OLD CHAMPION HOLDS METROPOLITAN GOLF TITLE

Miss Lillian B. Hyde.

Outplaying her opponent in all departments of the game, Miss Lillian B. Hyde, of the South Shore Field Club, easily retained her grip on the title by defeating Mrs. Joseph E. Davis, of Piping Rock, 4 up and 3 to play in the decisive round of the Women's Metropolitan Golf Association championship tournament at the Sleepy Hollow Country Club, Long Island.

This makes the fourth time that Miss Hyde has won the Metropolitan, and unless someone with a game a great deal better than anything shown comes along, it will probably be quite a while before the Long Island girl's supremacy in her district will be placed in jeopardy.

Miss Hyde's best shots were made in the early stages of the match and nothing better was seen than her beautiful three at the first. A long drive and a full iron left her a putt of scarcely two feet, which she made for a 2. This hole is 228 yards long and was none too easy because of the adverse wind. For the first four holes Miss Hyde never gave her opponent a chance. The champion won the second in 4 and the next in five. Mrs. Davis over-approaching. At 4 up the hill to the fourth was entirely too much for the Piping Rock woman. This made Mrs. Davis 4 down. She halved the short fifth and won the next when Miss Hyde topped her drive into trouble.

After Miss Hyde won the seventh, she halved the next two, so that the champion turned for home 4 up, going out in 42 to her opponent's 47.

Miss Hyde's driving was faulty coming back, but, so she easily held the other, who made frequent mistakes, besides failing to get anything like normal distance through the fairway. Miss Hyde won the tenth easily, 19 to 7; halved the next, but lost the twelfth, which she attempted to play safely. Miss Hyde also messed up the short thirteenth, which her opponent won in 4 to 5. Miss Hyde was then only 3 up. She topped her drives from the next two tees, got a half in 5 at number 14, and won the fifteenth when Mrs. Davis approached wrongly, and wound up by taking 3 putts. That ended matters, Miss Hyde's margin being 4 to 3.

College Aim of Students. OREGON CITY, June 15.—More than 20 per cent of the graduates of the 1915 class of the Oregon City high school, the largest in the history of the institution, will go to college, according to the estimates of F. J. S. Toose, city superintendent of schools. The class, composed of 45 students, received their diplomas at the Shiloh opera house. City Superintendent Toose acted as chairman of the commencement exercises, and Dr. A. L. Beattie, chairman of the board of school directors, presented the diploma.

Mr. Toose finds that the two state schools, the University of Oregon and the Oregon Agricultural College, are by far the most popular with the graduates. Several will take up teaching with the opening of schools in the fall, while three or four will complete their education in eastern colleges.

TIRED OF LIFE Constant Backache and Rheumatism

Foley Kidney Pills fixed up Texas brakeman who's good as ever. Almost down and out with kidney trouble, rheumatism so bad he could scarcely get up when he sat down, back ached all the time. No wonder Mr. F. A. Wooley, brakeman on the road from Dallas to Jackson, Texas, "was tired of living." I saw Foley Kidney Pills advertised, he said, "I took some and after a short time I was thoroughly cured and am having no more trouble. Your kidney pills will disappear—and with them the backache and rheumatism, by the use of Foley's Kidney Pills. Once your kidneys become strong and active, aches and pains will disappear like magic. There's nothing to equal the genuine. Will help any case of kidney or bladder trouble not beyond the reach of medicine. Contains no harmful drugs. 25¢ box. Sold Everywhere.

Pioneers Have Seen Transition

(Address by Col. J. M. Bentley, President of Umatilla County Pioneer Association, given at Weston June 11.)

Mr. Mayor:—In replying to your happy and hearty words of welcome, I will only say a few words on behalf of the pioneers of Umatilla county and myself.

We meet here from year to year and find a great deal of pleasure in greeting the friends and companions of those days long since gone by, and yet there is a certain degree of sadness mingled with the gladness as we look around for the facts that greeted us on former occasions and the knowledge comes to us that they, too, have gone to join other friends on the "other shore."

Year by year the roll call becomes shorter on this side of the dark river and more lengthy on the other as one by one our friends cross to that country from which none return to tell us of their experience on that trail.

We, who still remain on this side of the "Great Divide," gather here from time to time and can relate our several experiences and talk about those early days when, with the bloom of youth still upon our cheeks, we bade the old home east of the great Rocky mountains adieu and began the long trail across the great plains with all our hopes centered in the "Land of the Golden West." We can recall the many scenes by the old campfires, some sad, some serious, some pleasant, some interesting, and some exceedingly funny, but all incidents that go to make up the great book of life which tells of the conquest of the great western empire along the horse of the Pacific ocean.

Not many years ago I made a trip back to the old home and revisited the scenes of former days. As I rode along on the spring, plush covered seats of the Union Pacific coach, and passed many of the places hallowed in my memory by that first journey, when as a young man I had passed by, covering the same ground with the slow plodding, but faithful ox-team, my mind could not help thinking of some of the changes which time and men wrought, not only in the "Golden West" but all along the Indian warrior, decked out in barbaric splendor, the fast disappearing buffalo and the prairie wolf held full sway, now splendid farms are contributing their part of the world's support and furnishing homes for the generations soon to take our places on the scene of action. Where the pioneers made their evening campfires of the earlier days and guards were placed on duty to watch the stock and sound the alarm on the approach of the enemy, today the fires are only builded by "weary Willies," who lie down on the green grass for a night's rest after a big feed of "mulligan," the "makings" of which have been pilfered from the neighboring gardens and nearby hen roosts. They can sleep secure with none to stand guard for the pioneers have cleared the trail of night marauders, except their own kind.

Friends and neighbors, after spending 54 years on the Pacific coast, 44 of which have been spent in this county, I think I am justified in calling myself a pioneer, though I realize that many are still living whose personal record is greater in years, yet, with you, my friends and neighbors, I have lived long enough in this county to see our fair country pass from the bunch grass stage to the state of the early homesteader, and then to the rich and highly productive farms we see on every hand. We have witnessed the passing away of the ox-team freighters and stage coach, and the steel rail and the locomotive come to haul away our products and to hasten us along in luxury on its plush cushions and today we are watching another transition, and we see the locomotive slowly giving way to the powerful automobile and the hard-surfaced roads, and no doubt many of our children will still be here when the 5-cylinder gas wagon will be superceded by the swift flying aeroplane.

As in the progress of transportation, so in everything else, and even we, who take the name of "pioneers," and tell of the great things we once did, are rapidly being pushed aside and in a few short years we shall live only in the memories of our friends, and even the things we have helped to do, the battles we have fought, the laurels we have won, will be forgotten and blotted out of remembrance by the things our successors will be doing. But friends, while we may be forgotten as individuals and the work we have personally done be swallowed up in the history of the great northwest, yet we have the foundation, and no matter how great the structure the future may build it must rest upon the foundation placed by the pioneers, of which you and I, friends, are part and parcel.

With these things in mind and fully realizing that the glories of our past achievements are rapidly being pushed aside to give room for still greater advancement in the affairs of our great Inland Empire, I wish again to thank you, Mr. Mayor, and the good people of Weston, for the welcome you have so generously extended to the 24th annual gathering of the Umatilla County Pioneers' Association.

LEADER IN "SILENCE" PROTEST.

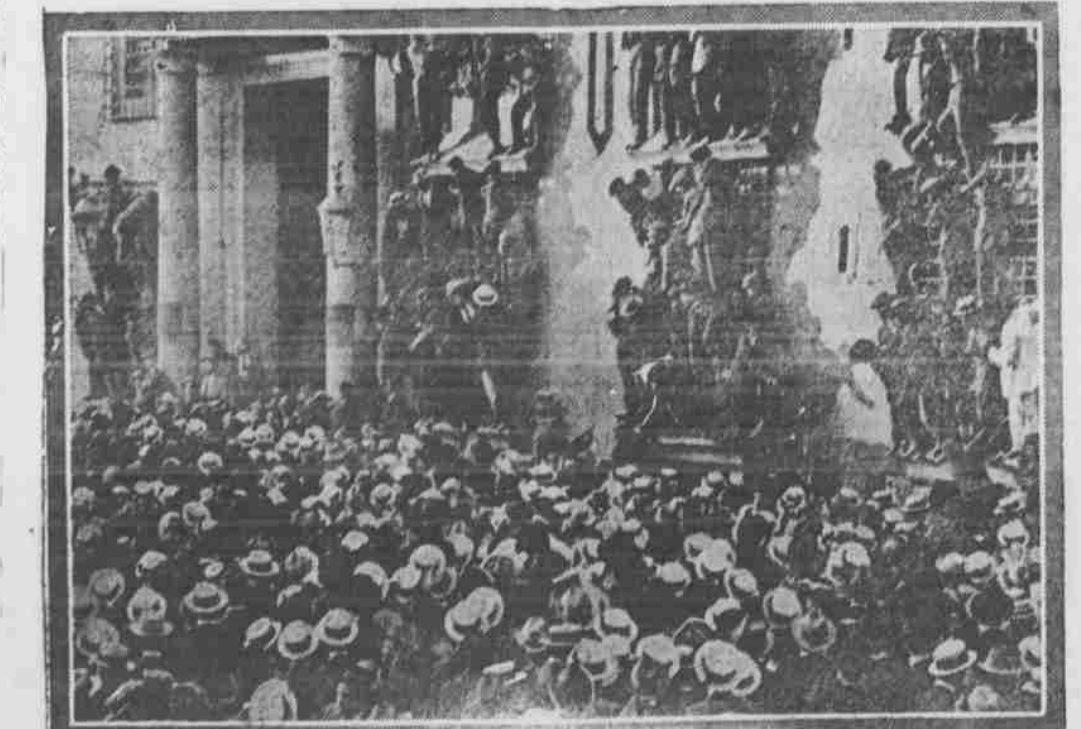

In furtherance of the cause of suffrage a group of attractive-looking college women went to the federal building in New York and gave the honorable United States district court a "silence" protest as the court made citizens. The young women represented the College Equal Franchise League, which decided upon the novel expedient of a speechless campaign against the discrimination which would give citizenship to foreign born men and withhold it from American women. The delegation, headed by Mrs. Charles L. Tiffany, president of the College Equal Franchise League, attended the naturalization proceedings. Not a word did they say. They sat in silent protest. Their attitude said: "Compare these foreign-born specimens with us; honest to goodness, how can you do it?" Mrs. Charles L. Tiffany.

Crew Drifts Five Days.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 16.—The loss of the bark Matanzas, bound from Norfolk to a Spanish port with coal, is announced in a letter received from Captain A. H. Gray of the schooner Bayard Barnes, which arrived at Para, Brazil, from Norfolk recently.

The Bayard Barnes picked up a boat containing Captain Harry Nuss of the Matanzas, the steward and one man. They were absolutely helpless, having been long adrift and five days without water. The other sailors had perished from privation. Captain Gray says the bark was lost in a gale.

ITALIAN CROWDS DEMANDING WAR OUTSIDE CHAMBER OF DEPUTIES

This photograph bears out the news shows a part of the crowd of 50,000 outside the lower house of the Italian parliament when the war measures were being voted on. So fierce was the enthusiasm of the Italians that they climbed the windows of the building to watch the proceedings.

Athletes' Hanks Thinned.
PARIS, June 15.—War has considerably reduced the number of French athletes. Their champion association football team, winner of the cup of the Association Sportive Francaise, has had all but one of its men in the firing line. Four players were killed, two severely wounded, and of the remaining four, one has received the Legion of Honor and the other the military medal. Bon Remy, captain of the team, has been trepanned twice and exempted from further military service.

The Association Sporting Perpignanaise the rugby champions of France, has had six out of 15 men killed. Among the athletes fallen in battle are Jean Bouin, holder of the world's hour record for running; Gaston Lema, captain of the French international rugby team, and Francois Faber, the best professional road cyclist in France.
