RHEIMS SCHOOLBOY ALWAYS PREPARED FOR GAS FUMES

Unconcerned about the grave danger which always threatens the Rheims schoolboy carries his poison gas mask and attends school daily. Each boy is trained to adjust the mask when shells explode nearby. The children are drilled in the use and care of gas masks. A weekly inspection is also made by the teaching staff.

PASTIME HAS DANDY PICTURE, "THE MISLEADING LADY"

"The Misleading Lady," as a photoplay featured at Tally's Broadway Theater this week is an excellent vehicle for Henry B. Walthall. There are a number of excellent actors now appearing on the screen, but it is doubtful if any of them exceeds Walthall in depth, quality and versatility, or as a pleasing and sympathetic figure.

The photoplay is almost a literal translation of the play that has entertained thousands of theater-goers the country over since it registered its initial success on Broadway a few seasons ago. Edna Mayo, who co-stars with Mr. Walthall, gives a most pleasing performance and it is safe to say that those who have seen the "Misleading Lady" as a play will want to see these two screen favorites in this photoplay which gives them both many opportunities for excellent acting.

MUSICAL SHOW WITH A REPUTATION COMES TO ALTA

The Gayety Girls' Musical Farce Comedy Show of 19 clever people headed by Winstock and Darling in Jew and Dutch comedy, are to open a 5-day engagement at the Alta tomorrow night (Tuesday).

The company has played all the first class houses in the largest cities of the coast and northwest and will be remembered as the only show the Hippodrome Theater in Spokane ever played for more than one week. The Gayety company was there four times last season. The company carries some very pretty costumes for the shows and has several of the best musical plays in their repertoire. The opening play is a tinsel musical farce, "The Love Cure," one hour or singing, dancing and fun. Among the principals is Miss Billie Bingham, singing "Way Down Yonder," with the pickin' chorus. Mr. Ralph Crawford in "Why Can't You Be a Soldier," and six other popular song hits. The comedy is good, clean and wholesome and lots of it, and altogether the Gayety company gives an entertainment far above the average musical show making the northwest. They will be at the Alta five days commencing Tuesday, March 7.
