AMERICANS AT LARGE DESIRE COUNTRY TO KEEP AWAY FROM WAR

DESPITE DIPLOMATIC TENSION, AVERAGE CITIZEN WANTS PEACE

President Must Be Urged Not to Rescind Seen Hostile Preparations Toward Germany Over Sinking of the Lusitania—New Yorkers Pay $12,000,000 in Taxes.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The effect of the latest exchange of views between Washington and Berlin upon the relations of the United States and Germany has continued to monopolize attention and discussion.

While there is practical unanimity that the president must be upheld the time that has elapsed since the sinking of the Lusitania has brought one fact with impressive force. This is that the man in the street does not want to see the United States involved in war with any of the European belligerents.

Criticism of Germany's note is general but the average man holds that there are two sides to every question and that calm consideration of this fact should lead to a friendly understanding. The clamor of pro-Germans and pro-allies does not shake him in his desire that America should use every effort to remain on terms of friendship with all the countries now at war.

To avoid the payment of interest, taxpayers of New York heaped nearly $12,000,000 into the city treasury one day this week. Of this amount, the largest single payment was made by the New York Central Railroad company, which sent a check to the office of the receiver of taxes for $1,894,199.87. The next largest amount came from the Pennsylvania railroad company, which paid $869,644.81. These payments, however, covered only the taxes paid by these companies on property owned by them in the Borough of Manhattan. Throughout the day hundreds of persons stood in line and the recording of their payments required the services of a large corps of extra clerks. It was the last day on which tax payment might be made without interest charges being made by the city.

When the business day ended it was estimated that payments in the Borough of Manhattan, amounted to between $8,000,000 and $10,000,000. At the same time it was estimated that taxpayers in the Borough of Brooklyn paid more than $1,000,000, and nearly $1,000,000 more paid by property owners in the Bronx, Richmond and Queens boroughs.

Gold mining in mid air was the unusual spectacle which Wall street was treated during the week. Stretched at the end of a rope in a boatman's chair from the roof of an adjoining skyscraper, a workman kept busily engaged for hours scraping buckets of gold laden silt from the flues of the old United States Assay office, which is now being razed. With true Wall street instinct, the large crowd which had been attracted by the sight of the man at work in the air, immediately sensed the meaning of his labors. As the buckets were lowered to them to catch a glimpse of the glittering refuse. The assay office, which was built in 1822, is being torn down to permit the erection of a new and larger building. Its principal work was the testing of gold and the refining of old coins and jewelry into bullion. In order to extract the last speck of gold which the building might contain before turning it over to the contractors, government officials had the floors of the refinery and other rooms torn up and burned.

The ashes were then subject to treatment in order to extract whatever gold was in them. It is claimed that in the floors of the refinery alone $1500 was recovered. In spite of these official precautions it is said that the demolition of the building has proved a little gold mine to the contractors, who have found gold dust in all sorts of unsuspected places.

The success of the department of education's campaign for a dental hygiene week was proven a few days ago when 700,000 school boys and girls in the city schools appeared in their classes with individual tooth brushes. In an effort to secure the individual tooth brush for each boy and girl, teachers in all of the schools have suggested to their pupils that they forgo candy and ice cream sodas and save the money to buy tooth brushes. Many department and drug stores throughout the city took notice of the campaign by holding special sales where a regular tooth brush costing 15 cents was sold for 5 cents and higher priced brushes proportionately. In all the public schools there was a careful inspection of both brushes and teeth. When the inspecting teacher found a boy or girl whose teeth needed dental attention, the child was sent to the nearest clinic or dentist. As a result of the campaign, several school principals are considering the advisability of insisting that the teeth of all graduating pupils must be in good condition before they receive their diplomas. In many of the schools the boys and girls in all the classes have voluntarily written compositions on the care of the teeth. One six year old boy submitted the following: "Every morning I brush my teeth. If they are not clean I will have the tooth-ache. At night I brush them before I go to bed." Which goes to show that this youngster has grasped the correct idea of caring for his teeth.

HOW TO HEAL SKIN-DISEASES

A Baltimore doctor suggests this simple, but reliable and inexpensive, home treatment for people suffering with eczema, ringworm, rashes and similar itching, burning skin troubles.

At any reliable druggist's get a jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap. These will not cost a bit more than seventy-five cents. With the resinol soap and warm water bathe the affected parts thoroughly, until they are free from crusts and the skin is softened. Dry very gently, spread on a thin layer of the resinol ointment, and cover with a light bandage—if necessary to protect the clothing. This should be done twice a day. Usually the distressing itching and burning stop with the first treatment, and the skin soon becomes clear and healthy again.

A HINT FOR SHAVERS
If you want a refreshing shave, with a thick, creamy lather, try a resinol shaving stick. It contains the soothing, healing resinol medication which makes it especially welcome to men with tender faces.

Thought Buzzer a Bomb.

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 19.—Herman Wassermann, registering from New York, arrived at the Saint Paul Hotel late. So he was still sleeping at 2:30 the next morning when repairmen came to work on his telephone.

The repairmen were given a key and entering the dignified German's room, strung a wire without waking him.

Repairmen have a "buzzer" which they attach to a wire working on upper floors. Then they go to the basement to make the connections, and the buzz tells them they have connected the right wire. This line-man did.

Wassermann was awakened by a funny looking little thing buzzing in the middle of his room. The president's note to Germany, the sinking of the Lusitania, and the proximity to the Canadian border all occurred to him at the same time.

WANT PARCEL POST TO INCLUDE PHOTOGRAPHS
INDIANAPOLIS, July 13.—Two thousand photographers who met here today in the first session of the thirty-fifth convention of the photographers' association of America, announced it as their intention to work for a more liberal application of the parcel post to include photographs. Representative photographers declared that there was no adequate reason why photographs should not be sent at the lower rate.

Second only to the fight for the parcel post was the effort to start a movement towards a change of the copyright laws as applied to photography. The camera men and women will work for a new law that will allow them to copyright all the negatives of one sitting for one fee. This measure would protect the work of reputable and high grade photographers, they explained.

"Suppose six negatives are taken," explained a photographer. "Unless all six are copyrighted, the subject can buy a proof from one of them and have it reproduced by a cheap man."

Women formed a large percentage of the delegates.
