The above lines should look exactly alike to you with each eye separately when held at arm's length, and you should be able to read the fine print below with comfort when held at 14 inches.

Caution About Use and Selection of Spectacles
Persons having normal vision will be able to read this print at a distance of 14 inches from the eye with ease and comfort, and will be able to read it with each eye separately. If unable to do so your eyes are defective and should have immediate attention. When the eyes become tired from reading or sewing, or if the letters look blurred or run together, it is a sure indication that glasses are needed. The lenses add to the sharpness of the objects seen and have a restful effect on the eyes. Continued use of these lenses will result in greater injury from the constant strain upon the muscles of accommodation to supply defects in the eyes.
