In a program characterized by musical critics as the best balanced ever used by a glee club representing the institution, the University of Oregon Glee Club appears before Pendleton people at the Oregon theater, Tuesday night.

The club is now on its annual tour of eastern Oregon and will make its first appearance in The Dalles. Latest music and new skits will be seen when the gleesters present their program Tuesday night. "The Laughing Song," which is truly a laughing song both from the standpoint of the club and the audience, has made a big hit in all of the concerts given by the club thus far.

In the way of skits, the university boys have one which is said to be as good as any used by the club in recent years, if not better. It is "Five Minutes of College Life" and represents the layman's conception of college life. Four characters are included in the cast, a senior, a junior, a sophomore and a freshman.
