FIVE CASES FROM MALHEUR COUNTY BEFORE THE COURT

SUPREME TRIBUNAL OPENS HERE TODAY—WILL BE A BUSY SESSION.

Malheur county is having her innings today before the supreme court at the regular fall eastern Oregon term in this city. Five cases, all from that county, were argued and submitted to the court today and there are four more cases from that county on the docket. The only Umatilla county case, the Twitchell-Thompson damage suit appeal, will be argued Wednesday.

The cases argued today are as follows: Kingman Solony Irrigation Co., resp. vs. Retta Payne, appl., First National Bank of Ontario, resp., vs. T. M. Seaward et al, appl; Mrs. J. S. Edwards, appl. vs. Mrs. Ellen Case and Fireman's Fund Insurance Co., resp.; C. W. Mollett, resp. vs. S. F. Taylor, adm. appl.; T. A. Barton, appl. vs. F. A. Young, et al., resp.

The full court is present as follows: Chief Justice Frank A. Moore, Associate Justices George H. Burnett, Robert Eakin, Thomas A. McBride, Henry J. Bean, Henry L. Benson and Lawrence T. Harris. Supreme Clerk J. C. Moreland and Deputy Clerk Lee Moorhouse are also in attendance.

CHANGE IN HIGHWAY ROUSES MUCH PROTEST

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 25.—A departure from the standard previously set in road construction under state aid is being made in Columbia county on the Columbia river highway. In building the grade around the hill just west of Rainier, the state highway department has changed the original plan to make a roadbed 24 feet wide and is cutting it only 16 feet wide.

In addition, some of the curves have been shortened to the point of abruptness. The long sight line provided in the original plan is lost, thus increasing the possibility of collision and danger.

The reason assigned for the change is lack of funds to build the road on original lines. For the work, $30,000 has been aprropriated out of the state levy of 1916.

There is considerable criticism as a result of the change. In the first place it is asserted that the standard of 24 feet for state aided roads should under no consideration be broken. Otherwise it would be better to allow each county to build its own roads on its own standards, it is said, and do away with state aid altogether.

Another criticism is that there will be an economical loss, should it be decided to widen the road to 24 feet later as much of the work being done now will have to be done over again.

It is expected to have the modified grade completed by December 1.

CONVICTED PORTLAND MEN ARE SENTENCED TO JAIL

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 25.—Convicted recently on a charge of using the mails to defraud in a stock selling campaign, Frank Menefee, president and F. M. Lemonn, sales manager of the United Cashier company, were sentenced to serve one year and ten days at McNeil Island. B. F. Bonnewell, H. H. Todd and F. E. Garner, special agents, and Oscar Campbell, director, were sentenced to four months in the county jail.

Man Says "Window" No Wife.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—The mystery surrounding the death of Anthony Kolb, Jr., a policeman, whose body was found floating in the Delaware river, is outlined in citation proceedings to have letters of administration granted on the estate revoked.

A short time after the body was found a young woman calling herself Cecelia Kolb and representing herself as the widow of the drowned man obtained letters in the estate that is valued at $2200.

Anthony Kolb, Sr., the father of the dead man, asked that the letters be revoked on the ground that the woman had never been married to his son. The administratrix will now be called upon to defend her claim at a hearing.

Battle is Pending.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The success of Villa's revolution depended today upon the impending battle opposite Douglas, Arizona. Still another battle loomed at Agua Prieta, across from Eagle Pass. Carranza reinforcements have been rushed there.

RELIGIOUS FANATIC HAD HIS HEARERS "UNDER THE POWER"

OREGON CITY POLICE TAKE CHARGE OF PENTECOSTAL WORKER.

OREGON CITY, Oct. 23.—Rev. Andrew C. Baker, pastor of the Pentecostal campmeeting at Mountain View, was arrested today by Chief of Police Shaw on a charge of disturbing the peace. Mrs. Dorothy Smith, who lives near the meeting place, was the complaining witness. Rev. Mr. Baker was released to appear Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when he will have a trial before Recorder Loder.

The pastor declared he would fight the case and secured the consent of Recorder Loder to appear without an attorney, although advised to obtain one. He said that he could call 100 witnesses to show that he created no disturbance at his meetings.

Woman Found "Under the power."

When arrested, Baker was nailing shingles on his half-constructed church. Inside the building, one woman was lying on the floor, as if in a trance. The pastor explained that she was "under the power." Several other women were in the building.

On the ride down to the recorder's office from Mountain View Baker declared that the arrest was just what his church needed; that the action of the officers would bring him in touch with many who had not before attended his meetings. "It must have been sent by God," he said.

Recorder Loder asked Baker many questions. The leader declared that he had tried to close down his meetings at 11 o'clock every night, but said that when a person was "under the power" no earthly force could quiet him.

Boy's Reformation Explained.

He said that after a person had talked in tongues" he was refreshed and was stronger both mentally and physically. Weak-minded persons "and down-and-outs," he declared, had been uplifted through the power of the teachings. He told the story of one Oregon City boy who had been reformed and then turned to Chief of Police Shaw, who was in the room, and asked, "Why, you know him don't you? You have arrested him, haven't you?"

The chief admitted that the boy had been in the city jail.

"Well, we saved that boy," declared Baker. "He has stopped drinking and smoking and swearing. You'll have no more trouble with him now."

Baker is a small man and was not excited. A friend heard of his predicament and came up to the office of the recorder. "They've got me," said Baker and smiled.

Residents Complain of Meeting.

Following Baker's release, a party of Mountain View citizens presented their side of the case to Recorder Loder. They argued that the city authorities should put a stop at once to the meetings and one is said to have urged that the leaders be deported.

CARNEGIE BACK HOME AFTER VACATION

MR. AND MRS. ANDREW CARNEGIE

Photograph of Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie taken in the garden of their New York home on Fifth avenue, immediately after the return of the iron master and his wife from their vacation at Bar Harbor.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Andrew Carnegie, together with Mrs. Carnegie, his secretary and a retinue of servants are now back in their Fifth avenue home after a summer spent in Bar Harbor, where the aged iron master underwent severe illness which has left him in a weakened condition. Despite the ruddy color in his face, it was noticed that Mr. Carnegie walked with a decided faltering step.

He refused to comment on the war or politics.
