

EAT WITHOUT FEAR OF INDIGESTION OR SOUR, ACID STOMACH

INSTANT RELIEF! "PAPE'S DIAPESPIN" ENDS STOMACH TROUBLE FOREVER.

Wonder what upset your stomach—which portion of the food did the damage—do you? Well, don't bother. If your stomach is in a revolt; if sour, gassy and upset, and what you just ate has fermented into stubborn lumps; head dizzy and aches; belch, bloat and acids and eructate undigested food; breath foul, tongue coated—just take a little Pape's Diapospin and in five minutes you wonder what became of the indigestion and distress.

Millions of men and women today know that it is needless to have a bad stomach. A little Diapospin occasionally keeps this delicate organ regulated and they eat their favorite foods without fear.

If your stomach doesn't take care of your liberal limit without rebellion; if your food is a damage instead of a help, remember the quickest, surest, most harmless relief is Pape's Diapospin which costs only 50 cents for a large case at drug stores. It's truly wonderful—it digests food and sets things straight, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. Please, for your sake, don't go on and on with a weak, disordered stomach; it's no unnecessary.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE BATTLE OF TRAFALGAR

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Indomitable Nelson lies fast in eternal sleep and all but the fraction of a century has rolled away since when was fought the Battle of Trafalgar. But the thundering guns, the screaming shells, the lamentations of the sorrowful cannot shut out from British ears the eloquent silence from that day of ninety-nine years ago; and in the British heart the feeling is serene and sure that this day's sun will fall upon some victory, some masterpiece, that will make a mad rejoicing amidst the watching shades of Trafalgar's lost legions.

A PENDLETON INTERVIEW.

Mr. Knight Tells His Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with a Pendleton man four years ago and its sequel, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

G. W. Knight, retired farmer, 513 Franklin street, Pendleton, says: "For eight or ten years I was troubled by pains through my back and kidneys and sometimes in my sides. I had to get up several times at night to pass the kidney secretions and there was a great deal of sediment in them, that looked like brickdust. I tried a box of Doan's Kidney Pills and they soon relieved the backache and regulated the action of my kidneys." (Statement given May 17, 1910.)

Over two years later Mr. Knight said: "All I said about Doan's Kidney Pills when I recommended them several years ago, holds good. You may continue to publish my statement for the benefit of other kidney sufferers."

Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the name that Mr. Knight had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Stories From the War Zone

BY WILLIAM PHILIP SIMMS

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

EASTERN FRANCE, Sept. 18.—(By Mail)—If you need a fad and would like to become a "collector" here is a free suggestion: Start a collection of trinkets made by French troopers on the firing line.

Start with finger rings, in the spring there are a few things the warriors are not making between bayonet charges and dodging big shells. Aluminum, brass, copper and nickel in the German shells hurled at the French, usually are the "raw materials." Bullets, empty shells, shell-caps, coins, buttons, insignia, buckles, belts, hand grenades, also are used.

The most popular curio is the aluminum ring. Scarcely a soldier is without at least one. These are made by cutting off a cross-section of the aluminum fuse-tubing, inside German shells and whitening or filing it to desired design. These are numerous and some are of beautiful workmanship, engraved with professional skill. Some of the soldiers are, of course, jewelers.

A popular design is the signet with a crown, cut from the Prussian Guard's brass button, inset. These rings are much sought.

Others are serpents wearing the spiked German helmet, the French War Cross in copper inset, the Cross of Lorraine, the thistle of Alsace, etc.

Ink stands made from hand grenades with crossed cartridges as pen-racks and mounted on a shell fragment are fashioned, while ink-stands made from the time-fuse caps of the famous solonite quinine shells are ality souvenirs for women at home.

Cartridges with the bases joined, holding a pencil in one end and a pen in the other and pen-racks made simply of American "special" barbed wire cut from entanglements are quite as fast, as fashion writers at home say.

One of the latest articles is a breakfast gong made of the brass bases of shells of large calibre. Suspended on a wooden cord, like bells, and tapped, they give forth a very pleasant tone.

Watch fobs are made of leather from German officers' belts with a gold-plated button for fob or a bob made of bronze, brass, nickel or aluminum, any desired shape.

Cartridges are made of German cartridges-clips with penknives, for wheels. Beer mugs in miniature are made of cartridge shells, and a dandy paperweight is fashioned of shell-fuses or hand grenades with a grape-iron vine growing out of the orifice. The vines are made of telephone wires, the grapes from shrapnel bullets.

From the mud of the trenches soldier-sculptors are making all sorts of statues, humorous and serious. The busts of Joffre and Poincare; miniature Venuses and Mercuries, and comic Crown-princes and Kaisers are favorites.

Dainty picks, shovels, rifles, cannon and the like are made of brass or other metal. They are polished and finished to a point where any jeweler might handle them with pride.

There is no limit to these "Made in the Trenches" articles. The tools vary much as do the objects. Some of the men have a pocket-knife. Most, however, have managed to get hold of at least a file and a piece of emery cloth.

Sometimes, instead of merely filing a section of aluminum the metal is melted after melting. The original rings were made this way: A raw potato was cut in half and a mold of the desired object made. Then the two halves were put together and the molten metal poured into the strange mold through an aperture. From this crude beginning some of the men have developed complicated arrangements whereby two or three metals are combined to form all sorts of patterns, one upon another.

The soldier isn't trying to make money with these things. It is rarely he will part with the proofs of his ingenuity. He makes them in his leisure time between battles or watching at loopholes on the lips of the trenches.

The work occupies his mind and the product usually finds its way to wife, sweetheart, mother, father or children. Much devotion, almost life-blood, goes into the trinket, for not infrequently its manufacture is the last act of the soldier before he goes to death.

Events in the War One Year Ago Today

- The Franco-Belgian coast battle continued, Allies blocking vicious German onslaughts.
- Germany claimed the capture of 20,000 British and many machine guns at Lille.
- The Prussian diet voted $275,000,000 more for war.
- Chancellor Debruck declared Germany would fight to lasting peace.
- Austro-Germans continued to drive the Russians back in Galicia and Bukovina, Vienna said.
- The German army's left wing retreat from Warsaw continued and 2000 Austrian officers and men and many machine guns were captured in Galicia, Petrograd claimed.
- England released one, but held two other, American oil ships, while America filed another protest.
- England asserted the other Irindilla, held, is German-owned.

For Indigestion.

Never take pepin and preparations containing pepin or other digestive ferments for indigestion, as the more you take the more you will have to take. What is needed is a tonic like Chamberlain's Tablets that will enable the stomach to perform its functions naturally. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.

NORTHLIFFE CONDEMNED FOR CABINET ATTACK.

LONDON, Oct. 21.—Lord Northcliffe, who owns the London Daily Mail and other newspapers, which have been attacking the Balkan policy of Sir Edward Grey, is being severely condemned in other British newspapers for the attack.

"The Daily News says: 'This is not a moment for the nation to suffer the criminal attempts of Northcliffe to make any sort of government in this country impossible, unless it is a government which will take its marching orders from his disordered mind.'"

Most of the editorials urge a curb on Northcliffe's activities.

HOGS SHOW LOSS IN EASTERN MARKET

(From Wednesday's Journal.)

Hogs held at yesterday's strong quotations in the North Portland yards today but showed serious losses in the east. At Chicago early sales included losses of about 50c while at South Omaha the losses ranged from 25c to 50c.

Sales of $7.10 for top stuff in the local yards this morning in the face of the serious depression in the east and middle west, were somewhat of a surprise, although only a small volume of business was today done here at the extreme mark.

Receipts of hogs at North Portland over night were rather heavy and this too was a surprise.

General hog market:

Best light$7.00@7.10
Medium light6.75@6.85
Good to heavy6.25@6.50
Rough to heavy5.00@5.75

Cattle Market is Steady.

Market for cattle is steady at North Portland with only a very limited run reported in since Monday. Good stuff is still very scarce and in demand with ordinary utility steady but off-grade stuff neglected.

In the eastern trade today there was a steady tone generally for cattle.

General cattle market range:

Select steers$4.75@5.50
Best buy fed steers4.25@5.50
Good to choice6.00@6.25
Ordinary to fair5.00@5.75

Mutton Comes Direct.

While there was a fairly good showing of mutton in the total arrivals at North Portland overnight, practically all the supplies came direct to killers on contract.

General mutton market situation here is steady to strong with no indication of any immediate change in quotations.

General mutton and lamb prices:

Select interior lambs$7.15
Ordinary interior lambs6.50@7.00
Williamette valley lambs6.00@7.00

WALLA WALLA ELKS HAVE UNEXPECTED CHASE FOR LOOSE BEAR ON STREET

WALLAWALLA, Oct. 20.—One of the most amusing incidents during the Elks' "Initiation Parade" yesterday afternoon was not seen by the majority of the crowd.

A good sized black bear which was on exhibition at the Washington Meat Market was secured by an Elk who hired Babe Brown to lead the animal in the parade. An ordinary horse halter was placed on Mr. Bruin. Before Brown had gone very far with the animal, up Alder street, it became scared and "beat it" out Third street, dragging Brown along until the halter slipped off. The few people on that street began making hurried exits as the bear came looping along the pavement and ambled up the stairs of the Palace hotel annex, just over the Grotto saloon. A crowd collected around the doorway and Brown came up with his halter, endeavoring to regain his charge. Officer Bert Cashart, on guard at the doorway, kept Brown back, in spite of the tears of the latter, who saw visions of "heap work and no pay."

Two butchers from the market finally arrived and went upstairs. All tenants had their rooms locked, one death as the bear went by and laid down in one corner of the corridor to rest.
