REPUTATION OF NEW YORK GIANTS HANGS BY SLENDER THREAD

MUST FINISH FIRST PLACE TO ESCAPE BEING DUBBED FAILURE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—If the Giants finish anywhere but first place, they will probably go down as the biggest failures of the weird season of 1915. The New York club is admittedly the highest salaried one in the National league, and has the most "paper strength" of any, with the possible exception of the Braves. Everything at the start of the season was in their favor, and Gotham fans settled back for a long season of battling between McGraw's clan and the Braves for the pennant. On days they were the only ones who stood a show of getting in the October classics.

The teams are turning into the home stretch today, with the world's series but five weeks away, and most of the dopesters and bettors are scrambling their brains trying to decide which to lay their shekels on—Brooklyn or Philadelphia.

The Giants haven't had much hard luck—as hard luck goes, accidents and such. True, they have had bad luck, but McGraw has won pennants in the face of far heavier odds than he has had to face this season. He had a team of veterans last March that had stood up under the fire and gaff of many galling pennant races and they were all going good. There were few signs of cracks—Mathewson had one of his best seasons, as had Trosau. The erratic Marquard had finished a fair season and according to the way Rube has run since he broke into the big show, he should have been due for a while of a season in 1915. Backing them up were Stroud, Schupp and Schauer, a trio of mighty likely looking youngsters.

There was a hole at third base, a gaping one left by Tilly Schaffer's retirement. McGraw went out and grabbed Hans Lobert who batted .275 for the weak Phils the year before and was listed as one of the fastest men on the bases in the Tene circuit. Lobert has fallen down woefully with McGraw's men. He is batting around .240 and his name isn't even among the first ten base stealers. His fielding, too, has slumped.

McGraw freely blames his pitchers and it seems he is justified. Marquard, the eccentric, hasn't won half his games. Matty, the steady, hasn't won half his games. Trosau has barely managed to split fifty-fifty, and the three youngsters have proved so unsteady that McGraw has used them only as relief hurlers.

McGraw, however, has awakened to the fact that his time to begin housecleaning and has started by cutting the supports under Fred Stodgrass, long one of his favorites. Rumor has said that Chief Meyers and Rube Marquard were slated for the hooks. Giant officials have denied this, but its a safe bet that if they don't pick up in their work by the last of the season, there's going to be some new talent floating around the Polo grounds.

McGraw also has a crow to pick with the umpires. John never was original.

"The National league has seen the rottenest umpiring in its history this season," he said, recently. "There is but one competent umpire in the league—Bill Klem. With a fair break in the umpiring, the Giants might have finished better."

George Burns is another player who has not delivered. Last year, Burns stole 62 bases and batted over .300. This year he is hitting the ball around .170 and has stolen less than twenty bases.

Although Mac had a good pitching staff at the start of the season, he wasn't satisfied.

"If I had just one more good pitcher, I'd be willing to ride," he opined.

So he went out and grabbed Poll Perritt, who had been one of the best pitchers in the league the year before, and Poll hasn't won half his games.

Farrell Accepts Clark Challenge to Fight on 8th

LOCAL CHAMPION GIVES RETURN BOUT TO MAN HE DEFEATED AT ATHENA.

Billy Farrell and Tommy Clark will fight on the eighth of this month at the Oregon theater in this city. Farrell made this announcement this morning, having received word from Clark that he would be in condition to fight on that date. The two boys will go over the 20 round route.

Farrell and Clark met recently at Athena and the fight was a slambang affair until the sixth round when Clark hurt his knee and had to forfeit the bout to his opponent. Since returning to Portland he has had a specialist work on his knee and writes that it is as good as ever.

Local fans who saw the mill at Athena will welcome a return bout for the two lightweights seemed to be evenly matched and want to fight from going to going.

CELLO CANAL IS AID TO THE CATTLE TRADE

ELTOPIA, Wash., Sept. 1.—The first direct result of the opening of the Cello locks left here was the shipment by Nagel Bros. from their ranch 12 miles west of here of 450 head of hogs by boat on the Columbia river. The shipment was consigned to the Union Stock Yards at Portland.

The rate quoted is cheaper by $2.20 a head than shipping by rail. In addition to this the boat loaded at the Nagel landing, thus avoiding a wagon haul of 12 miles over poor roads. It is felt that the easy transportation will stimulate the hog and cattle business, especially among ranchers between here and the Columbia river.

BIGGEST BATTLEFIELD.

Siedloe government includes all that part of Russian Poland through which the czar's armies are retreating. On every side German armies are pressing upon this central Polish government, which is now assuming its great historic interest as a theater where the most stirring events of the world war may take place. The following description of this great battlefield has just been issued by the National Geographical Society.

Siedloe government forms the heart of Poland, screened behind the Vistula and Bug rivers toward the west, north and east, and by the Wiprz river in the south. It is also more closely related to Russia than any other part of the Polish province. The great trunk line of railways binding Warsaw with Petrograd and Moscow cross Poland within this government and some of the most favorable Polish wagon roads also run over its plain toward the Russian border. Its river boundaries les all around it, together with extensive marshes in the north and low hills in the south, invest it with unusual advantages for defense, while its level character facilitates transportation. There are a few sloping hills tracts in the government, on the bank of the Bug, around Biala and in the middle. The marshes in the north are treacherous and worthless. However, only about 5 per cent of the government's total area of 5532 square miles is unproductive. It is one of the richest agricultural areas in Poland. Nearly half of it, or 48 per cent, is under crops, and another 17 per cent is in meadow and pasture land. The principal crops are rice, wheat, oats, barley and potatoes. The breeding of livestock is second in importance to agriculture. About 15 per cent of the land is forested. The government is of no importance industrially. It supports about 1,000,000 population.
