REAL RAILROAD WRECK AND FACTORY FIRE IN PASTIME'S FEATURE

"The Gods of Fate," the spectacular Lubin feature with Rosetta Brice and Richard Buhler showing today for the last time had its initial showing at the Pastime yesterday and a big and appreciative audience viewed the picture from the opening time until late at night, many expressing themselves that "The Gods of Fate" was the best picture of the kind they had ever

Great Lesson in "Escape" at the Alta Tomorrow and Wednesday.

Drawing the lesson of clean breeding, as practiced and advocated in animal life by all authorities, Director Griffith, one of the greatest moving picture producers in the world, carries the thought further in "The Escape," and attempts a similar lesson for the human family. The story of "The Escape" will be shown at the Alta Theater, featuring Blanche Sweet, Mae Marsh, Owen Moore and others, is of tremendous interest. It is the story of a girl of the stunts and her escape.

ROBERT WARWICK IN "THE SINS OF SOCIETY"

"The Sins of Society" is a gambling drama, a film sermon on the evils of this insidious vice. It illustrates some of the most exciting incidents of New York life in its most spectacular aspects, and includes in its many startling happenings the sinking of a troop ship by a submarine—something that we are reading about these times in the newspapers. This scene alone will make the picture a noteworthy offering to the motion picture theater going public.

Robert Warwick has a fine, manly, heroic part in "The Sins of Society," and that excellent actor, Alec Francis, is in the cast.

Dainty little Frances Nelson, who was so popular and successful in "The Stolen Voice" and the "Family Cupboard" is the female star in this photodrama.

"The Sins of Society" will be presented at the Temple Theater tomorrow.

A mean man always attributes his dislike of his neighbor to envy.
