SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Among the social events of the week will be the two-day 'at home' Tuesday and Wednesday at which Mrs. William H. McCormack and Mrs. David H. Nelson will be hostesses and the reception on Wednesday afternoon which Mrs. James A. Fee will give for her son's bride, Mrs. James Alger Fee. The Kill Kare Klub also has its final party set for Thursday evening of this week.

An unusually pretty reception was that of Saturday afternoon, given by Mrs. Stephen A. Lowell and Mrs. Margaret Lowell at their home, 725 Johnson street, to meet Mrs. William E. Lowell, a recent bride. A large number of Pendleton ladies called during the afternoon to meet the junior Mrs. Lowell who, before her marriage, was Miss Helen Snyder of Walla Walla.

The rooms of the Lowell home were very attractive, spring flowers lending their beauty and fragrance to the success of the affair. The living room was in pink, roses and sweet-peas having been employed in the decoration while yellow tulips and daffodils gave color to the dining room.

Little Miss Dorothy Henderson opened the door and received the cards of the guests, who were greeted by Mrs. Charles L. Bonney and Mrs. William C. McKinney. The living room was in charge of Mrs. William K. Livingston and Miss Carolyn Bonney and assisting them were Mrs. Lester Hurst, Miss Lotta Livermore, Miss Gladys Hamley, Misses Pauline and Minnabell Jones and Misses Doris and Helen Fee. At the artistic table Mrs. T. M. Henderson, Mrs. James A. Fee and Mrs. Ankeny poured coffee while Mrs. A. J. Owen, Mrs. Roy Bishop and Mrs. E. R. Bonney poured tea.

Carl Eneadahl of Helix is here today.

N. Darr of Adams is among the many visitors in the city.

C. C. Conner, farmer of Stanton, is a business visitor here today.

Mr. and Mrs. William Leathers of Hermiston spent Saturday in the city.

J. T. Hinkle, Hermiston attorney, is a visitor in Pendleton today.

J. A. Ross and W. S. Ross of Watson were in Pendleton over night.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ross of Walla Walla, are guests of the St. George.

J. G. Kilback of Portland, representative of the Boys and Girls Aid Society of Portland, left Saturday at 8 after making a short visit here.

SAVED $106.00

Had a Credit Certificate for $81.00, Paid Besides $50.00 Cash and We Gave Him a Receipt for $75.00, Making a Total of $156.00 Paid on the Piano.

To those who answered our 15 puzzle contest and were fortunate enough to receive a credit certificate.

It is a fact that your credit certificate is the same as that which is cash on the purchase of a piano. If used in the next few days, for instance one of the sales by mail Saturday was to a man who knew the price of the instrument he desired before he received his credit certificate. In fact he nearly purchased the same piano two months ago and he knew that he saved the amount of his credit certificate, which was $81.00. He also saved $25.00 extra as he paid $56.00 cash and we gave him a receipt for $75.00. What we wish to impress on you is the fact that your credit certificate is worth its face value in the purchase of a piano. On a Knabe, a Kuhl, a Steiner, a Lyon & Healy, a Strohmer, a P. A. Stark or in fact any of the pianos or player pianos represented by us. No matter how fine a piano you have set your heart on, you will find a price with a value marked in plain figures and lower than such pianos have ever before been sold for. Many wonder how such prices are possible.

Do you know that a large Walla Walla concern joined with us in the purchase for cash of several carloads of pianos, that the pianos came direct from the factory in Pendleton in our load lots, the Eastern manufacturers at this time are overlooked so we purchased at a lower figure than ever before obtainable, besides getting such a large appropriation for advertising in this territory.

Your share of this appropriation is the amount of your credit certificate. Besides you can purchase on exceptionally easy terms a little each month like rent or pay nearly if you wish. Ask us also about our plan of giving $5.00 credit for every $2.00 paid on the piano. Never before and perhaps never again have such values been offered, prices that are actually less than wholesale.

We do not begin to have them enough for the many pianos ordered and have had to rent store room for a few days. Our store will remain open evenings and every piano will be sold inside of twenty days. Every piano guaranteed by us and the manufacturers.

NOTE: Never before have so much beautiful high-grade pianos and so many of them been shown at one time in Pendleton.

"A Man's Making," the V. L. S. E. Big 4, feature with big listed Richard Buhler in the leading role, assisted by winsome Rosetta Brice, had its first Pendleton presentation at the Pastime yesterday and was accorded a fine reception from a large audience.

Hearst-Vitagraph No. 12, showing the latest world news in pictures, was an added attraction. The above bill of pictures will be presented again today.

Miss Paulinetta, the psychic and crystal reader, who appears with Belasco and Robinson's Ben Hur Co. at the Alta theater next Tuesday evening, has mystified scientists the world over—more especially the Society of Psychical Research of London, England, composed of some of the most eminent scientists in the world and it was Sir William Crookes, the inventor of the Crookes tube, used in X-Ray examinations who gave her the title of The Woman of Mystery. It seems almost unbelievable to see a young lady stand before a crowded audience and answer all the questions thought of by them. Another feature with the company is the barefoot dancer Albertine in her impersonation of Egypt's tragic queen in her Cleopatra corba dance, which was first performed by Maud Allan at Himmelfest's opera house, New York City, and was the season's most talked of act in that city.

Fritz Kaufman, a clever German comedian will make his initial debut in burlesque music crayon drawing and ventriloquism. There will be five reels of new motion pictures and three turns of vaudeville given at each performance, but Paulinetta will only appear at one performance each evening.

Popular prices will prevail and a change of program will be given each night.

Mme. Petrova, the brilliant emotional actress, will be seen on the screen here at the Alta Theater tomorrow and Wednesday in "What Will People Say," a five part Metro photoplay, produced by the Popular Plays and Players. This is the fourth of Mme. Petrova's triumphs in the silent drama, under Metro auspices. She has starred previously in "My Madonna," "The Vampire," and "The Heart of a Painted Woman." At the conclusion of her present tour on the speaking stage in "The Revolt," Mme. Petrova will devote her time exclusively to motion pictures, appearing in big Metro productions. In "What Will People Say" Mme. Petrova is supported by an exceptionally strong cast, headed by Fritz de Lint, her new leading man.

"The Horrors of War." A remarkable picture. Shortly before Henry Ford chartered his "peace ship" he was invited to see these pictures in New York, and they made a very strong impression upon him. How much they had to do with the formation of his plans is, of course, unknown, but that they helped to give expression to his ideas upon war is not to be doubted. The horror of seeing human bodies unscathed for in the deep snow and heaped by the hundreds at the edge of the long trench dug to receive them, is enough to make anyone a peace advocate.

From a pictorial standpoint the best scenes are those showing the Russian fleet in action in the Black sea, bombarding the Turkish towns along the shore. The camera man remained on deck throughout the engagement and with telephoto lens obtained some remarkable reviews of the exploding shells and their effect upon the buildings. A shell is seen to strike, then a cloud of smoke arises when the veil is lifted the building has become a heap of ruins, frequently burning like a bonfire. The spectacular effect is heightened by an aeroplane dropping bombs from the clouds.
