ERIE'S FLOOD LOSS FROM CLOUDBURST PUT AT $3,000,000

MANY MORE ARE BELIEVED TO BE DEAD THAN WHAT HAVE BEEN RECOVERED.

Three Hundred Houses and Fifty Stores Have Been Swept Away—Will Take Days to Close Streets of Debris from Wrecked Buildings—Trains Are Released.

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 5.—Erie had lost 27 dead in the mile-long wreckage strewn path through the heart of the city, swept by Tuesday night's flood. Little impression was made on the vast amount of wreckage, piled in places 100 feet high, and believed by the coroner and others to conceal as many more victims. The work of recovery will be slow. It may take a week to turn over the debris. Damage estimated at $2,000,000. The early estimate of property loss placed at $2,000,000, was not changed by Fire Chief McMahon after he had received reports from big manufacturing plants in the flood zone. He said that 200 houses and 50 store buildings were demolished by the waters of Mill creek, sent out of its bank by a cloudburst and the bursting of the Glenwood dam. The city's loss on damaged culverts, bridges and the water supply plant will be heavy.

35 Trains Are Released.
The Lake Shore Railway was able to resume its through passenger service between New York and Chicago. 35 trains stalled on the outskirts of this city getting away. Light and power plants resumed operations, but telephone and telegraph communication with the outside world was still subject to much delay.

Three morgues in widely separated sections of the flood zone were besieged by thousands throughout the day. Men, women and children watched the searchers and when they saw a body uncovered would rush to the morgue to which it was taken to learn if it was that of a missing one. Then all but a few would return to their vigil at the ravine.

Despondency Due to Indigestion.
"About three months ago when I was suffering from indigestion which caused headache and dizzy spells and made me feel tired and despondent, I began taking Chamberlain's Tablets," writes Mrs. Geo. Hon. Macedon, N. Y. "This medicine proved to be the very thing I needed, as one day's treatment relieved me greatly. I used two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and they rid me of this trouble." ### HOSPITAL PATIENT LEAPS FROM BOAT INTO LAKE AND DROWNS

MAUCON, Mo., Aug. 2.—Robert Washington of West Point, Miss., a patient at the osteopathic hospital for the treatment of nervous troubles on the old Bless Military Academy grounds, was drowned in the lake near the main hospital building yesterday afternoon.

Washington, while a patient at the hospital, was not considered in a serious condition. He was permitted to go boating with his father and mother. Hospital authorities said that he jumped from the boat before his parents could restrain him. His body was recovered several hours later by Harry M. Rubey, president of the Rubey Trust Co., who dragged the lake and made many dives before he located it.

HARPOONS BOUNCE OFF THIS WHALE'S BACK

TACOMA, Aug. 2.—Chief Makah of the Neah Indian tribe was told last week by a steamship captain that two large whales were blowing off Tatoosh Island. After proper ceremonies Makah and his braves embarked in a sea-going canoe. Arriving at the hunting grounds, they saw not whales but suddenly a black back appeared near by. Two harpoons thrown by Whale Killer, the expert harpoonist, bounced from the whale's back and the Indians were recalling charms against the old-time whale-god, when the back of the "whale" opened and an English officer appeared to ask what they meant by harpooning his submarine.

OSTEOPATHS CLAIM OPERATIONS CAN BE LARGELY AVOIDED

KNIFE SOMETIMES NECESSARY STEPS ALSO ARE A CON- APPENDICITIS.

Out of 500 Different Cases Reported at Annual Convention by Speaker, Only Seven Were Operated Upon—Specific Spinal Center Treated for Appendicitis.

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 4.—This was surgical day at the annual convention of the American Osteopathic Society. Although admitting that the knife is sometimes necessary in appendicitis, Dr. J. Foster McNary of Milwaukee, a well known osteopathic surgeon, claimed that proper osteopathic treatment in selected cases, prevented the necessity of surgical treatment in more than the majority of patients and that osteopathic treatment between attacks often permanently cures chronic cases by preventing recurrence.

Out of 550 cases reported by one speaker today, operation was necessary in only seven.

The osteopaths claim to have discovered a specific spinal center for direct treatment to the appendix. This is the eleventh dorsal segment. They claimed today that osteopathic treatment at this point caused a constriction of the muscles of the appendix, resulting in expelling the inflammation. The speaker reported control of conscious pain in these cases in from one to two days.

"The Mayo of Osteopathy," Dr. George Still of Kirksville, Mo., surgeon in chief of the hospital of the American School of Osteopathy, discussed "Obstruction of Bile Passages Not Due to Neoplasms." Dr. Still claims that in many cases the bile duct may be relaxed by spinal treatment sufficiently to give relief without interference by the knife.

Dr. George Conley of Kansas City, an osteopathic surgeon whose specialty is abdominal surgery, read a paper upon acute abdominal conditions.

EASIER TO GRAB CHILDREN THAN TO FIGHT

ROLAND & PAUL ONFRROY

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Mrs. Kathleen Onfrroy, who stormed the home of Mrs. B. K. Peck in Cobb, Conn., Saturday, and drove away with her two children is believed to be hiding with them somewhere in New Jersey. Through her attorney she issued a statement that she would fight for the possession of her children to the last ditch. The children were taken to the Peck home while the mother was in the House of the Good Shepherd, to which she had been committed for three years by Magistrate McQuade on complaint of her husband, Roland D. Onfrroy. The charge was drunkenness.

Mrs. Onfrroy obtained her release from the home and then came the sensational kidnaping of the children. She had instituted habeas corpus proceedings but was unwilling for the lengthy process of the law to take its course, so choose the method of grabbing them and making off in a high power motor car.

It is expected that Onfrroy, who is a millionaire and manager of the United Five and Ten Cent stores will get a writ for the children. He has instituted separation proceedings against his wife. In fighting this suit Mrs. Onfrroy will endeavor to show that the charge on which she was sent to the Home of the Good Shepherd was without foundation.

A divided residence for the children Roland, four, and Paul one, may be the outcome of the case.

through the channel of diplomacy, it will insist that meanwhile Germany refrain from violation of what the United States contends are its rights.

The entire dispute revolves about Article 13 of the Prussian-American treaty of 1799, which was revived and included in the treaty of 1828. That article, the United States contends, specifically protected the William P. Frye from being sunk, although it did not protect a contraband cargo. Germany takes precisely an opposite view contending that the article only obligates her to pay damages.

Ship Held Liable to Confiscation.

Furthermore, Germany replies that as the Frye's cargo of wheat destined to England was contraband, the ship was liable to confiscation, and that as an attempt to take the prize into a German port would have imperiled her captor, the destruction of the Frye "was according to general principles of international law."

"The right of sinking," says the German note, "is not mentioned in the treaty, and is therefore neither expressly permitted nor expressly prohibited, so that on this point the party stipulations must be supplemented by the general rules of international law. It is not disputed by the American government that according to the general principles of international law a belligerent is authorized in sinking neutral vessels under almost any conditions, for carrying contraband."

German Interpretation Presented.

The note argues at length for the German interpretation of the disputed treaty provision, contending that its intent is to establish a reasonable compromise between the military interests of the belligerent contracting party and the commercial interests of the neutral party.

"On the one hand," says the note, "the belligerent party is to have the right to prevent the transportation of war supplies to his adversaries, even when carried on vessels of the neutral party; on the other hand the commerce and navigation of the neutral party is to be interfered with as little as possible by the measures necessary for such prevention and reasonable compensation is to be paid for any inconvenience or damage which may, nevertheless, ensue from the proceedings of the belligerent party."

That, in short, is Germany's argument, based on her interpretation of the treaty, and to that the view of the United States is squarely opposite. Payment for the Frye in the manner suggested would not affect the question of rights under the treaty.

A German prize court on July 10 held the imperial government for damages, but fixed no amount, since the United States declined to become a party to the proceeding, but demanded settlement by diplomacy under the treaty.

The case of the American steamer Leelanaw, recently sunk by a German submarine, is parallel to the Frye case. It now is in the preliminary stages of diplomatic negotiation.

FOREIGN DRIVERS ARE CARRYING OFF PRIZES

CHICAGO, Aug. 2.—Yankee drivers today have given up any idea that they may have about easy pickings in the big American auto races. The war, which caused so many of the crack French drivers to enlist, raised the hopes of American drivers that American prize money would be captured by themselves.

But their hopes were vain for the foreign drivers have just kept coming. In the last three big races, Dario Resta, the Anglo-Italian has copied first prize in two and second in the other.

This is a country of easy money for foreign drivers. In the last two years, the Europeans have won $124,000, or more than half of the purses strung up by the Speedway promoters at Indianapolis and Chicago.

Jules Goux, the dare-devil Frenchman, started it by taking the Indiana 500-mile derby at the Indianapolis Speedway in 1912. During the same year four other pilots crossed the water and when they got through they had a total of $24,500 out of $50,000 hung up.

The following year was even more profitable. They gobbled nearly everything. Fully four-fifths of the $50,000 Indianapolis Speedway purse was taken by the foreigners. Rene Thomas, another death daring Frenchman, made the big haul. He got $20,000.

This year was merely a repetition of the former years. Resta was over the line first in the Vanderbilt Cup race at Elrico. For this he received $12,500, and he took another $10,000 at Indianapolis for second place. He crowned all his efforts by winning the Chicago Derby, smashing all 200, 300, 400 and 500-mile records, and winning a prize of $23,000. This makes a total $45,000 Resta has won

FARMERS SHOOT MEN WHO TRIED BLACKMAIL

CHICAGO, July 31.—Fifteen farmers mounted and armed with rifles and shotguns, captured two alleged blackmailers near Matteson, after a running battle of a mile, in which both men were shot and dangerously wounded.

The men, who gave their names as William Anker, a horse dealer in South Holland, and Henry Molankow, a bartender in Thornton, are in danger of death at the Chicago Heights Hospital. Both were shot through the shoulders with rifle balls, and their backs riddled with pellets from shotguns.

Some days ago Louis Myers, a wealthy farmer living three miles from Matteson, received a threatening letter, demanding that he place $500 in a hollow stump at the crossroads near his home on July 12. Failure to comply with the demands, the letter read, would mean that he and his wife would be murdered and their bodies cremated in their home.

On the night of July 12, 15 armed farmers on horseback made their way silently to the crossroads and, secreting their mounts in the brush, surrounded the hollow stump where the money was to have been placed. Just before dawn a buckboard containing two men drove to the spot and the occupants crawled to the stump and started to dig into it with a spade. When the posse ordered them to surrender the fight began.
