Tells of Kansas Harvest.

Secretary Cranston of the Commercial association received a letter this morning telling of harvest conditions in Kansas, the greatest wheat-producing state in the union.

The letter was from Clyde Ludington, a harvest hand who had been at Nampa and who had written from there to the secretary asking conditions there. He had returned to Wilson, Kansas, before receiving Mr. Cranston's reply. Owing to late rains and cool weather, harvests which usually start in Kansas the middle of June, was delayed a couple of weeks, he writes, and consequently there were herds of idle men gathered in every farm community. Every train brought in about 200 underneath and on tops of cars, he states. In Wilson one day he counted 129 idle men within one block on the Wilson streets. These men, during the period of waiting, "juniated" but on Sundays the churches fed all who attended services. Most of the harvesting in Kansas is done by the header, he writes, and pitchers re-

"New dances and free love literature crazed my husband," said the wife, who bears him no animosity. "Even now my heart goes out in pity for him for the hours and days in which he must pay. Then I, the woman should be at his side to comfort him in his time of trial which will be out of his reach forever."

Saloon Burial is Joyous.

MOOREHEAD, Minn., July 12.—Moorehead buried its saloons and 8,000 persons attended the obsequies. Bursting of giant firecrackers, sky-rockets illuminating the heavens, streets crowded beyond traffic control, sidewalks lined with thousands of pedestrians, incessant ringing of bells in buffets, frequent explosions of torpedoes and turning of the clocks backward characterized the passing of 34 saloons.

GROCERIA IS LATEST PLAN IN CALIFORNIA

VENICE, Cal., July 9.—"John, go down to the grocery and get the provisions," So speaks Mrs. John in Venice, and John dons his hat, ambles to the grocery around the corner, picks up a market basket from a pile by the door and passes down the counter, picking up here a parcel of tea or sugar, and there a pound of coffee or a dozen eggs. When he has filled Mrs. John's order, he walks to the cashier, pays his bill and trudges homeward.

Southern California, where the cafeteria is found in its primitive, native state, is believed to have developed the first grocery, which admittedly is modeled after its prolific omnipresent cousin. Groceries are ready in parcels for purchasers with the amount penciled on the packages. You help yourself. Its proprietors claim that, because of the lack of necessity of salesmen or delivery boys the grocery's prices are lower than those of the standard store.

If you have observed any of these things, your sight needs the aid of correctly adopted glasses to assist as well as preserve it.

Accurately fitted glasses are only possible when the sight has been scientifically tested.

We have every facility for doing this and exercise the greatest care so that you may receive the utmost benefit from wearing glasses.

A thorough examination and explanation of your condition will cost you nothing.
