Women Make Munitions. STOCKHOLM, June 25.—How female labor figures in Russia's organization of her industries for the production of munitions is told by Thomas Stephens, of a large American engineering firm.

I saw hundreds of women at work on lathes, drilling machines and stamping-out machines. The manager told me that the women's labor was just as efficient as that of the men."

BUSINESS IS BETTER TODAY THAN FOR ANY TIME IN MANY YEARS

CONFIDENCE IS HERE AND IS WIDESPREAD AND RAPIDLY EXPANDING.

Current Conditions Is Not Yet Strong, Says In War Channels, But Already There Is Active Planning and the Starting of New Things, Declares Writer.

BY CHARLES W. SCOVEL. (Written for the United Press.) PITTSBURGH, Pa., June 25.—Business conditions are undoubtedly far better today than for a long time. Of course the current is not yet strong, save in war order channels. In many lines little improvement in actual results has yet been measured. But confidence is here. It is widespread now, and is expanding. People feel that a general forward movement is already well under way. Watchful waiting for whatever may turn up is at an end. It has been replaced by active planning and the starting of things. The only eye now watchful is that seeking an empty handwagon seat in the prosperity procession.

This is confirmed by what I learn from life insurance men—from company heads down to the agent circulating upon an industrial route. I consider it an extremely substantial basis upon which to generalize. The life insurance agents in their respective lines reach every class of people; few can so soon sense a return of business assurance and pulse its probable trend.

Certainly this is not a case of "the wish being father to the thought" for last year's poor conditions in the Pittsburgh district did not prevent new policies for $25,000,000 being placed here.

That was a substantial gain over any previous year.

It was not all "big" insurance. The small "industrial" policy and the income and endowment policies written in four, five or six figures were represented, each of them, by increases.

The small endowment and income policies probably showed the greatest increase above normal.

Herein, it might be said, is to be found strong evidence:

(1) That the business depression was, as a certain well known leader of our national thought and action has said, largely "psychological."

(2) That thrift has been greatly encouraged by the examples of hard times within our own country and by the smoke and ruin of war abroad.

The man who in the course of hard times can even be successfully urged to put his money into a policy that will protect his family against his death or a certain number of years and protect him by income should he survive the number of years for which it is written has alone no firm faith in luck. He must see for himself that beneath the quicksands of business uncertainty there is such a sure foundation that when his next premium comes due conditions will have surely been restored toward normal that he will be able to meet it.

One of the notable things is that the thrift encouraged by hard times has developed the fact that those practicing it have shown supreme faith in our business institutions. There is nothing new in the manner in which thrift has manifested itself; people have always managed to save more in hard times than in good. But the old tendency to distrust of custodian institutions was, in the last year, encouragingly absent. The people not only did not lose faith in those institutions and return all that they had to the loose brick in the hearth or the secret niche in the garret, but with the admirable spirit retained faith in their investments throughout.

Kaiser Has 18 New Corps.
ZURICH, Switzerland, June 25.—According to an authoritative military source, Germany will be able to place 18 more army corps in the field by the end of July. These are composed chiefly of the second category of the landstrum, comprising men who have never performed military service, but who are in training and inland reserves who have been resting in the interior of Germany.
It is calculated that these new corps will about equal in number the exhausted troops returning from Galicia to whom partial rest will be granted, doing service as inland reserves.

GOOD solid tobacco comfort
—like you've wanted all your life. "Right-Cut" is the Real Tobacco Chew.

Gives you the fine satisfying taste of sappy, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough. Easiest chew to handle—no grinding. You tuck away a small chew and let the taste come nice and steady just as you want it.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.
It is a ready chew, cut fine and short so that you won't have to grind it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary casual tobacco makes you spit too much.
The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

ITCHING, BLISTERED SKIN-ERUPTION ALL HIS LIFE, NOW CURED

Nov. 19, 1914.—"All my life, until about a year ago, I was troubled with blisters and sores over my entire body. The itching and burning was terrible, and I could hardly sleep. I used many treatments that were unsuccessful and did not give me any relief. I started using Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and they helped me wonderfully. I WAS RELIEVED AT ONCE, and after about two dozen applications I can say that I was free and cured of that awful disease. My skin now is as clear as anybody's."—(Signed) Geo. Whiteber, Jr., R. F. D. No. 54, Caledonia, N. Y. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists.

IS YOUR TOILET SOAP SAFE?
