

MEXICAN FACTIONS AS YET UNWILLING TO COME TOGETHER

Efforts of Washington Administration to Get Leaders to Confer Meets With No Success

SERIOUS BREAD RIOTS OCCUR

Red Cross Is Redoubling Its Efforts to Reach the Starving Thousands in Mexico With Supplies

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Efforts of administration officials to get the factional leaders in Mexico to confer in accord with the suggestions of the president thus far have met with no success. With the German note disposed of, it is expected the president will give most of his attention now to the Mexican situation and will consider the time limit to be set in which the revolutionists must cease fighting and endeavor to form a strong provisional government.

Serious bread riots have occurred in many Mexican cities, according to messages received here. The Red Cross is redoubling its efforts to reach the starving thousands with supplies.

VERA CRUZ, June 5.—"Appreciative, friendly and serene," such will be the tone of General Carranza's reply to President Wilson's note. After carefully considering the note, General Carranza concluded that it contains nothing other than hopefulness for the constitutional cause, and it was officially announced that his reply to President Wilson would be handed to John R. Silliman, personal representative of President Wilson in Mexico, for transmission to Washington within the next few days, probably Monday or Tuesday.

The reading of the note by Carranza officials and members of his cabinet has created a feeling that President Wilson intended no harsh action toward Mexico.

Hope to Hasten Solution. A distinct feeling prevails that a definite policy at Washington will result in hastening a solution of the Mexican problem without foreign aid. General Carranza expresses the opinion that his intended reconquest of Mexico City soon will place the constitutionalists in a better position to be recognized by the Washington government.

When Mr. Silliman called he was informed that a reply to the note was being formulated by the constitutionalist foreign minister. It was stated that the tone of the reply would be appreciative, friendly and serene.

Carranza Feels He Is the Man. General Carranza, it was learned, intends to interpret the note as a tacit hint that he is the man best fitted to assume ascendancy in Mexico and most likely to receive recognition once the constitutionalists return to Mexico City. It is understood that the reply will point out a steady progress by the constitutionalists, indicating an early victory over Villa. Also General Carranza will point out that American recognition would greatly expedite peace in Mexico.

Mr. Silliman received word from Mexico City that Americans and other foreigners probably would leave there next week for Vera Cruz.

Most woman lodge organizers would make good suffragette lobbyists.

Rev. H. H. Huddle to Take the Pulpit of Christian Church

WILL FILL POSITION CAUSED BY RESIGNATION OF REV. T. F. WEAVER.

Rev. H. H. Huddle, for seven years pastor of the Christian church at Corvallis, has been called by the local church to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. T. F. Weaver, and word has been received that he has accepted the call.

Rev. Weaver will leave about July 1, via California, for his old home in Texas but his successor will probably not be installed until September 1. Rev. Weaver and his congregation feel that they have secured a strong man to take charge of the church. Strong endorsements were received from church officials and the Corvallis congregation, while regretting his departure, gave him the highest of recommendations. He is said to be an aggressive worker and the congregation feels that not only will it have a strong leader in him but that the community will have acquired an asset.

SECOND NOTE WILL CLEAR UP DOUBTS OF OUR POSITION

Communication is Finally Approved By President and Will Be Dispatched To Berlin Tonight

TEXT OF NOTE WITHHELD

Will Not Be Made Public Until It Is Certain That Document Is In the Hands of the Kaiser's Government—United States Insists On Rights of Americans at Sea.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—President Wilson's second note to Germany, informing the imperial government the United States insists upon a recognition of its international rights, probably will be dispatched to Berlin tonight. The president has approved the final draft of the rejoinder. The note was immediately sent to the state department by confidential messenger. Secretary Bryan there approved and signed it and turned the communication over to department officials to be coded. The text will not be made public until it is certain the note is in the hands of Foreign Minister Von Jagow, it was stated as the White House desires to avoid a repetition of the incident connected with the first note which was delayed in transmission and given out at Washington before it reached Berlin.

Cabinet officials highly praised the president's new communication to Berlin. It was declared to be a statesman-like document, certain to make plain the position of the United States. Not only is Germany firmly told the United States insists on the rights of Americans to travel at sea, secure in the belief that this government will protect them, but the responsibility for a break, if one comes, is placed squarely at Germany's door. With his rejoinder finally disposed of, the president motored to the golf links early this afternoon, his mind at rest and hopeful the Kaiser's government will accept the American viewpoint. It is the president's hope that the next reply from Germany will not only be more responsive than the first, but will make certain that in the future such misunderstandings will be impossible.

WASHINGTON, June 5.—Germany, in a note cabled to the state department by Ambassador Gerard at Berlin, expresses regrets that through "an unfortunate accident" a German submarine had torpedoed the American steamship Gulflight and declared itself "ready to furnish full recompense for the damage thereby sustained by American citizens."

In the same communication the German foreign office said it had not yet been possible to clear up fully the case of the American steamer Cushing, reported attacked by a German aeroplane, and asked that the United States communicate the information in its possession concerning this incident.

British Patrol Boats Blamed. Blame for the attack on the Gulf-light was placed by the foreign office on the proximity of two British patrol boats and the absence from the steamer's foreboard of the distinctive markings usually carried by neutral ships in the war zone. "That the attacked steamer carried the American flag," the note adds, "was first observed at the moment of firing the shot."

The Gulflight was torpedoed in the English channel five weeks ago, while bound from Port Arthur, Tex., for Rouen, France, with oil. She was towed to Crow's Sound and beached for repairs. Two seamen were drowned when the crew took to the boats immediately after the attack and the captain died of heart trouble the next day.

SECOND RAID UPON LONDON MADE BY GERMAN ZEPPELINS

Hostile Airships Are Driven off by British Aviators--Bombs are Dropped--Americans are Warned of Raid.

LONDON, June 5.—A second raid upon London within a week was attempted by German Zeppelins last night. A number of American residents were mysteriously warned of the approach of the airships. After raiding the east and southeast coasts, the Germans were reported driven out to sea by British aeroplanes before they could approach London. An admiralty statement reported the presence of Zeppelins over the coast. Bombs were declared to have been dropped at various places which were not named, but little material damage was done and there were few casualties, the official statement asserted.

Every effort has been made to determine the source of the telephone calls received by Americans warning them Zeppelins were coming. M. F. Shaller of the American relief commission said his telephone rang at 9 o'clock last night and a strange voice warned him to remain indoors throughout the night. "Get water and be ready to fight fires," was the warning telephoned other Americans.

ITALIANS BOMBARD ROVEREDO; TROOPS ADVANCE IN FORCE

ROME, June 5.—The battle for the possession of Roveredo has begun. Alpine and Bersaglieri troops are approaching the fortress from the south and southeast. Austrian guns captured by the Italians at Monte Zugno are being used to bombard Roveredo, while a second force is rapidly advancing over the mountain passes. General Cadorna reported the battle for the ridge at Moterno continues.

LIBRARY ASSOCIATION OF NORTHWEST MAY MEET HERE

INVITATION EXTENDED BY LOCAL BOARD TO GATHER JUST BEFORE ROUND-UP.

As the result of an invitation extended by the library board, the next annual meeting of the Pacific Northwest Library Association may be held here, presumably just prior to the 1916 Round-up.

The association met this year at Salem and there were 75 in attendance chiefly from Oregon, Washington and British Columbia. The states of Idaho and Montana are also included in the association but the attendance was light from those states.

Mrs. Lina Sturgia, chairman of the local board, and Miss Nason, librarian, were in attendance from Pendleton. The only other invitation for the next meeting came from Everett, Wash. The matter of selecting the time and place for the convention is left to the executive committee. Pendleton was spoken of very favorably by many who attended the meeting and they also expressed a wish to see the Round-up.

It is anticipated that the new library building will be completed and in use by the next convention so the gathering may be held in the auditorium of the library. Umatilla county is one of four counties in Oregon having a county library system. Other counties are Multnomah, Hood River and Wasco.

NEW POSITIONS ARE TAKEN BY FRENCHMEN AT SOUCHEZ

HEAVY ARTILLERY DUEL IS IN PROGRESS NORTH OF ARRAS, SAYS PARIS.

PARIS, June 5.—The capture of a new German position south of Souchez was announced in an official communique. Counter attacks made by the Germans upon Sugar Mill at Souchez also were repulsed with heavy losses, it was stated.

"We have taken a German position near Red Cabaret, south of Souchez North of Arras, a heavy artillery duel is in progress," the communique declared.

GERMANS DELIVER VIGOROUS ASSAULT ON BRITISH LINE

Heavy Artillery Fire is Being Poured Into English at Ypres in Attempt to Smash Through.

KAISER STRIKES WITH FORCE

Every Resource at His Command is Being Used Upon Both Eastern and Western Fronts--Determined Blows Being Struck at Russians Who Retreated From Przemyel.

LONDON, June 5.—The crews of the fishing vessels Cortez, Kathleen and Evening Star, torpedoed off the Orkney Islands, yesterday, landed at Kirkwall today. This makes 16 vessels sunk within 48 hours.

LONDON, June 5.—The Kaiser is striking at his ring of enemies with all the resources at his command. Upon both eastern and western fronts, on the sea and from the air the Germans are delivering heavy blows. A determined offensive has been launched against the British line about Ypres. The center of the attack is from Hooge. The heavy artillery fire poured against the English line is accepted as preparatory to a general assault in an attempt to break the British front.

Upon the sea, German submarines have sunk 13 vessels, including four neutrals within 48 hours. With Przemyel again in the hands of the Austrians, sledgehammer blows are being struck at the Russian's eastern front.

Many Vessels Torpedoed.

LONDON, June 5.—With the crews of two steamers and three trawlers, sunk by German submarines, landed at various points during the night, reports have been received of 13 vessels sent to the bottom in the last 48 hours.

The largest vessel was the British steamer Inikum, from New York to Lizard Head. No warning was given. The crew of the French steamer Penfeld was landed at Brest at midnight. The Penfeld was torpedoed and sunk in the channel.

Three trawlers were sunk Friday. The crews were picked up by other trawlers and landed at Lowestoft. Other ships sunk were: the Danish steamers Salvador and Cyrus; the Swedish steamer Lappland; the Norwegian steamer Cabano; the Montreuil liner Iona; the Aberdeen steamer Christophorus and two Welsh trawlers.

KNIVES AND FISTS USED IN CAPTURE OF GERMAN TRENCH

PARIS, June 5.—How French troops crawled through cellars and trenches choked with dead and wounded, and fought with hand grenades, bayonets, knives and even fists in taking the famous Sugar Mill at Souchez from the Germans was told in an "eye-witness" statement. At the conclusion of the fight the French buried 2000 German dead. Three thousand others were captured. The French losses were declared to have been less than a fourth of the Germans.

ALLIES NEAR DECISIVE VICTORY AT DARDANELLES

CHURCHILL SAYS IT WILL MAKE AMENDS FOR ALL FORMER REVERSES.

DUNDEE, Scotland, June 5.—"The allied forces at the Dardanelles are within a few miles of a victory such as this war has not yet seen."

This was the statement of Winston Churchill, former first lord of the admiralty, in addressing a huge crowd attending a patriotic meeting here today.

"When this victory comes," Churchill continued, "it will make amends for all our reverses."

Churchill said he did not believe conception will be necessary in England.

"But if it is impossible to win without it, then I will support conscription," he said.

AGED FARMER SUCCUMBS TO BULLET WOUND FOLLOWING OPERATION; DALE CONTINUES TO MAINTAIN INNOCENCE

Bodies of California Gulch Couple are Brought Here Where Autopsy is Performed--Statement Written by Charles Ogilvie Shortly After Being Fatally Wounded Accuses Lee Dale of the Double Murder--Young Wife of Alleged Slayer Makes Pathetic Figure as She Learns Her Husband is Accused of the Crime.

Succumbing to the bullet wound inflicted by the revolver of Lee Dale Thursday evening, Charles Ogilvie, aged California Gulch farmer, died yesterday evening at Pilot Rock two hours after an operation had been performed upon him. His body and the body of his wife who, too, was a victim of Dale's drunken mania, were brought into the morgue of Coroner Brown and this morning an autopsy was performed by Drs. Parker and Hattery.

The operation developed the fact that the aged man had no chance to survive. The wound had gone so long unattended that gangrene had set in. The intestines had been perforated and one section had to be taken out. Mr. Ogilvie never regained consciousness before he died.

The post-mortem examination was made at the request of District Attorney Steiwer. It was found that the bullet had entered Mrs. Ogilvie's left breast just under the arm and, ranging downward and across the body, had passed through the tip of the heart and lodged on the right side of the body. The bullet was taken out and will be held as evidence. It has not yet been compared with the empty cartridges.

The bullet has not yet been located in the body of Mr. Ogilvie. It did not enter as low down as first reports had said. It entered the body on the right side at the twelfth rib, punctured the intestines in several places and passed through the liver. Its final location was not found.

Dale Maintains Innocence. Dale today still maintains he knows nothing of the shooting beyond what he has been told. This morning he was sober but was still badly shaken by the combined effects of his debauch and the terrible charge against him. When Sheriff Taylor told him of the written statement which the aged farmer left, his only remark might have had it in for me because of the trouble we have had and laid the blame on me?"

There had been more or less trouble between the accused murderer and the two old people. It is said to have been principally over money matters and over the use of the range land although people in the vicinity of Pilot Rock declare there had also been words between them over the attentions paid by Dale to a daughter of the Ogilvies. It is thought probable the fatal quarrel arose over one of these past difficulties. Another theory of the cause of the shooting has also been advanced.

Dale had ridden into Pendleton several days ago and while here sold his saddle horse for $12, so he claims. Through a misadventure with a woman he claimed to have been robbed of nearly all of the money and had become so wrought up over the loss and the lack of any legitimate excuse to make to his wife that he had gone to the district attorney in an effort to recover the money. He began drinking here and continued it in Pilot Rock on the afternoon of Thursday. He purchased a bottle of liquor at the Pilot Rock saloon before leaving for home.

On the way he stopped at the Knotts farm and borrowed a saddle horse which he rode to the Ogilvie ranch. On the way he met James Stubbfield, who discovered the dead body of Mrs. Ogilvie the next morning. Stubbfield was then going to his home to spend the evening.

Some hold the theory that Dale had stopped at the Ogilvie ranch to ask for some money so that he would not have to return home without either his horse or money. They think that his demands upon Mrs. Ogilvie might have precipitated the quarrel which led to the man shooting the aged woman down and then sending a bullet into her husband while he was supporting her.

Thought He Killed Both. It is believed that Dale's subsequent actions which resulted in his being arrested in his own house a mile and a half from the Ogilvie ranch, were determined by his belief that he had killed both the old people, Mr. Ogilvie having fallen beside his wife when shot.

With both dead he might have argued that there would be nothing to direct suspicion against him, in case he went home and spent the night. Had he anticipated that the murder would be charged against him directly, it is believed he would have probably taken to the timber with his rifle or at least offered resistance in his house.

Even before anything was known of the double murder of California Gulch beyond the fact that Mrs. Ogilvie had been found dead, and before any other report had been brought out, the suspicions of District Attorney Steiwer were directed toward Lee Dale. When Sheriff Taylor, en route to the scene of the crime, stopped at Pilot Rock and called upon the district attorney to apprise him of the first reports, Mr. Steiwer advised the sheriff to investigate the actions of Lee Dale.

The surmise of the district attorney was not made at random. He had talked with Dale several times in Pendleton a day or two before the crime, knew that he had left town in a drunken, sullen condition, and knew that he lived near the Ogilvie ranch.

Dale came to Pendleton before the Barnes circus a week ago yesterday and had been staying at a local lodging house. He sold his horse and got $12 for it. Of this amount he claims he was robbed through a clever scheme. A woman in the lodging house asked him to loan it to her for bail over night, he told the district attorney afterwards, and then, when he asked for it back, told him she had spent it.

He carried his story to District Attorney Steiwer who made an investigation. The woman strenuously denied the transaction and her statements were corroborated by several others in the house. Convinced that if he had been robbed, the evidence was not to be had, the district attorney told him he could not regain the money and advised him to go home.

ATTORNEY STEIWER TOLD SHERIFF TO INVESTIGATE DALE

SUSPICIONS AROUSED EVEN BEFORE ANYTHING KNOWN OF DOUBLE MURDER.

Even before anything was known of the double murder of California Gulch beyond the fact that Mrs. Ogilvie had been found dead, and before any other report had been brought out, the suspicions of District Attorney Steiwer were directed toward Lee Dale.
