

A Dog Is All Very Well, but He Can't Be President

The socially prominent London family of Chichester, consisting of Mrs. Chichester, her son Alaric and her daughter Ethel, are stunned by the report from their solicitor that a bad turn in the stock market has wiped out their very comfortable competency, in "Peg O' My Heart." Neither the son nor the daughter has the experience or ability to make money enough to maintain even a shadow of their present position, and they are faced with the terror of a life in humble quarters.

While considering their dilemma they receive a visit from a pretty Irish girl of eighteen years, named Peg, who has been a ward of Mrs. Chichester's late brother, her father, having gone to America. Peg is accompanied by the lawyer of the deceased, who explains to the Chichesters that his late client left them five thousand dollars a year, provided they would take care for her and educate her. The Chichesters grasp the opportunity of securing the money and retaining their place in the world, albeit they are distressed by Peg's wild little Irish ways. They are continually confronted with the humiliation of depending upon her, indirectly, for existence.

Ethel is so disgusted with the situation that she plans elopement with a married neighbor, named Brent. Peg—Ethel, may I talk to you? Ethel—You were told to study. Peg—Won't you let me?—We are both girls in the same house, of the same family, and you've never said a kind word to me since I've been here. Ethel—We have nothing in common. Peg—Sure, that doesn't prevent us being decent to each other.

Ethel—Decent! Peg—I'll meet ye three-quarters of the way if ye'll just show one little generous feeling toward me. With all yer fine advantages ye're not happy, are ye?

Ethel—(Slowly)—No, I'm not. Peg—Nather am I in this house—couldn't we try to comfort each other?

Ethel—Comfort? You! Peg—A beautiful thought makes a beautiful face, they say. And sure a kindly impulse gives ye a warm feelin' around the heart, and ye'd have it if ye'd only be a little kind to me sometimes.

Ethel—I am afraid I have been a little inconsiderate.

Peg—Ye have.

Ethel—What would you like me to do?

Peg—Just speak to me some times as if I were a human bein' and not a clod of earth. Will ye?

Ethel—Very well, Margaret, I will.

Peg—Thank ye. Will ye give me another minute?

Ethel—Yes, what is it?

Peg—Do ye know anything about love?

Ethel—Love?

Peg—Yes. Have ye ever been in love?

Ethel—No.

Peg—Have ye ever thought about it?

Ethel—Sentimental nonsense that only exists in novels.

Peg—Ye'er wrong. Ye're wrong. It's the most wonderful thing in the world. To love a good man who loves you—a man that makes ye hot and cold, burns like fire one minute and like ice the next, who made yer heart leap with happiness when he came near ye, and aches when he went away from ye. Haven't ye ever felt like that?

Ethel—Never.

Peg—Don't you like men?

Ethel—Not much. Peg—Just dogs? Ethel—You can trust them. Peg—I like dogs, too. But I like children better. Wouldn't ye like to have a child of your own? Ethel—Margaret!

Peg—I would. That's the real woman in us. Ye only fondle that dog because ye haven't got a child of yer own to take in yer arms. All the selfish women have pet dogs. They're afraid to have children. I've watched them. A dog is all very well, but he can't talk to ye and comfort ye, and cry to ye, and laugh to ye like a child can. Sure he couldn't be President of the United States. But if ye had a baby he might grow up to it.

Ethel—That's very Irish. Peg—Faith, I think it's very human. I wish you had a little more of it. Ethel—It is not customary for girls to talk about such things. Peg—I know that, and I can't understand why we shouldn't discuss events of national importance. If there was more honesty in the world there would be less sin.

Ethel—Really? Peg—Now let us be honest with each other. Ethel—What do you mean? Peg—You like Mr. Brent, don't ye?

Ethel—Certainly I do. He's a very old friend of the family. Peg—He's got a wife. Ethel—He has.

Peg—And a baby?

Ethel—Well—?

Peg—Is it customary for English husbands with babies to kiss other women—to kiss their hands?

Ethel—It is a very old and a respected custom.

Peg—I'm not so sure about the respect, but no doubt it's old. Why doesn't he kiss aunt's hands?

Ethel—Oh, you don't understand.

Peg—Sure, I only saw the old respected custom by accident when I came in through there instead of goin' to the back door. I couldn't help seein' it. An' as for Brent's contemptible, I'm not so sure the custom doesn't deserve all the contempt.

Ethel—I suppose it is too much to expect that a child of the common people should understand the customs of decent people.

Peg—I suppose it is. But I don't see why the common people should have all the decency, and the aristocracy none.

Ethel—Oh, be good enough now to speak to me again as long as you're in this house. If I had my way you'd leave it this morning.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

IF YOUR BACK HURTS OR HEAD-ACHE BOTHERS YOU, DRINK LOTS OF WATER.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that irritate the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salt, which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active. Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urination; it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weaknesses.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

IF MIXED WITH SULPHUR IT DARKENS SO NATURALLY NOBODY CAN TELL.

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's treatment and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color, which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of greatest advantage.

Nowadays, though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and the mussy mixing at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" for about 50 cents a bottle. It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb or a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive; besides, prevents dandruff itching scalp and falling hair.

SWINE MARKET IS STILL SLIDING WITH RECORD RUNS MADE

(Courtesy Sunday's Journal) PORTLAND, Ore.—Further disaster to the hog market was shown at North Portland during the week out values at most American points were likewise on the toboggan. With one of the greatest if not the greatest showing of swine ever received during a single week, the market was under pressure practically entire week. Killers want continue heavily.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Blind cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

COMFORTING WORDS.
Many a Pendleton Household Will Find Them So.
To have the pains and aches of a bad back removed—to be entirely free from annoying, dangerous urinary disorders, is enough to make any kidney sufferer grateful. The following advice of one who has suffered will prove comforting words to hundreds of Pendleton readers.
C. S. Hward, grocer, 1616 W. Webb street, Pendleton, says: "For fifteen years I had a great deal of suffering from a dull pain through the small of my back and left side. For over a year I was annoyed by numbness in my shoulder blades. I couldn't lie comfortably on my back. The kidney secretions were too frequent in passage. I tried several well-known medicines, but nothing did me any good until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. They relieved the aches and pains and regulated the action of my kidneys."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—The same that Mr. Howard had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

over-supplied. The bulk of the stuff coming forward is not of good quality, but there is a fair percentage of tops.
General hog market:
Best light $ 6.30
Medium light 6.40
Good to heavy 6.00-6.25
Rough to heavy 5.00-5.25
Cattle Market is Steady.
Market for cattle was generally considered steady at North Portland for the week's trading. There was a further decrease in offerings and this was a factor of importance in keeping price values to the former standing. Good stuff is still rather scarce, although the percentage is somewhat better than during previous weeks.
Cow market is naturally the point of attack for bearish values because of the continued abundance of dairy stuff.
General cattle market range:
Best hay fed steers 6.50-6.75
Good to choice 6.00-6.40
Ordinary to fair 5.00-5.75
Best cows 4.75-5.00
Good to prime 4.50-4.65
Select bulls 4.00-4.25
Fancy bulls 4.00-4.25
Ordinary bulls 2.50-3.00
Best calves 2.00-2.25
Mutton Market Quiet.
While showing a steady to strong tone, the market for mutton and lambs was quiet at North Portland during the week. The run was somewhat better in volume than last week but few of the arrivals came for the open market. The bulk was direct stuff to a local meat company from nearby feed lots.
General mutton and lamb prices:
Select interior lambs $7.25-7.50
Ordinary interior lambs 6.50-7.00
Willamette valley lambs, 6.00-6.50
Select yearlings 6.25
Select ewes, light 5.50-5.50
Old wethers 5.50-5.50

Amusements
What the press agents say about Pendleton's present and coming attractions.
"Peg O' My Heart."
Oliver Morosco producer, and J. Hartley Manners, authors of "Peg O' My Heart," one of the most phenomenal successes of the present day which is announced for reappearing at the Oregon Theater on Tuesday, November 9th, are reaping another golden harvest from the wonderful success of this play this season, after dividing the profits of nearly half a million dollars which this attraction netted last year. This wholesome play has caught the fancy of playgoers wherever it has been presented, as its humor and love interest are so compelling that it holds the attention of the auditor from the beginning to the final fall of the curtain, while its characters present types that are wholly appealing to our human instincts. For those who like plays which excite the emotions from laugh to eye mistiness, they will find just what they want in this truthful comedy "Peg O' My Heart" which proved the most entertaining of all the attractions witnessed here last season. Kitty O'Connor is announced in the title role. Seats are on sale today.
Two-time 3 Days, Commencing Tuesday, "A Mother's Struggle."
There are few stories which present in so fascinating and thrilling a manner some of the vital problems which women are sometimes called upon to solve, as "Should a Mother Tell" as pictured by William Fox. The mother in the story is a woman in an ordinary station of life, the parent of a beautiful girl.
She is suddenly thrust into a situation where action is demanded and where such action must either blight her daughter's life and honor or her own good name, conscience and her duty to God.
On witnessing this picture one is confronted with a problem that seems at first to be unanswerable. It seems almost unjust for frail woman to be called upon to face such a question.
And so the cruel struggle rages within the mother's breast. Now her instinctive mother-passion is uppermost. Now her sense of right and justice.
Probably there has never been so powerful a story written as this by Rex Ingram. Undoubtedly never has there been portrayed either upon the screen or upon the legitimate stage, such a delineation of the strength of motherlove as is given by Betty Nansen the Queen of Emotional Acting.—Adv.

BET FORTH OF CROP IS TO BE HARVESTED
MILTON, Ore., Nov. 6.—Less than a fourth of the normal apple crop of the valley will be marketed this year according to S. G. Smith, local representative of the Deany Fruit Co. of Chicago, which has a contract to handle all the carload fruit shipments for the Milton Fruitgrowers' union and the Shields Fruit Co.
The total carload shipments will approximate 20 cars, little of which has as yet been sold. Growers generally are holding for better prices owing to the general scarcity of winter apples everywhere," continued Mr. Smith in an interview yesterday.

"For some reason, probably the unusual season, apples which do not usually ripen until after Christmas are getting mellow now and unless these are moved soon there will of necessity be a lot of fruit dumped on the market together later on. If this happens prices are likely to tumble, rather than stiffen."

Entire Family Mangled.
LEMBERG, Nov. 6.—Moses Mantschin, a Jewish resident of Kotel has arrived here with his wife and six children in a pitiable condition. The house of the family was struck by a bomb from a Russian aeroplane a few days ago, and father, mother and all of the children were fearfully wounded. One of the children lost a leg, and Mrs. Mantschin had one of her hands torn off. The unfortunates were sent to a local hospital. Two of the children are in a critical condition, and may die.

Beware of Cheap Substitutes.
In these days of keen competition it is important that the public should see that they get Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and not take substitutes sold for the sake of extra profit. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has stood the test and been approved for more than forty years. Obtainable everywhere.—Adv.
