Games.

A meeting of the captains of the four teams composing the Twilight league was held yesterday afternoon at the Baptist church, the purpose of which was to hit upon some plan whereby all rowdiness could be done away with at the games. Two special police have been appointed to preside over that part of the game. The Twilight leagues' main object is to furnish the public with good, clean baseball and the lovers of baseball may be assured that every step towards carrying the plan will be taken.

Courtney Held to Grand Jury.

W. E. Courtney, picked up here Saturday on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses upon the complaint of the management of the Idaho Poultry Journal for whom he was solicitor, was this morning given a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Joe H. Parkes and held to the grand jury under $5000 bonds. His partner, Hamilton Fulton, will probably be taken back to Union county to answer a similar charge. Courtney is also wanted in Boise, where it is alleged he passed spurious drafts and defrauded the Bristol hotel.

Injured in Auto Accident.

Miss Ella Tichner and Nick Blanchard suffered painful injuries about the head early yesterday morning when the automobile in which they were riding struck a chuck hole with such violence that the occupants were almost thrown from the car. The young people, together with Miss Florence Johnson and Reinhard Hoelt were driving home from a dance, Miss Johnson being at the wheel of the auto which belonged to Hoelt. The car was almost upset in the accident.

Dies in Local Hospital.

Mrs. Emma Brower, 54 years old, died last night at St. Anthony's hospital whither she had been taken a week ago when stricken with apoplexy when passing through Echo on a train. She and her husband, L. L. Brower, who were residents for a long time of Lewiston, Idaho, were traveling for her health when Mrs. Brower was stricken at Echo. She is survived by her husband, one married daughter, and three sons. Ages 10, 12 and 14. The funeral will probably be held tomorrow morning at the Catholic church.

Some Oppose War Loan.

LONDON, May 7.—A considerable minority of the socialist party in the German Reichstag opposed the voting of the full war credit demanded by the German government, according to last Saturday's Berlin Volksche Zeitung, a copy of which has been received here.

German Editor Speaks.

NEW YORK, May 10.—Herman Ridder, editor of the Staats Zeitung, in an article by himself on "Vale Lusitania," says in part:

German Editor Speaks.

"A great Transatlantic liner has fallen victim to a German submarine. Several hundred Americans disregarded the declaration of the German admiralty of February 4, 1915, regarding the waters around Great Britain and Ireland, including the whole of the English channel, a war zone and declaring that 'every enemy merchant ship found in this war zone' would be destroyed. They disregarded the particular warning of the German embassy in Washington as embodied in the advertisement published generally throughout the United States.

"The sinking of the Lusitania will clear the atmosphere in many respects. It will teach the British government that Germany is not bluffing but is in dead earnest—a lesson it should have learned months ago, but which, even today, it seemed not to have grasped in the slightest degree."

To Teach at Nolin.

Miss Martha J. Gerking today filed a contract to teach the primary grades in the Nolin schools next year.

Young People Get License.

George Parrott, 19 years old of Nolin, and Yvel Kessler, 16 years old of Pendleton, secured a marriage license from County Clerk Saling late Saturday evening.

Howard Home Is Sold.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the old Theodore Howard home in this city was sold at a sheriff's sale to satisfy a judgment secured by the Oregon Building & Loan Association. M. C. Cropper was the purchaser, his bid being $350. The judgment was for $252.

Inspected Wool Plants.

Q. R. Craft of the United States forestry office at Ogden, Utah, has been here today upon a vacation trip and has made use of the opportunity to inspect the local scouring and woolen mills. According to Mr. Craft a much larger portion of wool is scoured and manufactured here than is true of Utah.

Want Children's Parade.

An effort will be made this year to have the local school children attend the Decoration day services according to J. L. Carroll, one of the G. A. R. veterans of the city. School will have closed prior to the day but it is believed the children can be induced to participate in an organized manner regardless of the fact. R. R. Butler of the Dalles is to be the Decoration day speaker.

Examining 8th Grade Papers.

A board consisting of G. L. Hurd of Stanfield, A. E. White of Milton, Mrs. C. F. Coleworthy and Mrs. A. C. Hampton of Pendleton and Miss Grace Gilliam of Pilot Rock, is today engaged in examining the papers of the pupils who took the eighth grade examinations last week. They are working at the office of County Superintendent Young. The results will probably not be announced until Friday.

Lodges Plan Memorial.

The lodges of Pendleton are making plans for a common memorial service for their dead on June 6, the chief feature of which will be a memorial address at the Christian church. During the day each lodge will decorate the graves of its dead at Olney cemetery. A committee of which Harvey Elder is chairman, is making the preparations and is being assisted by James H. O'Gowan and M. A. Ferguson, president and secretary of the association of fraternal orders.

Local Man Tells of Rugged Coast Where Disaster Occurred

SOUTH IRELAND SEABOARD COMPOSED OF CLIFFS RISING HUNDREDS OF FEET.

A rugged coast line with cliffs rising several hundred feet sheer of the ocean is the lay of the land about Old Head of Kinsale on the south-east coast of Ireland. This is the description as given by Tobias Butler of this city who is familiar with every foot of the ground along the south Irish coast. Mr. Butler is employed here as passenger brakeman on the O.-W. R. & N. and has been in this country for three years.

This wild, lonesome spot now marks the last resting place of the giant liner Lusitania which was torpedoed last Friday by a German submarine and here in the St. George's channel will probably lie many of those who went down with the vessel as the recovery of their bodies will doubtless be impossible.

Mr. Butler's home is Kilkenny, northeast of Kinsale. He has been at Kinsale many times and at Queenstown also, to which port all the victims of the disaster have been brought. Kinsale is a small town, smaller than Pendleton by many hundreds, and is the home principally of fishermen. At Old Head of Kinsale all that breaks the monotony of the rugged landscape is a lighthouse which warns vessels of the approach to a rocky shore. The land inward, when one has topped the cliffs, is marshy and hilly. There is also considerable pasture land where cattle are grazed. The head jutts out into the sea about a mile. The tide is always rough and makes a bad landing place.

Kinsale is about 40 miles from Queenstown. The towns grouped in this section and within a few miles apart are Kinsale, Queenstown, Clonakilly and Cork.

From Kinsale, the tourist can take a boat and go out to the head. Many make this visit as the scene is one of rugged grandeur. The coast, between the cliffs, is dotted with inlets, hiding places for smugglers, and according to Mr. Butler, affording a place for the safekeeping of a submarine base if such has been established on the Irish coast.

HONORS WON BY UMATILLA COUNTY IN ORATORICALS

FIRST AND SECOND PLACES GO TO ATHENA AND PENDLETON.

Not only did Pendleton high school carry off first honors in the interscholastic track and field meet at La Grande Saturday but both first and second honors in the interscholastic oratorical contest came to Umatilla county. Louis Stewart of Athena was awarded first place, delivering his oration on "Militarism" in splendid style. Ernest Crockett of Pendleton high won second honors with his oration "What Is Neutrality" and John L. Cox of Baker was third, his oration being on "Peace."

I cannot see the old reels I saw long months ago; Because they give me such a pain In any Moving Picture Show. I cannot take my evening meal And then in bliss remain, Because that Junk will not digest— To scan it gives me pain. I cannot stand those old reels Of half-breed, sheriff, maid, Because those chestnuts weary me— I loathe those stunts, I said. But what's the use of panning Those reels of long ago?
