 Floyd Payne, sensational University of Oregon two mile runner who is known in intercollegiate circles as the "Athena Jackrabbit," contemplates re-entering college in February after spending the first semester at his home.

Case Is Dismissed.
 The case of E. L. Mills, N. H. Mills and E. Peterson vs. S. Norton Bobo has been dismissed and the defendant's costs, $12.50, have been assessed to the plaintiffs. Mr. Bobo, who was formerly editor of the Stanfield Standard, is now in Portland.

Word from Wessel.
 A letter received this morning from H. H. Wessel, retired Pendleton merchant, who is visiting with an uncle and cousins in Freeport, Ill., states that it is very cold in that place and that there is plenty of snow. Mr. Wessel will visit in New York and Oklahoma before returning home.

Proctor's Buffalo Mentioned.
 In the issue of the Engineering News of January 6, published at New York, appears pictures of the new J street bridge in Washington at the entrance of which are the heroic buffalo wrought by the hands of A. Phimister Proctor, the sculptor who has adopted Pendleton as his home.

Stole Sack of Coal; 15 Days.
 Having stole a sack of coal, so it is alleged, and traded it for a meal at the Headlight restaurant, Henry Scholl was arrested last night and this morning was sentenced to 15 days in the city jail on a vagrancy charge. He claimed to have found the coal along the railroad tracks.

Want Geographical Pictures.
 The Washington school is compiling a collection of geographical scenes of land and water forms, industries and places of interest in our own and foreign countries. They would greatly appreciate magazines containing such pictures. Please send to the Washington school or phone to Miss Lusted, 246 M.

Snow Blown Into Billows.
 While the stiff breeze of last evening was too cool to melt the snow it did blow the snow about a good deal, particularly outside the city where the snow was not packed. Rev. J. M. Cornelison of Tutuilla states that on the reservation near the Thompson and Crow ranches the snow drifted into billows four or five feet high, giving the land the appearance of an ocean of white caps. The foothills were swept bare in many spots of snow by the wind, he reports.

Surety Company Sues.
 The American Surety Co., of New York today filed suit against Dr. J. H. Spangole of Athena, alleging that plaintiff furnished bond for the defendant when the latter appealed to the supreme court of Washington from a decision in the superior court of Kitsap county. The supreme court affirmed the decision and taxed the costs to the appellant who, according to the complaint, failed to pay them. The surety company was thus forced to pay $34.47. It is alleged. Plaintiff also has an assigned claim of $55.40 from J. W. Robinson of Seattle for money advanced for the prosecution of the suit and another for attorney fees alleged to be due John K. Kollock of Portland, Koolick and W. M. Peterson are attorneys for the plaintiff.

Judd Returns Home.
 P. E. Judd, vice-president of the American National Bank, arrived home yesterday from Hartford, Conn. where he had been called by the last illness of his mother.

First Scalp of Year.
 The first coyote scalp brought in since the first of the year was presented to the county clerk yesterday by C. M. Umbarger of this city. The reduced bounty of $1.50 was collected. Robert Linnser of Yaakum collected $2.00 for a bobcat scalp.

More Sport For Ball Fans.
 Automatic baseball is not the only winter sport for the rabid fans. A checkboard game of baseball has caught the fancy of some of the more ardent and, so enthusiastic did some of them become in the game last night that they forgot to go to bed until the early hours of the morning.

Thaw Continues; Snow Going.
 The thaw which began yesterday has continued slowly all day today and the snow has become slush underneath. The snow, however, is not going off rapidly and this is pleasing to the farmers as it will permit a good deal of the water to sink into the ground. The weather today is moderate and overcoats have been discarded.

Suits to Quiet Title.
 Two suits to quiet title were filed in the circuit court today. Alonzo Knotts of Pilot Rock brought suit against Neuman H. Cottrill and wife and Idaho Frazier Campbell to set aside any claims they may have to the southwest quarter of section 4, township 2, south of range 22, and Tillie Pearson brought suit against J. Haas and wife and Mr. Litch and wife to quiet title to the southwest quarter of section 26, township 6, north of range 21. Raley and Raley are attorneys for the plaintiff in each suit.

Election Judges Before Jury.
 Giving more color to the reports that the grand jury is investigating charges of illegal voting at the city election last month is the fact that members of the election boards were among the witnesses examined today. Yesterday the records of the election were placed before the jury. The jury is said to have practically completed the investigation of the post-election disturbances though a few witnesses were examined today. No report has been made today but the district attorney stated that, in all probability, a report would be made tomorrow.

Some Echo Wheat Sold.
 Mack Foster and Gus Schluter, well known Echo wheat farmers, are here today, interested in the wheat market. Mr. Foster has not yet sold his wheat and quite a few Echoites are in the same category. George W. Lambirth yesterday sold 4500 bushels of Turkey Red and hybrid to his Echo mill at a price of $1 per bushel.

Five Negroes Lynched.
 SYLVESTER, Ga., Jan. 21.—Five negroes were dragged from jail and hanged to a tree nearby. The mob tricked the sheriff. They presented a negro, his arms tied, asking for shelter, saying they feared lynching. The sheriff opened the doors, then the mob overpowered him and dragged out the cowering negroes. Efforts to trail the slayers failed. It is believed they came from Lee county, because the negroes were accused of killing the sheriff of that county.

YOU CAN DO BETTER AT The Golden Rule WE LEAD OTHERS FOLLOW

This eight year old boy's eyes were crossed from the time he was five years old till I fitted him with glasses April 3rd, 1915.

Cross eyes can be straightened by my system with glasses in nearly every instance. Children that squint have some defect that is apt to cause cross eyes unless the proper glasses are worn.

The child or young person that needs glasses and has them properly fitted is more apt to be the grown-up who needs no glasses.

No matter whether you are cross eyed or whether you are suffering from eye strain that results in headache, nervous twitching or inflamed eyelids, poor vision, dizziness, blind spells, pain in the back of the neck, or any other condition that results from eyestrain, glasses fitted by my system will give the desired relief.

MASQUE TO COMMEMORATE ANNIVERSARY

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—This is the thirty-fourth year in which occurs the 300th anniversary of the death of William Shakespeare and many celebrations have been planned to commemorate the occasion. Plans are on foot for a celebration in New York in the form of a masque to be written by Percy Mackay, the poet.

The masque is to be performed out of doors on a large scale next May as the climax of a city-wide festival, and will be more ambitious and inclusive than anything of the kind the city has heretofore attempted. Six thousand people will take part in the performance, and a huge receptacle has been arranged that will be placed back of the stage to make the acoustic conditions perfect.

The Shakespeare celebration was incorporated to stimulate and coordinate the spontaneous local festivals which will be held in New York next spring. Its incorporators are Miss Mary Porter Beegle, Mrs. Ben Ali Haggin, Mrs. W. Forbes Morgan, Jr., Mrs. Percy Mackay and Miss Kate Ogilby.
