PASTIME THURSDAY-FRIDAY. Big Scenes on Burning Excursion Boat French Thrills in "The Regeneration."

During the course of the making of the picture, "The Regeneration," which is the picturized version of "The Regeneration," Owen Kildare's story of Mammie Rose, and which is being presented by William Fox, it was necessary to take a scene of the burning of an excursion boat. "Skinny the Rat," who was one of the hero worshippers of Owen Kildare, in order to get even with some of his enemies, did so by burning an excursion boat. All this is perfectly portrayed in "The Regeneration." Director Walsh at great expense secured an old-fashioned barge and hundreds of Bowerly characters men and women, and took the entire party—nearly 500 strong—up to Glen Cove on the East River, where it consumed an entire day to film this one scene at an unusually large cost. It is predicted that this scene will be one of the sensations of this big feature picture.

A HUMMER! Coming Thurs. and Fri. Robert Warwick

THE FAMOUS ACTOR, IN ROBERT MANTEL'S GREATEST STAGE SUCCESS, "The Face in the Moonlight" A WORLD FILM CORPORATION WM. A. BRADY PICTURE PLAY.

THE STORY OF "THE FACE IN THE MOONLIGHT" A French aristocrat loves Jeanne Malloche, a peasant girl, but is compelled to marry his cousin, Alice de Fontenelles. Jeanne dies soon afterward, leaving a son, who is kidnapped and raised by a band of ruffians. Alice's son, receiving every advantage, is raised as an aristocrat. Twenty years later, Victor, the young aristocrat, becomes a captain in the King's army. His half brother, Rabat, has degenerated into a criminal. Strangely enough they look exactly alike, though Rabat is ignorant of Victor's existence. Victor is engaged to the niece of Munier, who becomes associated with the Napoleonic conspiracy. Munier becomes associated with Rabat. Being unaware of the existence of Rabat, Lucile believes her lover guilty of a murder which she sees Rabat commit at a meeting place appointed by Victor. Rabat's face in the moonlight almost causes Lucile to abandon all faith in Victor. Victor is arrested for the murder. Lucile learns the truth and forces her uncle to intercede. This stays Victor's execution, but he is charged as a political prisoner, and ordered shot. Victor's release has caused the arrest of Rabat for the murder. He is to be beheaded. Both Rabat and Victor's execution are scheduled for the same day. Lucile, knowing of her uncle's part in the actual murder, forces him to intercede with Napoleon, thus saving the life of Victor. Rabat meets his fate. Munier escapes from the country. Victor and Lucile are happily married.
