THE COUNTY LIBRARY. The action of the county court in agreeing to cooperate to a moderate extent in the construction of the county library is obviously proper and will be generally endorsed by all who know the situation.

The library is a countywide institution and one of growing interest and importance. But while a county institution none of the burden of the local building has heretofore fallen upon the county.

be congratulated upon their progress. They will have an institution that will be a credit to the county and will do inestimable good for years to come.

THE SANE MIDDLE GROUND

THE country will err should it follow either the extreme military alarmists who wish a gigantic sum expended at once for preparedness or the radical peace enthusiasts who see no necessity whatever for any military efficiency in this country.

There is a sane middle ground that may be taken upon this subject. It is not necessary or wise for this country to go without up-to-date and extensive preparations for defense, but it would also be unwise to convert the nation into an armed camp.

The New York World characterizes those who are trying to frighten congress into the expenditure of half a billion dollars or more upon army and navy, as "our most eminent cowards," and their pictures of German and Japanese invasion as figments of "their weird imaginations."

MIRACLE OF THE MUMMY. THE ancients of the earth are daily gaining credit with the moderns for having known a thing or two in advance of their time. Discoveries of the archaeologists are all in their favor.

A Kansas dispatch to The New York Sun tells of a mummy discovered in an Aztec ruin. Within it was found, sealed, an Indian jar containing a few grains of ancient Indian corn.

It was discovered last spring by a Baptist preacher—only a few grains of it. To William E. Kelley, a Hutchinson, Kansas, city official, ten grains of the mummy's corn were given. Mr. Kelley planted them in his back yard, with results as follows:

Eight of the ten grains grew, the corn growing more rapidly than ordinary field corn. There are twenty ears now on the eight stalks, and average fifty kernels to the ear.

Not many years ago an expedition went up the Missouri river to the place where in 1854 a cargo of 500 barrels of whisky had been lost. The value of 50-year-old whisky was the incentive rather than thirst. The wrecking party spent $2500 and rescued a pair of shoes.

House Cleaning! Help! Help! HOUSECLEANING in the way mother used to do it was strenuous work. Chaos reigned and elbow grease was the chief lubricant. Today science has lessened her labors. There are cleaners, sweepers, scrubbers, mops, and a thousand and one devices for saving time and toil. The first step towards correct housecleaning is the choice of the right materials to work with and in finding these the advice of the advertising columns of The East Oregonian may be of assistance.
