Asks Release of Goods.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The state department instructed Ambassador Page at London to make informal representations at the British foreign office to have American owned goods of German origin contracted for between March 1 and March 15, 1915, released for shipment to America. Great Britain previously has released goods paid for before March 1. Importers who bought goods before March 15 claim that they also are entitled to release, the British order in council not having been communicated to this country until the latter date.

WAR ODDITIES.
LONDON—Taxi King George is human was strikingly illustrated on his latest visit to the wounded in a London hospital. Passing through a yard, the king asked a wounded "Tommy" how he was fed. "They feed us like cattle," answered the soldier. "You don't mean they feed you on hay?" was the king's immediate rejoinder. When the "Tommy" recovered his speech the king was gone.

AMERICANS IN AIR SQUADS ABROAD TO RETURN AFTER WAR

LEGION NOW ENLISTED WITH THE FRENCH FORCES TO HELP IN DEFENSE.

Members With Fighting Nations in Europe Will Start Propaganda for More Thorough American Aerial Defense—Have Played Important Part in Battles in France.

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS (United Press Staff Correspondent.)
PARIS, Sept. 13.—(By Mail.)—After the war is over the American aerial legion now enlisted with French forces "for the period of the war," will return to America as the "Escadrille Americaine" and promote propaganda for more thorough American aerial defense.

American members of the French foreign aerial legion already have asked the French government to incorporate them into a single aerial squadron under the leadership of C. T. Weymann, dean of the American fliers and once winner of the International Aviation cup.

The squadron's individual exploits would be recorded under the collective title of "Escadrille Americaine." These American boys have played and are playing an important part in making, through daring aerial raids, France's reputation for mastery of the skies.

Weymann has shot down a German Taube he caught circling over Rheims. Other daring exploits are to his credit. He is held in esteem by the French on an equality with the best French aviators.

Eight other Americans, by enlisting "for the period of the war" and undergoing the required training have already received their licenses. Eleven more are just winding up their probationary period.

The licensed Americans include William Thaw, already an under-lieutenant; Norman Price, Elliot Cowden, Frazier Curtis, James Bach, Burr Hall, H. G. Guerin and Didier Mason.

Aside from the regular training which they have undergone as pilots they have been given by the French government all of the special instruction necessary.

German Meets Bulgar.
ATHENS, Oct. 8.—General von Sanders, German commander in chief of the Turkish forces at the Dardanelles, is conferring with Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria at Phillopoli, midway between Sofia and Adrianople, according to dispatches received here from Sofia.

Events in the War One Year Ago Today

- Antwerp fell at 9 a. m. and was occupied by the Germans at 2:30 p. m. Albert and his army fled to safety. Three British naval brigades tried to save the city.
- French-German artillery battles at Lille and Arras continued. Germans attacked viciously on Meuse heights. The French progressed some at St. Mihiel, yet Germany also reported progress there and in the Argonne. German forces retreated before Russians at Lyck, and at Invarogod and Sandomir on the Vistula there are violent artillery duels. Petrograd reported.
- Rome says Portugal will declare war on Germany and that German re-inforcements are being rushed to East Prussia.
