PITCHERS PLENTIFUL THIS SEASON IN ALL BIG LEAGUE TEAMS

MORE MATERIAL IS AVAILABLE THAN FOR MANY YEARS IN THE PAST.

BY GEORGE R. HOLMES, (United Press Staff Correspondent.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 28.—The hard times that are popularly supposed to be haunting baseball magnates this year apparently have not reached the player crop. More pitchers came up out of the tall grass at the close of last season and showed stuff enough to stick than in years. The Reds undoubtedly are partly responsible because 14 big league managers were indefinitely more patient with the rookies this year than heretofore. It also is possible that the requirements weren't so great this year, but whatever may be the reason—they're here.

Out of a dozen classy looking young workmen the effervescent Mr. Mummux of Pittsburgh stands out like a headlight on a dark night. Mummux can be classed as a rookie at the start of the present season, as he didn't do enough work for Fred Clarke last season to get his name in the official list of pitchers. But he certainly is making up for it. By his efforts alone, almost, the Pirates have earned serious consideration as flag contenders. Take the 19 games that he has won, out of the Pirates won column, and it'll look rather depleted. The Pirates would be fussing with C. Herzog for the cellar. Even the great Messers Alexander and Johnson lost a little of their lustre beside Mummux.

Date of the Reds, and Dell of the Dodgers, are two more chuckers who came up this season and have earned their spurs. Both have been lingering around between 625 and 650 all season, which is a pretty hefty mark for rookies to make their first year out, especially with clubs that haven't been contenders all the time. Dale has been the steadiest pitcher the Reds have had.

The Dodgers, with Wilbert Robinson and his well known penchant for developing young pitchers, has been exceptionally fortunate in getting good pitching this season. Two more of Robinson's proteges—Appleton and Smith—having been giving him a good brand of shogging, and it is to this that Brooklyn fans owe their pennant hopes. Smith has made good with a vengeance. Recent averages show he has been pitching 180 ball.

Karl Adams, the long lanky youngster who came to the Cubs from Jack Hendricks' Indianapolis team, also has shown stuff enough to stick, under the big Top, though his work hasn't been of a sensational nature. Poland of the Tigers is another whose curves have puzzled the sluggers in Fan Johnson's loop considerably. Cobb and Sleser of the St. Louis Browns are also worthy of mention.

Frank Riskey thinks he has a wonder in this sister, and the youngster's work certainly has been of a nature to justify his suspicions.

Not for years has a rookie come up who had versatility enough to play three positions and play them all well as Sleser has. The former Michigan star has pitched some zilt-edged ball for the Browns, played in the outfield, and handled first base like a veteran. And on top of all this, he's been pitching the old ball at a rate close to 300. Truly a remarkable man.

John McGraw has not failed to get a few likely looking minors, either. Brainerd, who came from Texas, has stolen Fred Merkle's job at first, and Ebbington the young Brown (the only Phi Beta Kappa in the big league) is looking good in the outfield.

Clark Wants Return Match With Farrell

LIGHTWEIGHT WHO LOST AT ATHENA IS ANXIOUS TO FIGHT AGAIN.

Tommy Clark the lightweight scrapper who lost to Billy Farrell in Athena last week when he hurt his leg in a fall, wants a return match and is willing to post a side-bet. "I would like very much to have a return match with Farrell over the 15 or 20-round route," he says in a letter received this morning by the East Oregonian.

"I sure think that the showing I made at Athena against Farrell entitles me to a return fight and assures the fans who saw the match will welcome a return bout. I sure think that I can win from Farrell and can furnish him or his backers with a suitable side-bet."

Timber Loss Through Fires Has Been Small Because of the Early Preventive Measures

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 28.—Reports recently received by the Western Forestry and Conservation Association, from all protective agencies in the northwest, show practically no loss of timber through forest fires up to the present time.

Favorable weather conditions and careful preparations for the season are the chief factors which have so far made for a clean record on the part of patrol organizations.

Following the plan of previous seasons each protective agency began, well in advance of dry weather, to get its territory in the best possible shape for successfully combating any fires which might become started.

Additional lookout points were equipped, telephone lines extended and repaired, new trails constructed and every effort made to secure the best possible co-operation between the various patrol organizations. These efforts are now bearing fruit in the prompt detection and suppression of all fires which become started.

Although the beginning of August saw conditions much more favorable than those of a year ago, there is still time for the woods to become dry and only the greatest care and vigilance will prevent fires from starting during the next few weeks.

Oregon experienced no fires worthy of mention during July. A few fires escaped as a result of slash burning but were speedily extinguished without loss of green timber. About 300 wardens are on duty outside of the national forests and this number will probably be slightly increased if rains are not forthcoming within the next few days. The need for strict enforcement of the forest laws has been especially emphasized this season, and a campaign to eliminate the smoke nuisance has been vigorously carried on.

Washington reports some 25 fires during July, all probably extinguished, and with small loss of timber. The Washington Forest Fire Association has 37 men on duty, and the state, through its own and the Federal Weeks Law appropriation, nearly as many more.

Idaho has experienced a few small fires, none of which have caused loss of timber. Only the normal force of patrolmen is on duty, but every precaution is being taken to see that fires are promptly discovered. The forest service has this season constructed several emergency warehouses where fire fighting tools, available for immediate shipment to points needed, are stored. This is in addition to the tool supply which each national forest maintains.

Montana reports a most favorable season as compared with last year. The Northern Montana Forestry Association has had no fires in its territory.

In spite of present favorable conditions the utmost care is urged by all agencies to prevent damage during the next month. August and early September can be counted upon to be dry and a few hot days are all that is required to produce a serious fire hazard.

will be one of the hottest contests ever pulled off from the very start. Bertha Blacett barely missed winning the Police Gazette World's Championship all-Around Cowboy belt last year and would have won it had not her horse jumped the fence on the last lap of the relay race which gave her third place. Sammy Darrett who won it had only three points over her.
