TIP O'NEIL, WELL KNOWN HERE, DIES AT MONTREAL

IN THE EARLY NINETIES HE WAS THE IDOL OF LOCAL BASEBALL FANS.

"Tip O'Neil, famous old-time baseball player, died suddenly of heart disease on a street car here today."

The above brief dispatch from Montreal, Quebec, on Dec. 31, was one that brought deep regret to many of the old-time baseball fans of Pendleton for Tip O'Neil in the early nineties was the idol of Pendleton fandom. He pitched for the Pendleton team in the first professional league in these parts and no player before or since has been more popular with the local patrons of the game.

O'Neil is best remembered for his remarkable achievement in winning two successive games from Walla Walla. As now the Washington city was a keen rival of Pendleton and the contests between teams from the two cities always developed intense interest.

With only Tip O'Neil to pitch both games, the Pendleton team entered a Saturday-Sunday series and he won both. Winning the first game by a small margin with an overcoat and a suit of clothes he left the second, O'Neil went into the Sunday contest with smiling confidence. Walla Walla sent over a train of 17 cars for this game and the engine and coaches were decorated with brooms to indicate that they intended to make a clean sweep. O'Neil pitched the Pendleton team to a shut-out victory and was the lion of the hour.

Old time fans also remember him as the first pitcher with a wind-up seen in action here and for a certain ball which he knocked over the center field fence.

Tip was a young, rosy-cheeked Irishman in those days and had not yet entered the big brush. His rise into prominence in the major leagues was watched by his friends here with unusual interest. He joined the St. Louis Browns under Charles A. Comiskey, now owner of the Chicago White Sox, a short time later as a pitcher but later became a member of the famous Welch-McClarty-O'Neil outfield of that team. He was considered a wonderful ballplayer. There have been other Tip O'Neils but he was the original Tip.

OVER $1000 OF STURGIS MONEY RECENTLY SPENT

JUDGE FEE EXPLAINS HIS REPORT: COMMERCIAL CLUB NEVER OWNED LIBRARY.

In the last three years over $1000 of the Sturgis fund income has been expended for the purchase of books for the Umatilla county library, according to the report submitted by Judge Fee, trustee, to the county court.

In further explanation of his report Judge Fee says:

"In the East Oregonian statement published Saturday last you say, 'I declare I have not profited one cent by the handling of the fund', but no such statement is to be found in my report. I did say, 'not one dollar of the trust fund has ever passed into the possession of the trustee,' meaning thereby for his individual use. My own report would convict me of falsifying if I should make the statement you credit me with for I show upon the face of my report that I was paid by persons securing loans at times for services connected with the making of them.

"My report also shows from a statement of Col. Boyd embodied in it, that up to Dec. 29, 1908, all of the earnings of the fund were turned over to the library so that the $17,400.00 does not represent the entire earnings of the fund and the original bequest. I notice another error in the statement and that is that the fund was $3990 when created for the benefit of the library of the Pendleton Commercial Association Library. But this library never did belong to the Commercial Association. The funds were raised by subscriptions and donations for its founding. The committee in charge of the library entered into a contract with the Commercial Association whereby the association in consideration of the use of the books by the members of the association was to furnish light, room and janitor service free of charge to the library. One might as well speak of the library as the saloon-keepers' or preachers of Pendleton as to speak of its as the property of the Commercial Association.

"I have never taken the position that I am entitled to spend the fund how I please. I have recognized the authority of the last will of Mr. Sturgis and I have undertaken to carry out what I believe to be his intention. That instrument requires me to expend the money when I do expend it for the benefit of the public library and that is what I have been undertaking to do."

S. students have a few more days' vacation.

Must Have New Licenses.
Many hunters who went out after geese and ducks during the weekend forgot that new licenses are required for the new year and laid themselves liable to arrest. Deputy Warden Tonkin, however, decided to overlook the offense inasmuch as the clerk's office wasn't open on the first two days of the year. However, he declares he will arrest all hunters without new licenses hereafter.

Taking Over Echo Line.
Manager Edmund Mable of the local plant of the P. T. & T. Co., went to Echo this morning to take over the independent line of Echo which was purchased from Asa Thomson and other stockholders recently. He will probably remain there for a week or two checking up the equipment and during his absence J. A. Murray, a special agent from the district office, will have charge of the local office.

Boost Meeting Commercial Club.
Tomorrow evening the first meeting of the Commercial association in 1916 will be held and it will be in the nature of a meeting to prepare for the year's work. Plans will be discussed relative to the increasing of membership, betterment of quarters, financing the institutions and other things looking to making the club a better one. The officers are very eager to have a large attendance.

Peter Saville Passes Away.
Peter Saville, for many years a well known character about Pendleton died yesterday at the Eastern Oregon State Hospital where he had been confined for a year and two months. The funeral was held at the Catholic church this morning and interment made in Olney cemetery. Deceased who was a native of Ireland, was 65 years old at his death. He came here years ago from Alaska with O. W. Dunbar and worked for Mr. Dunbar and L. D. Drake, publishers of the "Guide." He also acted as a collection agent and did odd jobs before his health failed.

Busy Day in Police Court.
The Pendleton police court of 1915 started out this morning with the first page of a new docket inscribed with a dozen or more cases. The first man to enroll was C. F. Parker who was arrested Friday during an altercation with J. D. Carroll. He was fined $10 and Carroll was let out with $2. Marion Deardorff, Bud Cornfield and Ed Nelson, the three men who broke up the dishes in the jail, were each given the option of a $25 fine or 12 days in jail. Deardorff is the only one of the three to say to date. John White, charged
