"NAP" RUCKER SAID TO HAVE BEST SLOW BALL.

"NAP" RUCKER

Ball players in the National league admit that Napoleon Rucker of the Brooklyn is in a class by himself when it comes to delivering a slow curve. Rucker's arm went back on him three years ago and he lost his speed. But he retained the gray matter in his head and began to develop a new delivery. In time he mastered control of the slow ball which, batsmen say, is harder to hit than a speeder. Rucker soon was able to put the leather over the middle or corner of the plate at will. He studied the weak points of the opposing hitters until he knew just what would fool them. Last year Rucker's pitching was confined entirely to slow balls. He did not deliver a fast one all season and his arm, as a result, gradually became stronger. The famous southpaw is beginning another campaign with the Brooklyn at Daytona. His arm is in excellent shape and he is prepared to resume the task of serving up the "teasers."

MANAGERS INTIMATE REICH WAS TO SPY

REICH

NEW YORK, March 22.—The many conflicting statements by noted pugilists and trainers on the condition of Jess Willard has brought a rather fiery response from Tom Jones and Jack Curley, managers of Jess Willard. They maintain that Willard is following the same routine as was carried out when he prepared for the Johnson fight and that he will be in perfect condition on March 25 and will also win.

Regarding the trouble with Reich, the managers say that Willard is not training for the accommodation of others. He does not have to give the curious heavyweights around here tryouts. Members of a man's training camp staff should be 18-year strong and a servant to the champion, and surely not an unwelcome employe or a spy. The statement in part "Had Jones been in good health Saturday and been present at the Pioneer Sporting Club, Willard would have unquestionably added Reich to his training staff."

ed yesterday afternoon also before many spectators. McCarroll has been down to weight for some time and Hagan expects to meet the weight by 3 o'clock this afternoon. Promoter Buddy Stevens has arranged for some interesting preliminaries to the main bout. Ed Williams and Soldier Stevens will step four rounds and another pair of heavyweights will put on another. The first preliminary will start at 8:30.

Suffered For Years

There are many people who will be interested in the experience of Mrs. Julia Byard, Fort Benton, Mont. She writes: "I suffered for years with gall-stones. A friend wrote me about Fruitola and Traxo. I started taking it and am completely cured now and feel better than I have felt for twenty years." Mrs. Byard's testimony is similar to that of many who have given this remedy a chance to help them. Fruitola is a powerful lubricant for the intestinal organs, softening the hardened particles that cause so much suffering and expelling the congested waste in an easy, natural way. A single dose is usually sufficient to clearly indicate its efficacy. Traxo is a splendid tonic-alterative that acts on the liver and kidneys, stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion, and removes bile from the general circulation. Fruitola and Traxo are prepared in the Pinos laboratories at Monticello, Ill., and arrangements have been made to supply them through representative druggists. In Pendleton they can be obtained at Tallman & Company, 625 Main St.

The Reason for Dress-Up Week

WHY every man, woman and child should get behind the Dress-Up movement in Pendleton, on March 27th.

The Dress Up idea grew out of the fact that with the coming of the war in Europe the American people lost something of their usual confidence and, because they did not know what effect the situation there might have upon American industries, a large proportion of the American public at once entered upon a course of rigid economy. When people set out to economize, one of the first things they do is to cut down on what they usually spend for clothes.

Many Industries Affected The apparel industries rank among the five great industries of this country and when one considers the millions of people engaged in growing the raw textile materials, in spinning and weaving the fibre into cloth, cutting and making garments and distributing them to the public, as well as the great army of men and women designers and others, who are directly dependent upon the garment industries, it will be seen that so staggering a blow as that dealt the apparel trades in the first months of the European war must make its effect felt in every part of the country.

A Herald of Prosperity As it proved, the war in Europe brought prosperity to Americans and when this prosperity had advanced to such a point that it needed only something to crystallize in the public mind the fact that this country was prosperous, the Dress Up campaign was launched. The Dress Up propaganda of last fall urged Americans to open their eyes and look at the situation as it was. To feel confidence in American prosperity and in the soundness of our industries and then to express that optimism and confidence by wearing the better clothes that they could afford to wear, but which, through their uncertainty, many of them had refrained from buying.

What Dress Up Really Means But while it was to cause this recognition of national prosperity, the DRESS UP campaign had another idea behind it. That was to lay emphasis upon the importance of clothes. To overcome, so far as possible, the wrong impression, created by the misguided use of retail advertising space, that clothes were to be regarded by the public only in the light of so much protection and covering to be purchased invariably at the lowest possible price.

Dress-Up Week in Pendleton Will Be March 27 to April 3rd.
