Where It Pays To Trade

Millers Lay in Wheat.
MINNEAPOLIS, March 4.—Five million bushels of May wheat have been bought by milling interests in the last week as prices tumbled, according to estimates of Minneapolis chamber of commerce traders. This, they say, would represent sales of one million barrels of flour. Most of this product is said to be for eastern bakers.

Local millers also said that they had been buying on a large scale.

Monmouth Cheese Plant Started.
MONMOUTH, Ore., March 4.—The Monmouth creamery began the operation of its cheese factory with Mrs. Manwaring as cheesemaker. Manager Murdoch says he will pay 6 cents above butterfat prices for milk and may be able to pay more. The intention of the management is to operate the cheese plant continuously in the future.

German Note on War.
WASHINGTON, March 4.—Information that Germany's latest note on the submarine controversy left Berlin February 16 was received by Secretary of State Lansing. A courier is carrying the document from Berlin to London where it will be sent by steamer to the United States.

Local millers also said that they had been buying on a large scale.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

The members of the Evening Bridge Club and other friends were very enjoyably entertained last evening by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Thompson at their home on Monroe street. Thirty-two guests in all were present and placed during the evening at bridge. Honors for high score were won by Mrs. W. L. Thompson and Dr. F. W. Vincent.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Charles Bond, the meeting of the Current Literature Club, scheduled yesterday at Mrs. Bond's home with Mrs. Bond and Mrs. Carl Power as business, was indefinitely postponed.

An enjoyable evening was spent last evening by those who attended the Knights of Columbus dance at the Eagle-Woodman hall.

Kenneth G. Warner, Nye sheepman, is in the city.

James R. Bell of Weston is a Pendleton visitor today.

C. H. Oswald of Hermiston transacted business in the city yesterday.

F. B. Swartz, Hermiston banker, was among his visitors from the west and yesterday.

Better Babies

The public library is contributing its share toward the success of Baby Welfare Week by a special poster and book display and through the distribution of the "Better Babies" book mark, which lists some of the best books in the care of babies.

Miss DeLano has made a very attractive poster with Newbie motif which forms the center of a display of beautiful pictures of some of Pendleton's "Better Babies." Mr. Wheeler has kindly furnished the pictures and arranged them in the library bulletin board. An arrangement of flowers also adds to the attraction of this display.

The books here listed may be found at the librarian's desk and it is hoped will prove of real value to mothers who are studying the most approved methods of raising healthy children.

These books will be reserved at the library during the week of March 4 to 11th for the inspection of mothers who are interested in them and will then be released for circulation and given out in the order of the requests that are left for them. The help found in one of these books may save a baby's life.

Mother and Child, 1915.
"Sound, up-to-date talks, based on best authorities, not on experience, written in a very popular, enthusiastic style."

Griffith—Care of the baby, 1913.
"This reliable guide for mothers and nurses has been revised throughout and corrected to conform to the latest knowledge. A large number of illustrations have been added and others altered. In an appendix is given a full explanation of the principles of infant feeding as well as some formulas for food mixtures."

McCarthy—Hygiene for mother and child, 1910.
"Sound, practical advice to young mothers, by the attending physician in the out-patient department for children in the Massachusetts Homeopathic Hospital. The chapters on the symptoms of infantile diseases, feeding, first aid to the injured, exercise, education and training are explicit and simple."

Simon—Prospective mother, 1912.
"A well written, and authoritative treatise, giving the information the educated woman or nurse desires. Author is associate professor of obstetrics in Johns Hopkins University. The best popular work."

Wheeler—Before the baby comes, 1914.
"A little handbook for prospective mothers, giving directions for prenatal care of mother and child. There is a sensible chapter on congenital advice about clothing and feeding the baby, with formulas for feeding during the first year."

Dennett—The healthy baby, 1912.
"One of the best manuals, both in contents and form of presentation."

Holt—Care and feeding of children, 1915.
"Probably the best known of the standard works. Written in the form of question and answer. Fuller on feeding than any other. Differs from the earlier editions only in slight modifications aiming to make the text more helpful to untrained nurses and mothers, and in the enlargement of the section on the care of older children. A standard work of high authority and value."

Kerley—Short talks with young mothers, 1906.
"The fullest work including lessons to the 30th year, excellent on diseases. Follows Holt in feeling. For ne well-to-do mothers."

Oppenheim—Care of the child in health, 1906.
"A physician's practical counsel to parents. Begintined with the preparations for the child's advent. Discusses feeding, bathing, sleep, defective children, common diseases, relations of parents to children."

Two-dell—How to take care of the baby, 1915.
"A revision of the 'Mother's Guide,' published in 1911. It remains the most up-to-date work on infant feeding and has been enlarged into a more inclusive manual."

Wheeler—Young mother's handbook, 1911.
"Fifteen years' experience as superintendent of the Babies Hospital of New York makes this mother's handbook authoritative. It is intended as an aid in helping mothers to recognize and check their children's simple ailments, before they can become serious enough to demand a physician's attention."

Children—Hygiene.
Hogan—How to feed children, 1909.
"Discusses in detail the adaptability

YOUNG LA GRANDE MAN LOSES PART OF FOOT

LA GRANDE, Ore., March 4.—Guy Murchison, 18, lost the major portion of one foot about 5 o'clock last evening when he stumbled and fell into a woodpile on which he was working at the Lynch-Steward wood yards. He is at the hospital and will probably suffer no other ill effects than the distressing loss of his foot. Prompt first aid was given by Mr. May who was unloading wood nearby and who quickly applied a crude tourniquet which partly stopped the flow of blood. Guy was quickly rushed to the hospital and his father, John Murchison who lives at 1904 U avenue, was notified at Summerville while he was visiting a brother. The boy's mother was also advised of the accident at once.

Naval guns have longer ranges than land weapons of the same size, because it is easier to refine them and heavier charges can be used.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE WHEN CROSS FEVERISH AND SICK

TART NO CHANCES! MOVE POISONS FROM LIVER AND BOWELS AT ONCE!

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste-sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again. Children simply will not take the time from play to empty their bowels, and they become tightly packed, liver gets sluggish and stomach disordered.

When cross, feverish, restless, see if tongue is coated, then give this delicious "fruit laxative." Children love it, and it can not cause injury. No difference what ails your little one— if full of cold, or a sore throat, diarrhoea, stomach-ache, bad breath, remember, a gentle "inside cleansing" should always be the first treatment given. Full directions for babies, children of all ages and "grown-ups" are printed on each bottle.

Beware of counterfeit fig syrups. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," then look carefully and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no smaller size. Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.
