

CHICAGO STRIKERS ARE BACK AT WORK AFTER SETTLEMENT

Agreement is Reached Between the Employers and Employees of the Surface and Elevated Lines.

TO ARBITRATE DIFFERENCES

Mayor Thompson Will Act As Third Member of Board Which Will Hold Hearings to Adjust Question of Wages—Non-union Men Quit and Strikebreakers Sent Away.

CHICAGO, June 16.—The street car and elevated railway strike was called off at 5 o'clock this morning. 14,000 motormen, conductors and other employees returned to their posts. Officials said full service will be resumed on the elevated and surface lines by noon.

An agreement was reached between strike leaders and officials of the employing companies following an all night conference at the offices of Mayor Thompson. The strikers agreed to return to work at the old wage scale but any change in wages which the negotiations may result in, will date from June 1. Both sides will name an arbitrator within three days. The mayor will be the third member of the arbitration committee which will settle the dispute. Company officials and strikers were given a week to prepare their case and unlimited hearings will then be conducted.

Officials of the elevated lines took off the non-union men today when the union employees threatened to call the strike on again.

In reaching an agreement with the strikers, the company conceded the following points: That the question of officials' salaries should be submitted unreservedly to arbitrators; no men shall be employed for single trips; a full day of 10 hours must be completed within 12 consecutive hours; at least half of the runs must be straight runs and $3 shall be paid for night work of six hours or less.

Early today surface and elevated companies halted the importation of 3000 strikebreakers who were spending from eastern points. They also paid off 6000 others, brought to Chicago since Sunday and placed them aboard trains to return to cities from which they came.

Chautauqua To be Held on Round-Up Grounds This Year

By action of the Chautauqua committee taken this morning it is announced that the Round-up grounds will be used as a place for holding the chautauqua this year. It is argued in behalf of using the park for the purpose that no other location offers so much room for tents and camping purposes, such sanitary conditions and all around requirements.

Inquiries from six different sources have been received regarding the chance for securing camping grounds at the Chautauqua. The selection of the Round-up park for the meetings will provide accommodations for all who desire to come here and camp during the week. There is city water in the park, the sanitary conditions are good and electric lights are available.

Hen Hatches Turtles.

SMITH, Ia., June 16.—A remarkable instance of filial devotion in the lower animals has just come to light here. Lem Macey had an old Rhode Island Red hen named Sairy, which insisted upon setting all the time.

Lem dug out a turtle's nest and found about 20 eggs. He took the eggs home, made a nice nest and put Sairy on them. In due time Sairy hatched out 15 nice, healthy snapping turtles.

School Directors Repudiate View of Landers Case Taken By Certain Local Newspaper

Emphatically repudiating the view of the Pendleton Tribune that Superintendent J. S. Landers was forced out of his position by the board because of his support of prohibition or because of his choice for governor the members of the local school board today issue a signed statement upon the subject. In addition E. L. Smith, the sole democratic member of the board, makes a personal statement contradicting the view that partisan politics entered into the affair. The two statements are as follows:

The Board's Statement.
It ought not to be necessary for the school board to supplement its statement of June 12th, but in view of the attitude of the newspapers and lest our silence be misconstrued, we desire to say that we are not responsible for the interpretation placed by any newspaper on the board's action in accepting the resignation of Mr. Landers.

Unfortunately we have no control over the editorial columns of either of our local papers.

We have said and now repeat emphatically that such action was not induced by his activities for the prohibition cause.

To that statement we will add and with equal emphasis, that such action was not on account of his activities along any other political line, or for or against any candidate for political office.

If Mr. Landers was a political partisan we did not know it. We neither knew nor cared whom he favored for office. Not a word of a political nature ever passed between us. No person knows better than Mr. Landers himself that he was not in any way restricted in action or in speech with respect to his political or personal preferences. The objections against Mr. Landers had to do solely with school management. His case was not unlike that of any other instructor in the schools, and the board in the exercise of its judgment, and in the performance of its duties, concluded that the best interests of the schools would be promoted by the acceptance of his resignation, which as we have said before, was voluntarily filed.

If this be treason, then we are guilty.

W. E. BROCK, Chairman.
J. T. BROWN
G. W. PHELPS

and resent any attempt to deprive Mr. Landers or any other democrat of his political privileges. Long before the campaign was under way last fall Mr. Landers and the board had reached an agreement for the termination of his services at the close of the school year.

Therefore, as a democrat, I repudiate the suggestion by whomsoever made, that Mr. Landers lost his position by reason of his political faith. Nothing can be farther from the truth.
E. L. SMITH.

New Head of the Department of State

Robert Lansing, counselor of the department of state, has succeeded Secretary William J. Bryan in charge of diplomatic affairs of the United States during the crisis which may mean most in its history. Mr. Lansing, who has for some years practiced law in Washington, was born in Waterbury, N. Y., in 1864. He is not unfamiliar with international law, because he acted for the United States in several international complications. Probably the most notable was for the Behring Sea commission in 1892-3 and in 1896-7. He was counsel in the North Atlantic fisheries dispute in 1909 at The Hague. He was counselor for the United States in the British claims arbitration in 1912 and 1914. Mr. Lansing is a writer of some authority. Among the works of his pen are "Government, Its Origin, Growth and Form in the United States."

Campbell got access to the room in the early morning, according to the story, and thinking McGaughey to be asleep, drew his trousers from off the bed and extracted all of the money in them. McGaughey, was not asleep and recognized the intruder before he left the room. He informed the landlord, who summoned the police.

MOTHER CANNOT DEFRAUD DAUGHTER SAYS DECISION

JUDGE PHELPS RULES FOR PLAINTIFF IN WILLIAMS-MURRAY CASE.

A mother may not defraud her daughter. This, virtually, was the substance of the decision handed down this afternoon by Judge Phelps in ruling in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Winnie F. Williams vs. May Murray after testimony had been taken before him.

According to the plaintiff's story, when she was divorced from her husband last March, he gave to her title to the little home which they had just completed near the Walters mill. There was a mortgage of 1915 against it and she needed $162 to satisfy mechanic liens and other debts against it. This, she states, she borrowed from her mother, Mrs. Murray, and to secure her gave her title to the property with the understanding that she would reconvey the property when the money was returned. Later, she declares she stood ready to return the borrowed money but defendant refused to return the title to the property.

Mrs. Murray claimed that her

SPECIAL ENVOY IS ALLEGED TO HAVE BEEN GERMAN SPY

New York Tribune Declares Dr. Gerhard got Information on Preparedness of United States.

IS FRIEND OF BERNSTORFF

Guaranteed Safe Conduces to Berlin As Embassy of German Ambassador—In Reality He is Alfred Meyer, Chief of Germany's Army Supply Division, Says Newspaper.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The New York Tribune charged today that Dr. Meyer Gerhard, who was guaranteed safe conduct to Germany as an emissary of Ambassador Von Bernstorff, is in reality Dr. Alfred Meyer, privy councillor and chief of Germany's army supply division. While in this country he attempted to purchase supplies and collected valuable information regarding the military preparedness of the United States, the Tribune alleges.

The Tribune's story carries the inference that Von Bernstorff and attaches of the German embassy were parties to the deception. The charges made by the Tribune could not be confirmed.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—"Possible, but improbable," was the verdict of official Washington upon the story published by the New York Tribune, alleging that Dr. Meyer Gerhard, who visited the United States as a Red Cross agent was in reality Dr. Alfred Meyer, chief of the supply division of the German army. Acting Secretary of State Lansing and Mr. Bryan disclaimed knowledge of the alleged facts contained in the Tribune's story.

Lansing intimated an investigation might be made, but added that even though the charges were true, they constituted no violation of the law. Such deception would only be a discourtesy, it was stated.

"At the request of Ambassador Von Bernstorff a letter was given Gerhard," said Lansing, "stating he had been in this country as a red cross representative and desired to return to Germany. If Gerhard in reality was the purchasing agent and an investigator for the German government, the hoax, of which the administration was made the victim, is complete."

NEW YORK, June 16.—Attaches of the German embassy declared false the story printed in the Tribune. "The story is pure tommyrot," said Counselor Von Haimhausen.

U-21 Sank Lusitania.
LONDON, June 16.—Submarine U-21 sank the Lusitania according to the Elsinore, Denmark, correspondent of the Evening Star.

Had Faith in Ship's Speed.
LONDON, June 16.—Before the Lusitania inquiry today, S. A. Booth, chairman of the board of directors of the Cunard line, corroborated the statement of Captain Turner that only 19 of the liner's 25 boilers were working on the last trip. This was due, Booth said, to an order to save operating expenses, as there was a heavy decrease in travel due to the war. Booth said he believed that even at the reduced speed the Lusitania would be too fast for submarines.

Young Ladies Enthusiastic in Contest to Sell Tickets for the Local Chautauqua

Intense enthusiasm is being evidenced at two of Pendleton's leading merchandise establishments as the young ladies of the stores contend for honors in the "Chocolate Box Chautauqua Season Ticket" competitive contest. Much rivalry has developed within the last few days. Each morning finds the young ladies vying with one another to sell the greatest number of chautauqua season tickets.

Luring Prices offered.
The girl selling the greatest number of tickets in either store is to get one of the big boxes of "Chautauqua Chocolates" being given as a prize by the chautauqua committee. The two stores are competing against each other for total sales, also. The young lady selling the most tickets, irrespective of her store, is to get an additional box of candy.

"Just you watch us get that prize," stated one of the blue-eyed misses from the Peoples Warehouse today. "We are after those Chautauqua Chocolates and intend to win them."

"No chance," is reply.

"No chance to win 'em," retorted a pett little clerk from the Alexander Department Store. "We are going to win 'em all and you better watch out." To make good her intentions she disposed of two of her tickets to a bystander.

"With such enthusiasm as that in the air I could not help but get in the game," stated the buyer.

Committee Pleased.
"We are indeed pleased with the work the young ladies are doing," stated one of the Chautauqua committeemen this morning. "The girls have entered the contest in the right spirit and are doing their level best to make the chautauqua here a real live week of fun and education."
