ALLEGED ASSAILANT OF RAY HICKS STILL ELUDES OFFICIALS

WOUNDED MAN AT HOSPITAL— CONDITION NOT CONSIDERED SERIOUS.

Bert Johnson, alleged assailant of Ray Hicks, the express messenger who was stabbed yesterday afternoon, has not yet been apprehended by the officers. He is said to have escaped from the city but to have telephoned in last evening to friends. Hicks is still at St. Anthony's hospital and is being attended today by his mother who arrived on the morning train from Pasco. His condition is not considered serious at this time but the doctors state that it is impossible just yet to tell what the developments will be. He was stabbed twice, once over the heart and once in the left side. The lower wound is the worse inasmuch as the knife was turned aside by a rib when the upper wound was inflicted. At the other blow it penetrated the left lobe of the lung.

Something of the cause of the affair has been learned by the officers. Hicks himself told them of meeting Johnson and the latter's uncle, Charles Marshall, on the street and of having been invited down to the Oregon Feed Yard to settle a difference with fists. He accepted, he says, and was just taking off his coat when Johnson struck him in the eye with his fist. He returned the blow and was then struck twice with the knife. The difference between them is said to have arisen over a young woman with whom Hicks has been keeping company for several years. This young woman is an aunt of Johnson. It is said, and he resented the attentions paid her by Hicks.
