U. S. WILL NOT ARGUE

Austro-Hungarian admiralty with regard to the sinking of the steamship Ancona, in which it was admitted that the vessel was torpedoed after her engines had been stopped and when passengers were still on board. This admission alone is, in the view of the government of the United States, sufficient to fix upon the commander of the submarine which fired the torpedo, the responsibility for having willfully violated the recognized law of nations and entirely disregarded those humane principles which every belligerent should observe in the conduct of war at sea. In view of these admitted circumstances the government of the United States feels justified in holding that the details of the sinking of the Ancona, the weight and character of the additional testimony corroborating the admiral's report, and the number of Americans killed or injured are in no way essential matters of discussion.

"The culpability of the commander in any case established, and the undisputed fact is that citizens of the United States were killed, injured or put in jeopardy by his lawless act.

"The rules of international law and the principles of humanity which were thus willfully violated by the commander of the submarine, have been so long and so universally recognized and are so manifest from the standpoint of right and justice that the government of the United States does not feel called upon to debate them and does not understand that the imperial and royal government questions or disputes them.

"The government of the United States, therefore, finds no other course open to it but to hold the imperial and royal government responsible for the act of its naval commander and to renew the definite but respectful demands made in its communication of the sixth of December, 1915. It sincerely hopes that the foregoing statement of its position will enable the imperial and royal government to perceive the justice of those demands and to comply with them in the same spirit of frankness and with the same concern for the good relations now existing between the United States and Austria-Hungary which prompted the government of the United States to make them."

CAPTAIN CLAD IN FEATHERS

His Whole Body Covered With Angels Worth Thousands. NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 29.—When Captain J. Perser stepped down the gang plank of his vessel he was accosted in a friendly manner by a customs inspector. Then, noticing what seemed to be a small feather sticking to the captain's wrist, the federal official attempted to brush it off. The movement disclosed a long sigret.

"Why, Captain Perser stammered, "that's only a feather I was bringing to my wife."

"Strip off that vest," the inspector replied, "and we'll see how many feathers you have."

Captain Perser took off his vest and, surrounding his body were 299 sigrets, tied in bundles of 25 each, and valued at between $2000 and $4000. He was arrested the importations of sigrets being prohibited by a federal law.

Make-Believe Sweethearts in Drama Fall in Love and Wed. ST. LOUIS, Dec. 29.—St. Louis friends have just learned of the elopement and secret marriage of Harry White, principal of the Overland Park school, in St. Louis county, and Miss Edith Beatrice Merrill, of Caruthersville, Mo. They were married in Jackson, Mo., by Rev. L. F. Ross.

White and his bride were students together at the Cape Girardeau Normal school. They were make-believe sweethearts in a play given by the students three years ago. Miss Merrill was still a student in the school at the time of the elopement. In order to get away from the girls' dormitory, Miss Merrill told the matron she was going to spend the night with a friend.
