Interment was made in the Hermiston cemetery.

She asks for the restoration of her maiden name of Snowman, for $75 attorney fees, for $25 suit money and for costs. The couple were married in this city in May, 1912. W. M. Peterson is plaintiff's attorney.

Chamberlain Coming To Round-Up.

That he will surely be at the next Round-up if congress is not called before that time was the statement made in Portland by Senator Geo. E. Chamberlain, according to Wesley N. Matlock who returned home this morning. The senator has been prevented from attending past Round-ups by his official duties but believes he will be able to be in the grandstand this fall. Mr. Matlock left here recently intending to go to Alaska to look after property interests but, owing to the fact no boat was sailing until August 15, he gave up the trip. He was afraid with such a late start he would be caught in Alaska for the winter.

Enters Business in Portland.

J. R. Dickson, who was in the general insurance business in Pendleton for many years and who has been in Portland for the past two years, has entered the Portland business field, having associated himself with the insurance firm of McGargar, Bates and Lively. His many friends will be interested to know that he has completely recovered his health which has not been good for several years. Mr. Dickson has also purchased a fine home in Irvington and he and his wife intend making that city their home. Mrs. Dickson will return to Pendleton next month and will remain here during the winter after which she plans to join her husband.

Cost Gypsy Woman $25.

As a usual thing the fortune-telling gypsies are more shrewd than the other fellow when it comes to keeping the money they get their hands on but they were generated out of $25 by Chief of Police Kearney yesterday. In the morning they had taken out three fortune-telling licenses and when a fourth woman, with no license, attempted to read the chief's palm, she was arrested and taken to the station. Her men folks followed and, in a moment when they thought the officers were not watching, slipped one of the other women's licenses to the prisoner. When she went to trial she triumphantly drew forth the license and waved it at the court, but Chief Kearney had witnessed the whole transaction and, when his testimony was in, Acting Judge Halley fixed $25 as the amount from which the women should be separated.

Only Two in Auto Wreck.

An investigation by the officers in the automobile accident in the east end of town Monday night proves conclusively to them that there were but two people in the car at the time it plunged into the millrace, the many stories on the street to the contrary notwithstanding. Many stories have gained circulation to the effect that there were four or five occupants of the car and names have even been mentioned. These stories have foundation only in the fact that some of the men mentioned were in the automobile earlier in the evening in the statement of the officers. Persons assisting in the rescue of Mrs. Lizzie Rothrock from under the car substantiated the conclusions reached by the officials. The condition of Mrs. Rothrock is reported today by the physicians as indicating that her recovery will be rapid. Only the fact that the top of the automobile broke the force of the fall saved her from being crushed beneath the car.

Grain Market Quiet.

With local quotations at 91 to 93 cents and the farmers waiting for the dollar mark, the Pendleton market is reported to be very quiet today. Practically nothing has been sold this week.

Some Hot Night.

Last night was a warm night, which statement few residents will gainsay. The temperature during the entire night never sank below the 66 mark and bed covers were superfluous. At 11 o'clock lightning began to play over the heavens and the vivid flashes were accompanied by thunder claps. About 12:15 the wind came up violent but subsided within a quarter of an hour. A few drops of rain fell. Today the maximum temperature was the same as yesterday, 98.

Kaiser Feared to Enter City Left by Slavs

AMSTERDAM, Aug. 11.—The fear that he would be killed by mines planted for his benefit in public places in Warsaw prevented the kaiser entering the city at the head of the German army, it was learned. It was rumored many mines were placed.

Bandits Found; No Loot.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—A series of robberies which have disturbed the management and actors at the Leow national theater, Bergen avenue and 159th street, the Bronx, for more than a month was explained when two boys, the oldest 13 years old, were arrested and confessed that they were "bandits." They admitted taking property valued at more than $1000 from the theater alone and that they had other sources for obtaining loot.

The boys, Nicholas Hyde of 325 East 149th street, and Charles Shiko, 12 years old, of 232 East 149th street, were interrupted just after they had succeeded in escaping down the fire escape of the Leow theater with jewelry valued at $250, which they found in the dressing room of Lawrence Hall, an actor. Hyde was arrested and then gave information which resulted in the arrest of Shiko at his home.

The police have been able to recover none of the loot, but the boys have told them that a great part of it is hidden in a cache along the Harlem river and have promised to take the detectives there.

When the police found Shiko, who had escaped with Mr. Hall's jewelry in the afternoon, he roundly berated his young companion for "squealing" on him, and declared that "such guys ought to be croaked." After more than three hours of questioning he consented to lead the detectives to a shanty where Hyde had declared all the loot was hidden. Hyde had been unable to tell just where it was, saying that Shiko knew all about everything and was a "great crook."

When Detectives McGlaughlin and Kenny of the Bronx Detective Bureau reached the hut, at 159th street and Harlem River, the boys said a box would be found buried in one corner of the floor. A box was found but it was empty.

The two "bandits" looked at each other in apparently sincere horror and exclaimed in unison: "Double crossed."

Then each declared that the other might have stolen their joint loot, or that two other boys who belonged to their "gang" and were used as look-outs might have turned the trick, as they expressed it. They told of another cache where the loot and other property had been hidden, but after a search of more than an hour it was decided to put off further effort.

The boys were sent to the Children's Society.

ARNOLD V. SHANKLIN

WASHINGTON, Aug. 11.—Arnold V. That the situation is becoming more acute each day and that the American government will soon be compelled to take action is an assured fact.

Trollers Catch Shark.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Peter Brasse, James Purcell and William O'Neil decided recently to catch one of the sharks whose fins for a week had been cutting the waters of Hartan Bay. They trolled from a motorboat. There was an abrupt jerk to the line in short order and then a pull that sent the cord burning through their hands. Then sent their boat about, cut out the engine and fixed the line to a cleat near the bow.

Away off they caught sight of the shark making for the high sea. The boat followed, speeding through the water with more power and at a faster clip than the engine had ever driven it. They ran for half a mile with the big fish doing the pulling. Then the line slackened for a moment, but again they were pulled away on another course.

For an hour and a half the boat was dragged up and down the bay and across and back until finally, almost dead from exhaustion, the shark gave up the battle and they towed it to the beach, where it died.

Trousers Tie Up Boat.
PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 11.—The powerboat Catherine W. in charge of Navigation Inspectors Linekar and Baker, became disabled in the Schuylkill river near Girard avenue bridge, by a pair of trousers, which somebody had thrown overboard, having become entangled in the propeller, completely disabling the vessel for the time being.
